28 BARS VIOLATE ORDERS

BELGRADE IS SHATTERED BY TEUTON SHELLS

BULGARS DELAY BLOW.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Oct. 11, 4:55 a. m.—Three-quarters of the city of Belgrade has been destroyed by 6,000 Austro-German shells and the fighting continues, according to an Athens dispatch to the Matin. Telephone communication between Belgrade and Nish has been cut.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Austro-Germans now are in full possession of Belgrade and the heights surrounding the city and have begun an advance eastward toward the mountains which the Serbians last year so stubbornly defended against the Austrians.

Dispatches from the Serbian front report that Belgrade was not damaged greatly by bombardment. The city was spared as far as possible, although some private buildings were destroyed. Part of the civilian population remains in Belgrade.

Pitched Battle in Ten Days.

For some time to come the invaders, it is expected, will have to fight only the rear guards, whose duty it is to delay their progress, for the Serbians will doubtless do as they have done on previous occasions fall back until they reach positions in which they will have the best opportunity of holding their ground.

In fact, military writers here do not expect a pitched battle on this front for ten days or a fortnight, by which time the allies' forces landed at Saloniki should have joined the Serbians.

Bulgaria Awaits Developments.

The Bulgarians, so far as is known, have not made any incursion into Serbian territory, and it is believed they will withhold their hands until they know how matters go with the Austro-Germans.

Some Balkan authorities, indeed, still believe the Bulgarians will not interfere with the movement northward of the Anglo-French expedition, for to do so would immediately bring the shells of the warships into their ports on the Black and Ægean seas, probably followed by the landing of Russian troops at Varna and Burgas and of other allied troops at Dedeagatch.

Other States on Fence.

Greece and Roumania remain interested spectators, although the former has given assurance of its benevolent neutrality toward the allies.

Representatives of the entente have furnished the Greek government with information concerning the agreement between Bulgaria and Germany, which, it is asserted, gives the Bulgars a free hand to deal not only with Serbia but with Greece as well, should the central powers win.

An Athens dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company says that the newspaper Hestia confirms the news printed in Patris of the signature of a secret treaty between Bulgaria and the central powers last July.

German Losses Heavy.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The announcement made yesterday by the German war office of the capture of Belgrade was confirmed in an official communication from Nish, issued today at the Serbian legation.

The Austro-German attack on the lower Drina, on the northwestern frontier, is said to have been repulsed with enormous losses for the Teutons. The statement follows:

Belgrade has fallen into the hands of the Germans after a desperate resistance.

Fighting continues all along the Danube and Save fronts. The purpose of the enemy is to advance through the Morava valley, separating Kostelac (thirty-eight miles southeast of Belgrade) from Dubravatza (on the Danube, thirty-five miles east of Belgrade), where his chief efforts are concentrated.

The enemy suffered enormous losses in making unsuccessful attacks on the lower Drina. The enemy has been

Express Sees India, Egypt and Suez Canal Menaced, and Times Alleges Incompetency of Campaign.

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Oct. 11, 3 a. m.—The Express' front page this morning is featured by a cry of alarm in big type with regard to the rapid German progress through Serbia. The paper draws the following picture:

"Suppose Von Mackensen triumphs and the Germans join hands with the Turks? What then? The kaiser would control the whole of central Europe, the Baltic, and the Bosporus.

"With the Germans established in Constantinople and in Asia Minor Egypt would be at their mercy; India might become their prey; the Suez canal would cease to be international; it would be as German as the Kiel canal. Germany would hold the road to the east. British rule in India would become impossible. Australia and New Zealand would be cut off from the motherland. British trade would be strangled by a people ruthless in commerce as in war.

NO TIME TO BE WASTED.

"There is not a shadow of exaggeration in these statements. The future of our empire, of our race, will be largely determined by the result of the operations that have begun on the Serbian frontier. There is no time to be wasted. If our greatness is to continue, it must be because of our might.

"A few divisions in Salonica are worse than useless. The task demands a great, powerful army. It must be seen at once. It is not yet too late. If it is not yet too late it will be too late soon.

"The failure to give Serbia every possible aid now will bring with it the failure of the British empire and all that the words imply."

TIMES ALSO EXPRESSES ALARM.

The Times treats the Balkan outlook with great gravity and predicts that there will be a sudden and popular awakening in Great Britain to the realization that something is seriously amiss with the British cabinet when parliament convenes on Oct. 12.

The paper likens what is declared the British diplomatic failure in the Balkans to the shell failure earlier in the year. The situation is discussed in a long editorial which contains such sentences as the following:

"From the first moment of the war when the Germanic empire stood alone against us down to the landslide last week one miscalculation seems to have followed another with almost mechanical certainty. Bulgaria might have been willing six months ago to throw in her lot with the allies if the allies had not proved themselves too late at every turn. Germany is breaking her blockade with a vengeance and the adverse balance in the war and in our whole imperial position is sufficiently serious to need strong and prompt redress."

ALLEGES TOTAL LACK OF COHESION.

The Times then declares that other government offices, especially the war office, are as culpable as the foreign office, and in support of this statement instances the Dardanelles campaign, the earlier stages of which, the paper says, were marked by a series of disastrous blunders.

"Never in the whole history of warfare," the paper continues, "was sheer incompetence fraught with such tragic consequences. Everything, unfortunately, points to a total want of cohesion and grip in directing the great resources which the nation is determined to pour out to its utmost extent until victory is won. It is not a question merely of the foreign office or of the war office, but of the supreme direction of both and other offices besides.

"We shall only mend matters by beginning at the top. That is why we have been pressing for the last few months for certain definite improvements in the administrative machine, which at least will enable the situation to be handled with quickness and courage."

FRANCE MAY NOT HELP SERBIA.

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Oct. 10.—After an important session of the cabinet this afternoon it became known that one section of the government, headed by Senator Clemenceau, Pichon, and Berenger, is opposed to sending a strong French expeditionary force to the aid of Serbia.

The group headed by Senator Clemenceau argues that to take a strong force from the army of Gen. Joffre in France and send it to the Balkans, no matter how pressing the occasion, might weaken the arm of his resistance to such an extent that the Germans could press still farther into the republic. They believe that this is the moment when all pressure should be exerted to drive the invaders from the country.

It is apparent that there is a serious difference of opinion among the entente powers respecting the course to be pursued in the Balkans. The Paris newspapers openly assert that it is not for France to bear the entire burden, and want Russia, Great Britain, and Italy to send men and supplies to Serbia.

Turks Busy on Mount of the Skull and Its Environs Are Used as Training Ground for Artillery.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Golgotha, the Mount of the Skull, or Calvary, where Christ was crucified, has not been spared by the consequences of the war.

On Mount Golgotha, the Turks are now testing the effect of high explosives, according to refugees just returned from Alexandria.

The environs of the Holy Sepulchre are being used as training grounds for artillery.

Mrs. Morse, who was the daughter of the late George A. Fuller, founder of the Fuller Construction company of Chicago, was born in that city thirty-seven years ago.

118 GERMANS, TAKEN BY JAPS, SEE CHICAGO

RECITE HORROR TALE.

A stockily built little man with a round face and piercing eyes stood in the Dearborn station last night and recounted, through an interpreter, a tale of adventure hardly surpassed by that of the harrowing experiences of the survivors of the Emden's crew who made their way through the desert wastes of Arabia.

Gathered about the little hero, who leaned on a cane and limped when he walked, were a score of women and children who smiled proudly at the little man and nodded their heads in corroboration as he told his story.

The women and children are members of a party of 117 refugees from the German province of Tsing Tau on the east coast of China, which was bombarded and captured by the Japanese shortly after the outbreak of the war.

On Way Home—Germany.

There were seventy-five women and thirty-five children in the party, which is being chaperoned by seven German Red Cross physicians headed by Dr. von Mueller.

They are on their way home—Germany. All have been given safe conduct by the Japanese government and will be furnished with passports by the British authorities in New York.

Ludwig Wittich, the little hero, was the only other man in the party.

"See, I can fight no more," he said, pointing to his right foot. "It was the cold that did it. My toes. It was during our first drive from Germany into Poland.

Tells of Dirigible Tragedy.

"I was a member of a Zeppelin crew, I suppose there were about fifteen of us. We sailed high and far over the Russian lines one day. Something went wrong and we descended within range of the guns. They brought us to earth. Eight of us lived. The rest were killed by the plunge, but by a good streak of luck I picked myself out of the wreckage unhurt. Not a single bone was broken. I had not even a scratch or a bruise. Some of the others were injured, but not badly.

"All of us were taken prisoner and, with other captives, were sent after a time to a concentration camp in Siberia. We suffered much with the cold there, the food was bad, and we planned an escape. It succeeded. All of us—eleven—got away one night and made for the open country. We hadn't gone far when some wished to go back. We had little food with us, and the cold was bitter.

Stumble On Through Snow.

"For days we stumbled on through the ice and snow covered wastes, stopping at nights to warm our frozen hands and feet as best we might without the aid of fire. Whenever we could find wood, which was seldom, we built a fire, and once in a while we came upon the camp of wild tribesmen who treated us as guests when they found we carried no valuables of which they might rob us.

"One by one I saw my companions die. Most of them died at night as we slept. We would wake up nearly every morning towards the last to find one member of the party frozen stiff. When only three of us were left we took turns staying awake. The one on watch would keep himself warm by beating his arms and would keep the others warm and covered with the blankets which we had taken from our dead comrades.

Two Companions Die.

"But we were weakened from lack of food. My two comrades reached northern China with me and once there among Chinese officials we knew we were safe. But there my companions died. They were so weakened from exhaustion the people there could do little for them. I rested there and then passed on from town to town, working my way down through China to Tientsin, where I knew I would find my countrymen. But when I reached there I found the Japanese were in control. They took me prisoner and gave me the best of medical care until my foot was healed and until I recovered my strength. Now I must always walk with a cane. When I learned the women and children were to go back to Germany I asked to go with them. 'See,' I said, 'I cannot fight. I am not so strong

"Cap" Streeter Admits No Lid in Streeterville

FINDS "COLD ONES"

Capt. George Wellington Streeter peeped out from under the lid yesterday and said:

"Have something?"

And a TRIBUNE reporter with two fair companions said they would. And they did. And they paid 25 cents a bottle for it. It was the beer that made Milwaukee furious.

"Cap." Streeter, ruler of the domain of Streeterville, sat in the rear of his ice cream and soft drink saloon at the foot of Chestnut street and stoutly denied that he had ordered the sale of drinks suspended on Sunday.

Why Should He Worry?

Chicago, he averred, might do as it pleased in the matter. So would Streeterville. Mayor Thompson might order the sale of drinks stopped. He, Capt. George Wellington Streeter, president of the territory of Lake Michigan, preferred to remain open.

And there you are.

Something over 7,000 saloons in Chicago closed their doors and kept them closed over yesterday. Of course "Cap" Streeter doesn't keep a saloon. He keeps a soft drink emporium. In this he has the assistance of his wife, Mrs. Stella Streeter. But he resented Mayor Thompson's "lid" order.

Resents Outside Intrusion.

The resentment, however, extended only to the benefit of the out-of-town folks. The captain was not specially anxious to serve Chicago folks, particularly those who might have a nose for information. Out in Kansas they sometimes refer to an enterprise such as the captain's as "blind pigging." But of course Streeterville is not Kansas and Kansas is a state, and not an independent domain.

The investigator for THE TRIBUNE drew up at the captain's place in a taxicab and entered the "capitol" with his two young women friends. The famous captain, grim under his famous tile hat, was talking with two friends at the door.

"Howdy," said he, "rest your hats and make yourselves at home."

Annie Winks Slyly.

Annie Streeter came over to the table.

"What have you?" asked the visitors.

"Only soft drinks," replied Annie, with a sly wink. "You know Chicago saloons are closed on Sundays."

"Can't we have something a little stronger?"

"Wait a moment," cautioned Annie. "There's a wise guy sitting over there. I'll ask mother."

Evidently mother's frame of mind was genial, for Annie came and invited the party to a back room. "What do you want?" she inquired.

"A little beer, maybe?"

"Sure thing," said Annie. "How many bottles?"

Brings Four and Joins.

"O, bring four bottles and join us"—just like that, and Annie brought four cold, inviting bottles with the real tang of the hop therein.

The captain has been rather out of the public eye since his "administration" was rudely jolted when he was sentenced to the penitentiary for shooting a policeman who "invaded" the territory of Streeterville.

SIX MONTHS AND $500 TO SAY "HAVE A DRINK" IN LONDON.

New Anti-Treating Legislation Goes Into Effect Today, Affecting Nearly Ten Million Persons.

LONDON, Oct. 11, 2:30 a. m.—The new anti-treating regulation, in confection with the use and sale of alcoholic drinks, goes into effect in London and the surrounding district today.

It is the most radical and far reaching effort for the curtailment of drinking yet tried, for it affects nearly 10,000,000 persons, and violations of the regulations are punishable by a fine of $500 and six months in prison. The authorities have given notice that these penalties will be inflicted without mercy on offenders.

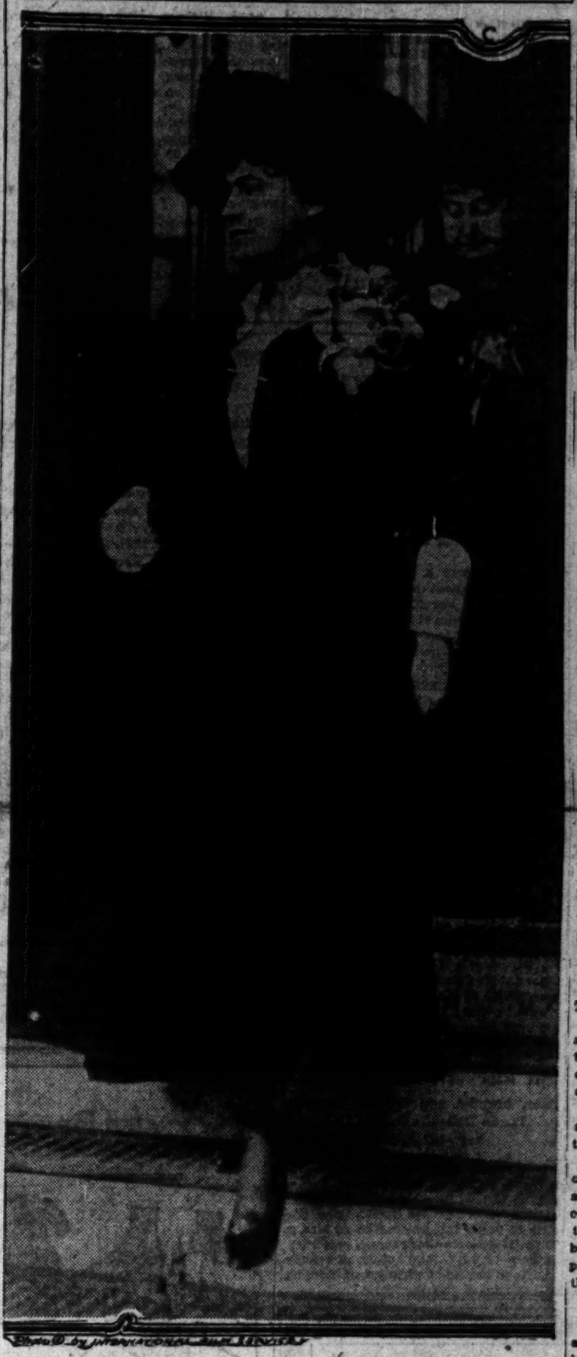

The law will curtail the consumption of alcoholic liquors by 50 per cent, and unless it is effective it will be followed by an order curtailing the hours of sale.

All cafés, hotels, clubs, and liquor dealers are compelled to exhibit prominently in their places a copy of the anti-treating ordinance, which says plainly that "each person must give his order and pay for his own drink."

The only exception to the rule is that drinks ordered with a full meal may be paid for by a host.

LATEST PICTURE OF PRESIDENT'S FIANCEE

PRESIDENT AND MRS. GALT VISIT HIS BALTIMORE KIN.

Are Guests of Joseph R. Wilson and Attend Church—Arrest of "Crank" Stirs Excitement.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt, his fiancée, motored to Baltimore today to visit the president's brother, Joseph R. Wilson, who had not met the next mistress of the White House before. While there they attended church and were the guests of honor at a family luncheon party.

Several hundred people in Baltimore learned of the presence of the couple and crowded about the church to catch a glimpse of the president and his bride-to-be.

The president and Mrs. Galt decided last night after their return from Philadelphia to make the trip today. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson and their daughter, Miss Alice, plan to go to Tennessee later this month, and they wanted to meet Mrs. Galt before leaving.

After an early breakfast the president called for Mrs. Galt at her home at 9 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and their daughter were waiting at their apartment, and after a short stay there the entire party walked several blocks to the Franklin Street Presbyterian church, where they occupied the pastor's pew.

The president and Mrs. Galt entered into the entire service, using the same hymn book.

Efforts of a man giving his name as Joseph Pruijx to enter the church caused a ripple of excitement. The man said he was collecting money for the suffering Belgians. The police became suspicious, however, and prevented him from entering the church.

It was after 3 o'clock when the visitors started back for Washington.

Tonight the president had dinner with Mrs. Galt at her home.

WRITING OF SHORT STORIES TO BE TAUGHT WORKING GIRL

Women's Trade Union League Organizes Class Intended to Turn Spare Hour Into Money.

There will be no need now for the author to go down to the shops and the restaurants and the factories for "local color." For the "local color" is going to do its own writing.

In plain words, Miss Agnes Nestor, president of the Women's Trade Union league, announced yesterday that working girls of all classes will be offered a course in short story writing. Then they may turn their spare hours to literature with a view of adding to their purses.

The enrollment in the first class will begin on Thursday evening in the league rooms, 166 Washington street, at 7 o'clock in the evening. Miss Lydia Trowbridge, a high school teacher, will be in charge of the first class.

But short story writing will not be the only object. This branch of money earning will be followed by moving picture scenarios, pamphlets for the league, and as a starter the girls may have the opportunity of preparing a leaflet concerning the laws governing women and children.

From the alacrity with which the women accepted the opportunity to learn to write it is presumed the plan will be immediately successful.

SERGEANT DIES IN STREET.

Neil McLean of the Rawson Station Drops Dead—Heart Disease Supposed Cause.

Patrol Sergt. Neil McLean, 1934 Jackson boulevard, assigned to the Rawson street station, dropped dead in front of 119 South Robey street early yesterday. Heart disease is believed to have caused death.

TWO OR THREE BREAK LAW IN "MODEL CITY"

Chief Says Day Passed with Less Crime than Any Other.

MOVIES GET CROWDS.

Chicago's first dry Sunday in forty-three years passed off yesterday with hardly a ripple of excitement and unattended with any dire results predicted by the "wet" leaders.

But twenty-eight violations, most of these of a minor character, were reported at police headquarters up to 10 o'clock last night. In two or three of these the police had evidence of actual sales of liquor. In several others they were confident sales were made, but did not find positive evidence. There are 7,182 saloons in the city. The percentage of violations falls below the average percentage chalked up on election and primary days. Hardly an intoxicated person was seen on the streets.

Best Record in History.

"This," said Chief Healey, after a 100 mile automobile tour of inspection of the city, "is the best record in the history of the Chicago police department."

While not all saloons reopened at midnight for the single hour until 1 o'clock this morning, there was the expected rush for libations on the part of those who had passed through a "dry" day. Thirsty throngs lined several bars in the loop which took advantage of the one hour of trade.

Thinks It Low Record for Arrests.

While full reports were not available, sufficient data was in hand, the chief said, to warrant the belief that the day will establish the minimum record in number of arrests for all causes.

In a word, he said, with a smile, Chicago showed that it can behave like a model town.

"It was," he said, "a city to be proud of. I went into every section of Chicago and looked carefully for violations. Not only did I find the law being observed to the letter, with a few minor exceptions, but I saw a peaceful, law abiding people, particularly in the districts where some thought we might have a little trouble.

Great Day for Chicago.

"Take the stockyards district, known as 'back of the yards.' Here the people have their weddings and picnics on Sundays, and the saloons are sort of clubhouses. Every saloon was closed tight, and I didn't see any one who seemed to be at all disconcerted or displeased. It was a great day for Chicago."

The hope on the part of the reform leaders that the churches, libraries, art institutes, and such places would draw big crowds also failed of realization.

For the most part Chicagoans stayed at home. No marked increase in church attendance was noted.

But two institutions felt the direct effect of the Sunday closing in the increase of patronage. They were the Salvation Army and the moving picture theaters.

Along West Madison street, in the neighborhood of the "flops" and large schooner saloons, where great crowds usually fill the streets on Sundays, the moving picture houses were jammed to the doors all day and late at night.

Street Orators Get Crowds.

Salvation Army leaders and street orators had their biggest crowds throughout the main west side streets.

In the vicinity of Halsted and Madison streets three revival services were continued throughout the afternoon in one block, while other speakers who were discussing economic questions in relation to the industrial situation had large audiences.

There was no disorder anywhere. The street crowds took the situation philosophically—and made for the movies.

Capt. Streeter Defies Order.

The only story of the day that could be stretched into a "sensation" was furnished by the "bumboats" on the river and Capt. Streeter, the hero of Streeterville.

The captain was caught red-handed dispensing beer in his shack on the edge of the fashionable district north of the river, and a couple of "bumboats" were raided by the police.

In desperation reporters sought some "big" story that might feature the lead of the "great experiment." It was not to be had.

Even the investigators and "spotters" for reform associations and city officials who raked the town to find serious violations came in last night with smiles on their faces, but empty handed so far as news goes.

But one arrest was made in connection with the closing order. Tony Milbert's place at 3000 South Canal street was open at 12:15 yesterday morning, and twelve persons wer at the bar. He refused to close and after an argument with a policeman was arrested for disorderly conduct.

Farwell's Peek Unavailing.

Arthur Burrage Farwell of the Law and Order league, who has led the fight on "demon rum" in Chicago for more than a quarter of a century, was pleasd to report that there was "nothing doing."

"I walked from Ashland avenue on West Madison street to the Northwestern depot," he said, "and didn't see one saloon open. I saw several signs in the saloon windows, 'Have a bottle,' observed three gospel meetings in the streets, and heard some good music. This day looks to me like a great advance for city and state."

Ald. Carl T. Murray, who has been a thorn in the side of the rum sellers, came in after a wide tour of inspection accompanied by a TRIBUNE reporter.

"I am immensely pleased," he said. "I believe Chicago today is actually a dry town. The saloonkeepers have accepted the law and apparently are observing it to the letter."

Sleuths All Empty Handed.

Other investigators reported in the some strain. They expressed astonishment that Chicago actually had closed up tight for the first time in so many years. They didn't think it possible.

One or two isolated drug stores were caught selling whisky in bottles. Chief Healey said he would look into these cases today.

"While I haven't my full reports yet," he said, "the violations do not seem to be vicious, with the possible exception of one or two cases. They are first offenders at that, and unless they repeat the violation next Sunday, I don't believe they will lose their licenses unless something more reprehensible than I am aware of now develops

Must Not Be Repeated.

"But that doesn't mean that it can be repeated. Licenses will be revoked if the saloons show any disposition to ignore this order. That goes for everybody, and neither political nor any other pull will save them. The law is going to be enforced to the letter, and I believe the saloonkeepers will coöperate in upholding the law.

"The fear that their licenses will be taken from them is the big argument. A great many saloonkeepers have hard work making both ends meet and all they have in this world is tied up in their bars. If they lose their licenses they are out with nothing to do except join the army of the unemployed. They are not going to take the chance of losing that license."

Healey on Inspection Tour.

Chief Healey and First Deputy Schuettler made a sixty mile inspection tour by auto up to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Shortly thereafter the chief, accompanied by a TRIBUNE reporter, made another trip on the west, southwest, and northwest sides. Again last night he was out on the north side, taking in the outlying districts.

"I am not making these trips because I haven't confidence in commanding officers," said the chief. "But I just want to see for myself. What I saw is gratifying. I have had adverse conditions to work with because of the political and official pull that has interfered with the department for many years.

"The officers and men are beginning to realize that no one has any pull in the department and that they can go ahead and do their police work without fear or favor. Today shows one of the first results of that new spirit. We are all pleased immensely."

Reports All Please Chief.

The first complete reports from all the precincts in the city reached the office of First Deputy Schuettler at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. "Delighted," said Chief Healey. Another complete report was tabulated at 10 o'clock last night, and again it caused the chief to smile.

Chief Healey also received a special report on the big clubs and hotels.

"I am not surprised at this report," he said. "The clubs and hotels have obeyed the law to the letter."

The twenty-eight police captains sent in detailed reports. They comprise what the chief characterizes the most remarkable page in the records of the Chicago police department.

See Eye Glass Peddler and $75.

Police were asked last night to search for a vender of eye glasses who stole a pocketbook and $75 from William Bell of 7264 South Halsted street. He is alleged to have picked up Bell's pocketbook, which was dropped, and fled.

BALANCE OF COUNTY PROFITS BY CITY DROUGHT.

Thirsty Chicagoans Swarm Over Into Neighboring Towns Where State Closing Law Isn't Enforced.

In the arid dawn of Chicago's first "dry" Sunday in forty years, hundreds of motorists sped to other parts of Cook county where the state law wasn't enforced.

Withal, it was a curious fight with thirst in and about the country towns of Cook county. For strategically located roadhouses it brought a flood of business, while thirst stations less fortunately situated framed wondering proprietors who had stocked up with unprecedented alcoholic supplies, only to find business "normal."

A representative of THE TRIBUNE who toured the roadhouses in an automobile found one roadhouse in Forest Park jammed to the doors with patrons, while another inn less than half a block away had many empty tables.

"It seems as though all Chicago is moving to Forest Park in automobiles," was the comment of the head waiter in the place that was getting the trade. "We're doing double the business we ever did before on a Sunday."

Bellwood, Burnham, Chicago Heights, Cicero, Forest Park, Franklin Park, Schiller Park, Kolze, Homewood, Lemont West Hammond, Phœnix, River Grove, Morton Grove, Lansing, Niles Center, Orland, and Summit all profited by Chicago's Sunday closing edict. Numerous "walking clubs" were formed in an impromptu manner and proceeded from the city limits to the "first chance."

BIG DRY MYSTERY SOLVED.

Beer, Brandy, and Whisky Missing Leads Police to Subtle Theory of Motive.

By a remarkable process of dry reasoning the police of the Chicago avenue station believe they have discovered the motive which caused unidentified persons to break into the saloon of Mrs. A. Erby, 1300 North Clark street, yesterday. A case of beer, four bottles of brandy and four bottles of whisky were missing.

NO ORCHESTRAL DIN

"TEA DANCES" LANGUISH UNDER SUNDAY CLOSING.

Waiters' Voices Echo Through Empty Cafes, While Orchestra Yawns.

The Sunday afternoon "tea dances" were hard hit by the Sunday closing order. They simply did not exist.

At the La Salle, Morrison, College inn States, and other places where a whirl of dancers usually congregates about 4 o'clock the waiters stood idle and only an occasional table here and there was occupied. In several instances orchestras were ready and waiting, with nothing to do. For the most part the orchestras didn't even appear.

"We usually have dancing on Sunday afternoon," said the head clerk at the Hotel Morrison, "but on account of this dry Sunday business we have cut it out entirely. No, there isn't a dance anywhere in the building. We simply can't do it under the circumstances."

The States restaurant was so nearly deserted that the management used a quiet hour or two for rehearsing its cabaret entertainment for the week. The manager said he had been told that most of the persons were spending the afternoon in Lake Forest or along the north shore.

The Lambs café, late in the afternoon was nearly deserted.

At the La Salle hotel, although signs in the lobby announced "the best dancing floor in Chicago," it was announced blandly that public dancing had been discontinued there "nearly a week ago."

MAYOR PREDICTS SOME NEW HEADS IN WET SOCIETIES

Sees a Change in Liquor Interest Chiefs After Hearing Closing Reports.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Word from Chicago that the first day of Sunday closing was comparatively uneventful led Mayor Thompson tonight to predict a radical change in the personnel of Chicago liquor leaders. Although the mayor did not name the man he had in mind, his comments pointed to Anton J. Cermak, head of the United Societies, as one of them.

"I am ready right now," he said, "to predict a big change in the liquor leaders. I was told today of a county in Indiana where the big liquor men themselves go to the state's attorney and have him prosecute saloonkeepers who violate the law. That is the kind of leaders the liquor interests in Chicago will find they have to have."

Telegram Pleases Mayor.

Of the batch of telegrams received today one partcularly pleased the mayor. It was from the Rev. Thomas Cook, Fifty-fifth and Wood streets, Chicago, and was as follows:

"Today is the 135th anniversary of the death of Father Mathew, the patron saint of temperance. It is sweet for me to contemplate that his great work is being exemplified by a modern courageous ruler of a city which extends its influence throughout the world. God continue to bless you."

It was learned today that Mayor Thompson last night called up Commissioner of Public Works Moorhouse by telephone at Chicago and directed him to "get busy" with the clergymen to have them bring about additional endorsement of the Sunday closing edict. The mayor told Mr. Moorhouse to ask the ministers to preach on the subject today and also to request members of their congregations towl re laudatory messages to the author of the Sunday lid order.

They Miss the Brass Bands.

It was rather a rueful crowd of the Chicago politicians that started out in a "rubber neck wagon" today to see the sights. San Francisco had been scheduled as the climax of the "boom Thompson" cross country junket.

The smaller cities en route had been visibly impressed. Crowds gathered to catch a glimpse of Mayor Thompson and his party as they were whisked about town in motors provided by local reception committees which usually included the mayor and sometimes the governor.

But if the visit of the Thompson party has caused any excitement here, it wasn't sufficient to satisfy the boomers.

Pay Good Cash to "Rubberneck."

"It doesn't seem as if they are paying very much attention to us," remarked John Garner, chairman of arrangements for the committee, after he had paid the driver of the "rubberneck" $35 for the morning's trip. It may be said that several aldermen are also "sore." The Thompson delegation has been entertained by exposition officials, but city officials, with a few exceptions, have not even called on the Chicagoans.

Hinky Dink Did NOT Open at 12

Ald. Michael Kenna's Workingmen's Exchange, 428 South Clark street, did not open at 12 o'clock last night for thirsty wayfarers. And thereby hangs a tale.

A photographer and reporter for a morning newspaper went to this saloon at 11:30 o'clock to take a picture of "bos" clamoring for admittance. The street was deserted. Raids were made on two lodging houses for men who would stand in front of this place for the price of a drink. Fifteen "bos" were marshaled and they posed for the picture.

"Now stick right here," said the photographer, "and when the saloon opens up march in and line up at the bar. Get a big glass of beer in front of you and I'll take the picture. I've more money for all of you."

Twelve o'clock came and the "bos" stood in line waiting for the doors to open. But they did not open. Ald. Kenna gave orders to the manager of the exchange early in the evening to keep closed.

Joe Blonski, who conducts a barrel house two doors away, got the nickels and dimes that should have been spent over "Hink's" bar.

WANTS PEN SENT OTHER MAYORS

Enthusiast Suggests They Follow "Big Bill's" Example.

"Send the pen to the rest of the mayors of Illinois and have them follow 'Big Bill's' example to enforce the law."

This is what one enthusiast writes in the matter of disposing of the pen with which Mayor Thompson signed the Sunday closing order.

The pen is in the temporary custodianship of THE TRIBUNE and suggestions are welcomed for a final home for it.

H. Alden Warnock offers the advice that all the other mayors of the state use the pen in the manner established by Thompson.

The Rev. Phillip Yarrow, pastor of the Morgan Park Congregational church, is again urged by a number of his friends for the honor of possessing the pen.

"The Rev. Phillip Yarrow," writes Delia A. Bleir, "is the man entitled to the famous pen. The promise from the mayor was first made in Blake hall, Morgan Park, prior to the election."

"If the pen that Mayor Thompson used in the Sunday closing order," writes the Rev. Duncan C. Milner, "is to be given to an individual it seems to me that the Rev. Phillip Yarrow is the man. He surely led in the movement to bring the mayor to his decision."

The Rev. E. L. Reiner of the Waveland Avenue Congregational church also urges that Mr. Yarrow be given the pen in token of his services for prohibition.

CHURCH COFFEE FILLS HIS PEWS WITH NEW FACES

Edgewater Pastor Says Sunday Lunch Feature Is Fixture; Praise for the Mayor.

If the swinging doors are bolted and you've got a little hunch
That your palate's kind o' dusty and you crave a little lunch,
Or if for sociability you feel inclined to search,
Don't leave for "east of Suez"; just drop around to church.

In celebration of the "closed saloon door" members of the Edgewater Presbyterian church at Bryn Mawr and Kenmore avenues held an "open door" service yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6. The feature of the gathering was the serving of coffee, hot chocolate, and sandwiches.

"I do not think any attended because saloons were closed," said the Rev. Louis Perkins Cain, pastor, "because we haven't any saloons in the immediate vicinity, but I did recognize many new faces and obtained the names of a number who have promised to attend regularly. Our members have caught the spirit of the thing, and I think the 'open door' services will be a regular Sunday institution with us from now on. Some have offered to donate refreshments and others have evinced a desire to furnish funds for fitting up a more agreeable, cheerful room in which to meet and serve tea. In this way the young people especially can spend their afternoons at the church.

Don't Seek Church.

"Men who go to saloons on Sunday are not hankering after the church," said the Rev. J. M. Dean, pastor of the Second Baptist church, who expressed himself as skeptical concerning any efforts for saloonkeepers as a class. "The bartenders no doubt were glad to get released for one day in seven, but most of them probably went to the ball game instead of going to church."

"Mayor Thompson is to be credited with courage, notwithstanding the claims of the anti-saloon league that it was responsible for the mayor's action in closing the saloons," said the Rev. J. W. Nicely, pastor of the Crerar Memorial Presbyterian church, in his morning sermon on "A Lawful Sabbath." "Other mayors have been importuned and threatened, but in forty-three years none of them responded to the appeals."

Called Mayor's Emancipation.

The mayor's order was called the Thompson emancipation proclamation by the Rev. David T. Magill, pastor of Calvary Baptist church.

The Diversey boulevard church, which sent 160 invitations to saloonkeepers inviting them to church, failed to note any who accepted the invitation to the morning service. The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. C. Cleworth, a former pastor, and no reference was made to the liquor question.

The Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones in his series of sermons on "Love for the Battle Torn Peoples" at All Souls church spoke of Germany.

"German art resents the vulgarity of the American saloon," he said. "German music is not at home in the tippling house from which women and children are excluded for decency's sake. The Sunday closing law that has so long lain dormant in Chicago is the child of democracy, not of theocracy. It is in the interest of man, not God."

POLICE "BUM BOAT" RAID RESULTS IN A "FLIVVER."

Marine and Land Strategy Goes Amiss When Patrol Wagon Blunders and Miscarries Scheme.

Chief of Police Healey and First Deputy Schuettler yesterday planned a raid on the "bumboats" at a slip a block north of the Columbia Yacht club. Instructions were given to the commanding officers of the detective bureau and the central detail. The plan was to have a dozen plain clothes men take the police boat and tie up in a nearby slip, then swoop down on the boats, seize the liquor, and arrest the keepers.

The patrol wagon was to follow.

When the detectives arrived on the scene they saw the patrol backed up beside the boats. The bureau men were too late. The raid had been made.

Two men were arrested, one of them Victor Peterson.

The two boats said to have been doing the largest business were not disturbed. It is also said women were on board. Owners of the two boats left unmolested, after the police departed, opened their doors and welcomed customers.

John Waterloo, owner of a wholesale malt and liquor house at 6739 North Kedzie avenue, defied the police when they ordered him to close. He did a thriving business among launch parties on the drainage canal, which borders his place.

HUMAN TORCH ON PILOT OF ENGINE THAT HITS AUTO

Blazing Chauffeur Is Carried 1,100 Feet After Crash at Crossing.

A race against the death of another cost the life of Carl Heinig, a chauffeur, yesterday. He was killed when the machine he was driving was struck by a Milwaukee flyer on the Chicago and Northwestern road at the Scott avenue grade crossing in Hubbard Woods. He was speeding to the North Shore Country club to bring Louis B. Kuppenheimer to the bedside of his dying mother in Chicago when the accident happened.

Even if Mr. Kuppenheimer had not been delayed by the death of his chauffeur, he would not have reached his mother's bedside in time, for Mrs. Augusta Kuppenheimer died at her residence at 3240 South Michigan avenue at 10:30, fifteen minutes before the collision occurred.

Mother Becomes Worse.

Mrs. Kuppenheimer, who was the widow of Bernard Kuppenheimer, founder of the wholesale clothing firm of B. Kuppenheimer & Co., at 415-423 South Market street, had been ill ten days. Albert B. Kuppenheimer, another son, telephoned to his brother's home in Hubbard Woods that her condition had taken a turn for the worse. Mr. Kuppenheimer and his wife were at the golf club in Braeside and the maid relayed the message to them there. Mr. Kuppenheimer instructed her to have Heinig hurry there with his machine at once.

E. O. Carlson of the Hubbard Woods pharmacy said he was standing near the crossing and saw the Kuppenheimer machine shoot past at a speed of about thirty-five miles an hour. Scott avenue approaches the tracks at a sharp angle and the intersection forms an X. There are no gates, but a flagman is stationed there to warn autoists. Louis Sturin, who was substituting for the regular watchman said he signaled for Heinig to stop as the Milwaukee express bore down from the north, but that Heinig evidently believed he could beat the train across and shot on the crossing.

Gasoline Tank Explodes.

The machine was fairly in the middle of the track when the pilot struck it. The gasoline tank exploded and the flaming liquid was sprayed over Heinig's body. The human torch was carried 1,100 feet on the pilot before the locomotive was stopped. The clothing was still burning when W. R. Kennedy, the engineer, and Fred P. Bassett, fireman, beat out the flames.

The force of the impact tore away a large portion of the pilot and the front wheels of the locomotive were derailed. Carlson said the train blew no whistle. Shortly after the accident another fast train sped by the crossing without blowing the whistle.

Mr. Kuppenheimer was informed of the accident and he and Mrs. Kuppenheimer were driven home in another machine and boarded a train for Chicago.

PASTOR'S AUTO HITS COUPLE

Woman Suffers Internal Hurts and Man a Broken Arm in Lincoln Park.

A man and a woman were severely injured in Lincoln park last night by an automobile in which the Rev. J. Hastie Odgers, pastor of the Rogers Park Methodist church, with Mrs. Odgers, was driving to his home at 7015 Greenview avenue. Mr. Odgers put them in his car and took them to the Henrotin Memorial hospital, where it was said that the woman, Mrs. Hetty Bildu of 759 Milwaukee avenue, had suffered internal injuries. The man, Otto Albert of 2557 Ward street, was sent home after a fractured arm had been cared for.

THREE AUTOS IN CRASH.

Two Cars Crash Together and Third Plunges Into Wrecked Machine.

Two persons were injured early yesterday in a collision between three automobiles at East Thirteenth street and Michigan avenue.

They are Henry Mueller of 923 West Fifty-fifth street, internal injuries, and J. A. Harris of 1843 South Wabash avenue, a Shaw chauffeur, bruised and cut.

Mueller's car was struck by Harris' taxicab. B. Isaacson, another Shaw chauffeur, was driving a few feet behind Harris' car, and before he could apply the brakes his car crashed into the two other machines.

SALESMAN HIT BY TRAIN.

Frank Haual Seriously Injured on Way to Jefferson Park Station of Northwestern.

Frank Haual of 2600 Winona avenue, city salesman for George E. Cole, bookbinders, was struck and seriously injured by a Northwestern train while walking to the Jefferson Park station on Saturday. He was walking on a path parallel to the tracks when a train overtook him.

He was taken to the Swedish Covenant Hospital and Home of Mercy.

AUTO SKIDS; DRIVER DEAD.

Martin Pederson Dies of Injuries Sustained in Accident in Sheridan Road.

Martin Pederson, 634 Park avenue, Wilmette, died in St. Frances hospital in Evanston last night from injuries incurred in an automobile accident Oct. 7. Pederson was driving in Sheridan road near Pratt avenue when the machine skidded into the curb. He was thrown out on his head.

BOASTERS SHOULD INVOICE the "present worth" of a dozen of their friends who made the same foolish boast a few years ago—then ask the head Neal Institute, No. 811-T East 40th Street, Chicago (Oakland 430), or at Springfield, Ill., to inform them how easily they can leave whisky ALONE after taking the Neal Three Day Treatment.

German Refugees from Orient in Chicago.

Seventy-five men, thirty-five children and seven physicians of the German Red Cross, all refugees from Tsing Tau, the German province in China which was captured by the Japanese about a year ago, passed through Chicago last night on their way to Germany under safe conduct of the Japanese and British governments. Accompanying them was Ludwig Wittich, member of the Zeppelin crew captured by the Russians in Poland and sent to Siberia, whence he escaped through China to Tientsin. Several comrades who escaped with him perished in the ice driven Siberian wastes, and all of the toes on Wittich's right foot were frozen off before he reached the border. He was permitted to return to America because of his incapacity, but may not be given a passport by the British. Wittich is shown in the lower left hand corner of the photograph.

as a woman now.' They agreed. They allowed me to come. But now when I reach New York I do not know whether the British officials will give me safe conduct. If not, I must stay in New York until the war is over. I do not know what I shall do."

Most of the women wore shawls. Some are widows whose husbands fell in the defense of Tientsin and Tsing Tau. Most of them have left their husbands behind, prisoners of war in the Japanese concentration camp.

"I lost everything," said Frau Bertha Caillas, fingering her shawl and worn skirt. "Twenty years we lived in Tsing Tau, my husband and I. He is there now, a prisoner. I am old, 54, but I shall offer my services as a nurse. I shall go first to my old home in Stettin. The Japanese were kind to us, very kind. We cannot complain. It is war."

Near Frau Caillas stood a blond haired, buxom young woman of 20. She blushed and would not tell her name, but the interpreter told her story. She had gone to Tientsin shortly before the outbreak of the war to marry her sweetheart, a member of the garrison. Four months after the wedding he was a prisoner. She went often to speak to him through the stockade and he had been permitted to kiss her good-by when she left. His picture was in the gold locket about her throat.

Aided Japanese Wounded.

The physicians explained they were accorded the privilege of forming the escort because of medical services they had rendered the wounded Japanese soldiers.

"Ach Gott!" exclaimed Dr. Edward Finger, as he came puffing back into the station after an hour spent in sightseeing. "Many Germans in Chicago you have. Every town through which we have passed since we left San Francisco we have reached late at night. The beer gardens are shut; the wein stubes closed. Ach, how I long for lager. 'At Chicago,' they promised me. I am here. No beer. Your mayor, they told me, closed the beer gardens on Sunday and then went to San Francisco, where he can get plenty. Himmel! Do you not get thirsty on Sunday?"

And the other doctors laughed at Dr. Finger's discomfiture and his little joke about Mayor Thompson.

The refugees arrived on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois from Kansas City and left over the Erie at 11:10 for New York. Ludwig Wittich was the last to hobble aboard as the train pulled out of the shed.

AUTOLYSIN FOUND TO BE EFFICACIOUS IN CANCER.

Medical Journal Reports It Gives Strong Hope of Cure in 80 Per Cent of Inoperable Cases.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Striking improvement in cancer following the use of the vegetable extract of autolysin is described in the issue of the New York Medical Journal for Oct. 9. Autolysin is the discovery of Dr. Silas R. Beebe and Dr. Alexander Horowitz. It appears to derive its efficacy from the action of chlorophyl, the green coloring matter in plants. The substance is not new, but extended experiments with it are only beginning.

Discussing cases of inoperable cancer treated with autolysin, Dr. Hugh G. Nicholson of Charleston, W. Va., makes this statement: "The remedy gives strong hope of cure in probably 80 per cent of cases of inoperable cancer, if these are seen reasonably early."

JUSTICE LAMAR SERIOUSLY ILL; BIG CASES NEAR

Steel, Harvester, and Atlantic Pool Suits May Be Decided by Incomplete Bench.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—On the eve of the reassembling of the United States Supreme court tomorrow for the year's work, it became known tonight that Associate Justice Joseph R. Lamar is suffering from a stroke of paralysis.

The justice will be unable to take part in the sittings of the court for an indefinite period. It was reported that he probably would not return to the bench, but his family and physician say that they expect him to be recovered within a few months.

Justice Lamar was stricken while at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., a few days ago. He was brought back to Washington immediately. It was stated at his residence tonight that the paralytic stroke affected his left arm only. There is, however, a condition of high blood pressure which is giving the physicians some concern.

Question Over Pension.

If the condition of the associate justice should not improve the question of his retirement from the Supreme bench would arise. Inasmuch as he is not 70 years old and has not served ten years, he is not eligible to natural retirement. In the case of Associate Justice Moody, who is suffering from an incurable malady, congress passed an act providing for his retirement on full pay after he had been absent from the court for more than a year.

Mr. Lamar was born in Georgia and at one time was a member of the Supreme court of that state, from which he resigned on account of ill health. He was appointed to the United States Supreme court by President Taft on Dec. 12, 1910.

Many Big Cases Pending.

The eight other justices will meet at noon tomorrow and adjourn shortly thereafter for the customary call on the president, which will take place at 12:45 o'clock. On this occasion the justices not only will pay their respects to the chief executive, but will felicitate the president upon his forthcoming marriage.

The court is confronted with a docket of unusual proportions. The most important will be the reargument of the harvester trust case and the hearing of the steel trust appeal. The interpretation of the anti-trust laws in these suits will decide the policy of the administration.

A loss of these cases would operate as a further deterrent influence upon trust prosecutions by the department of justice.

Atlantic Steamer Pool Case.

Another important anti-trust suit appeal will be that in the North Atlantic Steamship pool case. The government sought to dissolve the pool, but the lower court granted only an injunction against the use of "fighting ships."

Whether Metropolis, Ill., is being discriminated against in favor of Paducah, Ky., and other cities in that territory will be determined by the Supreme court when it decides the case brought by the federal government against the St. Louis and Iron Mountain railway. Representations were made that Metropolis was being discriminated against on rates on lumber shipped from Arkansas and Texas points.

The case of George G. Johnson, treasurer of South Dakota, against the Wells-Fargo Express company is one of those on the first assignment of cases for argument. The case involves the right of a state to put a tax on the gross earnings of railroads, telephone, telegraph, and express companies operating within the commonwealth.

Recover Stolen Auto Tires.

Four automobile tires were stolen from the Peck Wheel company, 4658 Princeton avenue, yesterday and were recovered later. A description was furnished to the police, who saw a light coal wagon at West Forty-second and South Wallace streets. The men jumped from the wagon, leaving the tires.

VASSAR GIFT BY CHICAGO WOMAN

Mrs. Avery Coonley and Sister Pledge $50,000 for New Alumnae Hall.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Vassar college began its semi-centennial celebration today. Announcement will be made tomorrow of the gift of an alumnae hall. The money will be furnished by Mrs. Avery Coonley of Chicago, class of 1886; her sister, Mrs. Elon Hooker of Greenwich, Conn., class of 1894, and another graduate whose name is not yet obtainable. The hall will be erected on Raymond avenue, opposite the college campus. Mrs. Coonley and her sister give $50,000, while the unnamed donor gives $10,000. It is hoped to raise $150,000 for the fund.

Over 2,000 graduates were here today for the beginning of the celebration. An address by Dr. Williams Herbert Perry Faunce, president of Brown university, in the chapel marked the opening. The chapel was filled to the doors.

Following the services in the chapel there was a reception to sixty student delegates from the various colleges of the country in the athletic circle.

The college will build two wings on the building and these will contain apartments for unmarried instructors at the college.

HEROES OF PEACE DRAW PRAISE OF F. G. PEABODY.

Harvard Man Points to Sunday Evening Club Examples of Real Bravery Outside of War.

"If we are ever to get rid of war," said Prof. Francis G. Peabody of Harvard university before the Sunday Evening club at Orchestra hall last night, "we must find an outlet for heroism, which is its only redeeming feature."

To emphasize his text the speaker pulled from his pocket a clipping from last Wednesday's TRIBUNE and read the story of an Italian worker's death in trying to save Sheldon Lacey from asphyxiation in the steel works at South Chicago.

A Hero of Peace.

"If that man had died on a European battlefield," he said, "we would have called him a brave soldier and a hero. Is he any less a hero because he died for his fellow workman in a peaceful industry?

"No. That is real heroism. And there is more real heroism in the case of the young doctor who saved a victim of diphtheria by sucking the fatal membrane through a tube, of the surgeon who discovered the cause of yellow fever by allowing himself to be bitten by a germ laden mosquito, and of Warden Osborne of Sing Sing, who left a home of luxury to work prison reform."

Hear from Story All Day.

THE TRIBUNE provided a topic for another speaker when Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club, told of the brewery which called up the club to ask how large a stock of liquors it needed over Sunday.

"We have been hearing from that TRIBUNE story all day," he said. "And we were mighty glad the brewery learned there was a religious club downtown, even if we didn't give them any trade."

ALSO A SAD SUNDAY FOR HIM.

Charles Burga, who has no permanent address, reported to the Desplaines street police yesterday that he had been robbed of $9 by a man with whom he had been drinking in a saloon at West Madison and Green streets shortly before midnight Saturday night.

CLUBWOMEN TO TELL ALDERMEN STRIKE FINDINGS

Police Committee Will Hear Charges of Brutality in Garment Trouble.

The fight by clubwomen in the interest of girl garment workers will be taken before the council committee on schools, fire, police, and civil service today. Ald. Thomas Lynch, chairman, invited the women to present facts gathered in their recent investigations.

Miss Ellen Gates Starr and Miss Grace Abbott will submit data and affidavits to support claims of police brutality in connection with the garment workers' strike. The evidence was presented to Chief of Police Healey on Saturday. He promised to confer with the women today.

Strike Committee to Hear Women.

The committee of women will visit the council's strike committee on behalf of the garment workers. During the last week the women have gone into the strike districts and investigated at first hand.

"I know of specific instances where the police have been brutal," said Miss Ellen Gates Starr. "We have affidavits to prove it. We will present the evidence to the committee and ask that proper action be taken."

Strike Situation Unchanged.

The strike situation remains unchanged. Efforts to gain consent of the employers to arbitrate have been futile. A meeting of the special strike committee will be held today. Chairman Utpatel will make another effort to bring about a mediation agreement.

TAKE $3,000 WINNETKA GEMS

Burglars Enter Second Story of Sheridan Road Residence of L. J. Hopkins.

When L. J. Hopkins, a lumber dealer, returned from the east to his home on Sheridan road, Winnetka, last night he found the house had been entered in his absence and jewelry valued at $3,000 gone. The police were notified and found that the residence had been entered last Monday evening. A second story window had been pried open. The jewels belonged to Miss Ruth Hopkins, a daughter. Miss Hopkins said last evening that she would be willing to sacrifice the rest of the valuables if an old ring, which was a family heirloom, was returned.

CARRANZA SEES MEXICAN PEACE IN RECOGNITION

Will Strengthen Cause of His Faction; Villa Troops in Mutiny, Report.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Oct. 10.—Gen. Carranza received with great pleasure the news that the Pan-American conference at Washington had decided to recommend recognition of the party led by him as the de facto government in Mexico, although he pointed out that he had received no official notification to this effect.

No Intervention Now.

"This news puts an end to all efforts of our enemies to bring about foreign intervention," Gen. Carranza said. "They continue their intrigues and their attacks in the newspapers, but recognition of the Constitutionalist government naturally will rob them of the fruit of their efforts.

"When peace is absolutely restored and tranquillity really established throughout the republic, amnesty will be granted to all those persons, but not now. To permit them to return at this time would be to endure their machinations within the republic.

Will Dishearten Rebels.

"The immediate effect of this news will be a great moral strengthening of the cause of constitutionalism, and a corresponding disheartening of opposing factions.

There will be no more formal battles. Fighting of that sort already has ended, but naturally the struggle to put down minor outbreaks and lawlessness must be continued for a greater or less time in a country such as this, where there are extensive open areas.

"News of the coming recognition is pleasing, since it will renew and strengthen the friendly relations between Mexico and other nations."

U. S. TO HELP DICTATOR.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—That the United States soon will be found supporting another dictatorship in Mexico was the prediction made here tonight following the announcement yesterday of the decision of the Pan-American conference in favor of recognition of the Carranza government.

The charge that Carranza is intent upon self-perpetuation in Mexico has been current here for months. Many impartial observers who have recently visited Mexico returned with the absolute conviction that Carranza contemplates nothing less than maintenance of himself in control of the supreme power in Mexico for an indefinite period.

No Solution of Problem.

Even the warmest supporters of the course which resulted in yesterday's announcement of intention to recognize Carranza do not claim for the action of the Pan-American conference that it is a solution of the Mexican problem.

They do insist, however, that the extension of recognition to one of the factions gives the United States, as the government chiefly interested, a sort of handle by which it can take hold of the Mexican situation in the future.

Those holding this view profess to regard the recognition of Carranza not as the termination of the Mexican problem, but as the beginning of a solution on the basis of a new policy.

Having recognized a government in Mexico, it is declared the United States can hold that government to just as strict accountability as it considers necessary in all matters pertaining to foreign obligations.

Promises Made by Carranza.

Although the documents presented to Secretary Lansing and the pan-American conferees by Eliseo Arrendondo on behalf of Gen. Carranza on which the decision to recognize the Carranza party was based have not been made public, an extract from a memorandum presented to the pan-American conferees on behalf of Carranza contains the following:

"1. The Constitutionalist government shall afford to foreigners residing in Mexico all the guarantees to which they are entitled, shall amply protect their lives, shall allow them indemnities for the damages which the revolution may have caused to them, and shall also assume the responsibility of legitimate financial obligations.

"2. The first concern of the Constitutionalist government shall be to reestablish peace, the commission of crimes shall be punished, and amnesty shall be enacted in due time in keeping with the necessities of the country.

"3. No one shall suffer in his life, freedom, and property because of his religious beliefs.

"4. There shall be no confiscations in connection with the settlement of the agrarian question. This problem shall be solved by an equitable distribution of the lands still owned by the government and by the recovery of those lots taken from individuals or communities.

"5. All property legitimately acquired from individuals or legal governments shall be respected.

"6. The government shall take pains in developing public education and permit the establishment of private schools subject to our laws."

Official advices have been received here that the governments of Argentina, Brazil, and Chile are in accord with the decision of the peace envoys to grant recognition of Carranza.

Villa Troops Mutiny?

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Four of Gen. Francisco Villa's generals and 2,000 troops under their command mutinied today at Casas Grandes when they learned of the proposed recognition of Carranza by the United States and the plan of Villa to conduct a guerrilla warfare. This declaration was made at the Carranza consulate in El Paso tonight.

The consulate says it has positive information that when Gen. Villa reached Casas Grandes this morning he found fully half of his troops lined up against him.

During the night the four generals and their forces gathered at Casas Grandes withdrew from the rest of the Villa forces. When Villa arrived they are said to have informed him that they would refuse to carry on any more fighting.

Villa is said to have gone into a great rage and to have threatened to "annihilate" the mutineers, although his loyal force is said to be no larger than that which deserted.

In Juarez it was said officially that "no news has been received from Gen. Villa today except that he arrived at Casas Grandes and is issuing orders for the disposition of his troops."

NOTEBOOK OF A NEUTRAL

ARTICLE NUMBER 6

BY JOSEPH MEDILL PATTERSON.

[Copyright: 1915: By The Chicago Tribune.]

S. S. CYMRIC, Sept. 22, 1915.

"Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."—Stephen Decatur.

The psychology of nations and armies in war is not merely more intense and passionate, it is completely different from that of the same nations and armies in peace.

Foreigners, who in times of peace were thought of as waiters, hotel keepers, musicians, fox hunters, must be thought of in times of war as hordes of anti-Christs, enemies of mankind.

It is a perfectly practical matter. A barber or bellboy who might hesitate to shoot at another barber or bellboy would conscientiously spend a winter in the trenches to kill an Antichrist.

War, other things being even approximately equal, is won by the nation with the strongest will, and the way to strengthen your will to fight is to think of your enemy as base, brutal, and feeble and of your side as strong, gallant, clever.

If the kaiser described the English as "a contemptible little army," it would be the proper war "dope" to hand out to his soldiers. It would make them more eager to attack the English than if they thought of them as a band of man-eating tigers apt to give a terrific mauling to all opponents.

The impression seems widely spread abroad in England and America at present that the chief military operations undertaken by the Germans in Belgium were against unarmed civilians and consisted of destroying churches, burning towns, shooting priests, cutting hands from babies, and violating women. It is of distinct military value to spread this impression in France and England, for it not only lashes the soldier of those countries into fury but it skips somewhat lightly over the fact that in their swift thrust through Belgium and northern France the Germans were opposed not only by civilians and churches but also by fortresses and the armies of France, England, and Belgium.

It is not true that the German thrust through Belgium was a surprise to the military authorities of France and England. The great debate in the French parliament in 1912 and 1913 on the three year law (as to whether the compulsory military service should be raised from two to three years) was finally won by the advocates of the three year service, largely if not chiefly on the argument that the Germans would not hesitate to come through Belgium if they thought they could gain a military advantage thereby. These debates were not held in executive session, but were published in extenso in the newspapers. In consequence the condition of the French forts on the Belgium frontier was investigated, quite a bit of graft was discovered, and scandal resulted.

Nor is there any particular validity in the charge that for the last forty-four years Germany alone has been preparing for war, while the other nations, inferentially, never dreamed of such a thing.

Before the war France took all its healthy young men into the army for three years, while Germany took about 60 per cent of its healthy young men into the army for two years (cavalry three). Before the war Russia had a peace establishment of 1,900,000, Germany of 800,000. Before the war Great Britain had the greatest navy in the world.

I doubt not that Germany was the aggressor in this war. I think it indisputable that the German higher command seized what it believed to be an opportune moment to strike, and struck. But there is no sense whatever in the apparently prevalent notion that Germany has been alone in preparing for this war since the last one.

England, France, Germany, and Russia all have been appropriating about the same amount of money for military and naval expenses each year, and if Germany is the only one that has spent its military appropriations on "preparation for war," the other countries have been stolen blind by their naval and military officers and contractors, or else those gentlemen are almighty inefficient.

Such charges are in the nature of "alibis" to explain defeats. If the other countries had smashed up Germany in a six weeks' campaign they would be bragging now of their marvelous preparedness and their politicians would be running for office on that issue.

The English in one breath proclaim the bloodthirsty brutality of the Germans in making their army a "huge war machine" and in the next extol their own almost celestial) virtue in having their navy "utterly fit" on the break of hostilities.

When (or if) the Japanese attack us we shall immediately present the same alibis for our defeats, but with even less excuse. The other nations at least tried to prepare for the probable onslaught of the great military empire of Germany. We are not even trying to prepare for the probable onslaught of the great military empire of Japan.

The other nations complained of the surprise attack of Germany. If the Japanese attack us we shall doubtless try after the event to derive some minor comfort from similar complaint. But such comfort is quite minor.

One thing is certain. If the Japanese decide to fight us they will try to surprise us and obtain for themselves that initial advantage.

What do I mean—war with Japan? Has the war in Europe addled my brain? Am I seeing things at night?

I hope that is the explanation. Nevertheless these facts are indisputable: Japan is now dominated by descendants of the old Samurai, a caste more martial even than the Prussian junkers, a caste that believes the only honorable occupation for a gentleman is war; a caste that despises trade and tradesmen. We are a nation of tradesmen.

Under the influence of this caste the Japanese have engaged in five wars in the past twenty-one years and all have been glorious and profitable—viz.: 1894-95 against China, which resulted in the acquisition of Formosa; 1900 Boxer expedition, when Japanese troops distinguished themselves above their white allies, resulting in Anglo-Japanese alliance; 1904-5 against Russia, resulting in acquisition of Corea, Port Arthur, lower Manchuria; 1914 against Germany, resulting in capture of Kiao-Chau, with the rich province of Shantung for a hinterland; 1915, "the peaceful war" with China, in which by the display of irresistible force the Japanese forced a treaty upon China which makes that aged country the vassal of the islanders.

Is there any reason to suppose that the Japanese have turned pacifist since their latest, easiest, and most profitable victory last March?

"But why should they want to fight us in particular?" Aside from the fact that they like fighting and dislike us, we are the next logical victim, being a near neighbor, unmilitary and rich—a wonderful nation to loot.

Japan and its vassal, China, are settled to the suffocation point. If the Japanese could seize and hold Alaska and the Pacific states for five years, at the end of that time there would probably be not less than 5,000,000 Chinese and Japanese settled on this continent, on the other side of the Japanese outposts.

"But Japan hasn't the money to fight us." If Japan can confirm and regularize the vassalage of China at the peace treaties after the great war it will have all the natural wealth it needs—coal, iron, and cheap labor—to start war with us on a grand scale. After the war gets well under way Japan will expect us to pay for its continuance.

"But even if there could be any vestige of possibility in such a nightmare, why suggest alliance with Great Britain, already allied with Japan, instead of with Germany, already at war with Japan."

For three reasons—England has large interests in central and south China, and strong naval bases in the Pacific and will be jealous of the Japanese advance in those regions. Germany has already lost its Chinese colony and all naval bases in the Pacific.

2. The British colonies, British Columbia, New Zealand, and Australia, share the apprehensions of our Pacific states concerning the Japanese and would urge the mother country to common cause with us.

3. The British navy will probably be much stronger than the German navy after the war and it is the high moral duty of our statesmen to be with the winner if they can pick him out in advance.

However, though we live in an inflammable house and ought to take out fire insurance, we will probably prefer to chance it.

SUFFRAGISTS PREPARE FOR BOMBARDMENT OF CONGRESS

Concentrate for Advancement on Washington to Support Susan B. Anthony Amendment.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The movement for national woman suffrage is concentrating for an advance upon Washington, where a united demand will be made upon congress in the early days of the session for the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment to the constitution enfranchising women.

Under the auspices of the Congressional union, envoys are now on their way to the capital bringing from the Pacific coast petitions and resolutions from the women of the equal suffrage and the middle states urging the passage of the resolution which will serve to submit the question to the state legislatures for ratification.

Upon their arrival in Washington, on Dec. 6, the day congress convenes, the envoys will be met by a large deputation of Congressional union workers, all of whom will proceed to the White House, where the envoys will present for the president's consideration the message from the women of the west.

The Store for Men

Sometimes a room is lifeless, or monotonous, in its furnishings and decorations, due to the absence of accents or high-lights. A piece of painted or lacquered furniture with colors contrasting to its surroundings, if properly placed, will tone up an otherwise ordinary composition and give it character and spirit.

Sun rooms, breakfast rooms, and bedrooms, especially, can be made unusually attractive by furnishing them completely with decorated furniture, leaving the walls and rugs in plain colors.

Painted and Lacquered Furniture

Nearly covering our first floor is a collection of painted and lacquered furniture from our own shops and artists, together with meritorious creations of other celebrated makers, including some rare imported pieces.

Foreseeing the vogue of this decorated furniture, we have made a most painstaking research of the subject. We have studied the Polychrome of Italy, the painted and lacquered furniture of England in the first half of the 18th century, the work of Angelica Kaufman and other early contemporaries, the painted furniture of France during the time of Louis XV., as well as the simple and attractive peasant decorated furniture of Holland, Hungary, Bavaria, the Tyrol and Normandy, besides the Pennsylvania Dunkard and other types of early American decorated furniture. From all these types we have drawn the best and have incorporated them into our displays.

A TOBEY-MADE BEDROOM SUITE OF RARE AUSTRALIAN PLUM-WOOD is a noticeable feature of this collection. The finish has a natural gold sheen. It is in the Adam style and painted after the type of furniture of that period, and we believe it to be the best executed piece of work of that period in America. The twelve pieces are priced at $1650.

A RARE QUEEN ANNE BLACK LACQUERED SUITE with gesso work decorated in a Chinese manner similar to the early work of this character.

A VERY ATTRACTIVE ENAMELED AND DECORATED BEDROOM SUITE after the type of the French designed furniture of Normandy, made in our own shops and decorated by our own artists, is priced as follows: Bed, $75. Dresser, $130. Chiffonier, $95. Toilet Table, $115. Room Table, $33. Chair, $30. Rocker, $35.

EARLY AMERICAN BEDROOM SUITE, putty color, striped in blue, painted in floral designs after furniture of this period: Bed, $57. Dresser, $69. Chiffonier, $60. Toilet Table, $50. Somnoe, $17. Chair, $17.50. Rocker, $18.50.

A BREAKFAST ROOM SUITE after the style of the Tyrolean peasant furniture: Sideboard, $62. Serving Table, $29. Breakfast Table, $39.50. Chairs, $14.

There is also a great variety of painted and decorated chairs and rockers; many tables, lamps, mirrors and miscellaneous pieces, ranging from $7.50 to $85.

Visitors are cordially invited to enjoy this attractive exhibition.

Second Triangle Series Makes Smashing Hit

The second group of Triangle Plays which opened at the Studebaker Theatre yesterday afternoon has established a high mark for this new form of dramatic presentation. After the huge triumph of the first week it was said the mark set was too high for safety—that we couldn't hold the pace. We didn't have any such fear, we KNEW what was coming. And now Chicago agrees with us that the new series is even better than the first—if that is possible.

Stupendous in concept; admirably daring in execution—"The Coward," with Frank Keenan, draws gasps from every audience that sees it. You'll know why when YOU see it.

If there's a single tear at the back of your eye "Old Heidelberg," with Dorothy Gish, will bring it forth.

As for roaring comedy, there are Hitchcock and Foy, so you are certain of laughter.

If you were not at the Studebaker Theatre yesterday, you certainly should not fail to go today, tomorrow or some time this week.

CABLE CENSOR CAUSES LOSS OF MILLIONS

American Exporters Assert the British Restriction Has Crippled Trade with Neutrals.

New York, Oct. 11, 3 a. m.—[Special.]—The World this morning prints the following:

"The British restriction of cable messages between the United States and neutral countries in Europe has struck export firms of New York heavily.

"Evidence in possession of the World shows that this restriction is causing American firms individual losses amounting to tens and hundreds of thousands of dollars—an aggregate that will run into the millions.

"It shows that, in many cases, a growth of trade between this country and neutral Europe, which naturally would follow the disarrangement of the usual British and German channels, is restrained through control of the means of communication. It indicates that the British censor has diverted trade in war munitions from an independent American firm into the hands of J. P. Morgan & Co., the accredited representative of the British government in the United States.

No Action by Government.

"For nine months the Merchants' association of New York has been attempting by representations to the state department at Washington, to find relief from arbitrary destruction of American cablegrams.

The department has placed the protests before the British authorities, but has made no diplomatic efforts to unwind the tangle, as the matter of cable censorship is not covered by treaty provisions.

"S. C. Mead, secretary of the association, and C. A. Richards, chairman of a committee appointed by the American Manufacturers' association, are working together in handling different phases of the cable problem.

"The former is protesting against unnecessary delay and destruction of cable messages. The latter is considering means to obtain lower cable tolls. Concerted action is expected after the next meeting of the directors of the Merchants' association, which will be held shortly.

Some Concessions Given.

"As a result of negotiations with the British authorities certain concessions were allowed American exporters. This was early in January. The privileges then given have been maintained, though the control of cables with neutral countries has not been relaxed.

"Firms engaged in export and import commerce with Europe denounce the regulations imposed by the British authorities, but they will not allow themselves to be quoted for publication, saying that Great Britain is in a position to prohibit completely the trade of concerns which protest openly.

Refuse to Refund Charges.

"A source of great loss to American houses is the refusal of the British government to refund payment for messages which are denied transmission. Cable messages from New York to Denmark or Holland cost about 35 cents a word. Of this sum 25 cents a word pays for transmission from here to England and 10 cents for the remainder of the journey.

"Numbers of cablegrams are dispatched over the cables to England and are then prohibited from retransmission to the continent. The sender in New York pays the entire 35 cents a word. No return whatever is made for a destroyed message, even for the transmission from England to the continent a service which is not accomplished.

"The cable companies turn over the message and the money to the British postoffice department. The extra money is pocketed by the British government.

"The French censors will notify the American sender for the price of five extra words whether his message has been permitted to go forward to its destination in Denmark or Holland or other neutrals.

Handicap on Mail Also.

"The Merchants' association has found that the British censorship of mails has been as severe and arbitrary as the regulation of cable messages. In a bulletin which was mailed to the members of the association on July 26 the situation was set forth in the following words::

"'Much annoyance and difficulty have been caused in connection with the censorship of first class mail, especially mail between the United States and neutral countries in northern Europe. Many letters have been detained and opened by the British censors and ultimately forwarded to their destination with the censorship paster attached, and sometimes with portions of the letters or inclosures in the letters missing.'"

ITALIAN RAIDS IMPEDE DEFENSIVE WORK OF FOE.

Attacks by Austrians at Various Points Repulsed, Official Report from Rome Says.

ROME, Oct. 10.—The following official communication was issued today by the war office:

The enemy is displaying great activity in constructing defensive works and establishing his communications. His exertions, however, are being seriously impeded by our artillery and by bold raids by small detachments of our troops.

Along the Isonzo during the day of the 9th and the following night after intense artillery preparations and volleys of hand grenades, a strong enemy attempted attacks against our positions on the right bank of Slatenik, in the Plezzo basin, on Mraliverh, in the Monte Nero zone; at Dolje, in the Tolmino section, and at Plava and at Zagora, on the lower Isonzo. The enemy everywhere was repulsed with heavy losses, even leaving prisoners in our hands.

THEOSOPHISTS PROTEST SPALDING WILL CONTEST.

Think Suit of Son of Late Millionaire Conveys Reflection Against Society and Mrs. Tingley.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 10.—At a meeting here tonight members of the International Theosophical society and Universal Botherhood voiced vigorous protests against the action last week of Keith Spalding in seeking to break the will of his father, the late A. G. Spalding, millionaire sporting goods manufacturer.

The protests chiefly were directed at the language of the will contest, which alleges that Spalding was coerced into making the will.

Speakers at tonight's meeting maintained that their own integrity had been assailed, as well as that of Katherine Tingley, head of the Theosophical organization at Point Loma.

ATHENS, Oct. 10.—The representatives of the entente powers, while exercising no pressure on the Greek government are urging it to reply to the question put last Thursday in regard to its future course respecting the Serbo-Grecian alliance. The cabinet deliberated this question at great length yesterday and today but has not succeeded in reaching any agreement.

German Troops Advancing.

BERLIN, Oct. 10, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—Although the Serbians are offering determined resistance to the Austro-German invasion, it appears from the statement given out today at the war office that their efforts thus far have failed.

Belgrade is now completely in the hands of the Teutonic forces, as well as the outlying heights to the southeast and southwest of the city. Further east the Serbians were beaten back.

The war office announcement respecting these operations follows:

Belgrade and the surrounding heights to the southwest and southeast are in our hands. The Serbians also were thrown back further east wherever they resisted. Our troops are advancing.

Vienna War Report.

VIENNA, Oct. 10.—The war office tonight issued the following report regarding operations on the Serbian front:

The Austro-German troops have successfully advanced in Macva [northwestern Serbia], north of Obrenovac.

The German regiments which entered Belgrade cleared the town of the enemy after street fighting. They now are attacking the southeastern and southwestern heights.

Further down the stream our allies have reached the southern bank of the Danube with strong forces and dislodged the enemy from several positions.

Bulgar Envoy Angered.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

AMSTERDAM, via London, Oct. 10.—The Telegraaf's correspondent in Petrograd, confirming the resignation of the Bulgarian minister to Russia, M. Madjaroff, says in a dispatch to his paper that upon leaving he protested against what he termed "his country's ingratitude toward Russia," and said:

"I am going back to Bulgaria to tell my countrymen the whole truth. I shall denounce my government whatever may be the consequences."

It appears, according to the correspondent, that the Russian government refuses to hand M. Madjaroff his passports, fearing for his safety in traveling back to Sofia.

Berlin Papers Jubilant.

German newspapers are jubilant over the capture of Belgrade. The Vossische Zeitung says:

"It is the beginning of a great oriental campaign. The goddess of victory is with us. Her path extends from the North sea to India."

The Frankfurter Zeitung reports the kaiser is going to Serbia, his mission being to cement German friendship with Turkey. The same paper asserts the first object of the attack upon Serbia is to gain free communication across the northeastern corner, and adds:

"But if the recent favorable change in the Balkan situation should become permanent gain for us, the work must be completed and Serbia must be crushed."

GERMANS TAKE FIVE MILES OF RUSS TRENCHES

Make Important Progress in Effort to Capture Dvinsk; Advance Near Pinsk.

BERLIN, Oct. 10, by Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The German effort to capture Dvinsk, on which Field Marshal von Hindenburg is now concentrating his efforts, has made further important progress.

The war office announced today the capture of Russian positions over a front of nearly five miles, north of the railroad running west from Dvinsk.

A violent Russian attack west of the city, in an endeavor to regain the positions lost when the Germans last week made a gap of three miles in the Russian lines, was repulsed.

Berlin War Report.

The official statement in regard to operations on the eastern front follows:

After a violent hand to hand fight Field Marshal von Hindenberg's army repulsed Russian forces which attempted to reconquer their lost positions near Garbounovka, west of Pinsk.

North of the railroad from Dvinsk to Poniewesch, to the west of Illukst, the Germans captured the enemy's positions over a front of about eight kilometers (nearly five miles). Six officers, 750 prisoners, and five machine guns were captured.

Gen. von Linsingen's army took by storm the village of Sinozye, southwest of Pinsk. Cavalry engagements continue near Kucheckawola and in the neighborhood of Jezierczy.

Several Russia attacks on the front between Rafalovki, fifty miles south of Pinsk, and the railroad running from Rovno to Kovel were repulsed and 383 Russians were made prisoners.

Vienna War Report.

VIENNA, Oct. 10.—The following official communication was issued today:

The Russians continued their fruitless attacks yesterday. In their attacks on the Stripa river front in East Galicia some Russian units lost half their effectives and, being repulsed, abandoned the battlefield.

In Volhynia, after repulsing a Russian attack, we counted 500 Russian dead before our entanglements. We have taken a thousand prisoners, since yesterday. The enemy again attempted to reach the west bank of the Styr, north of Ciartorisk, but was prevented by our fire.

Russian War Report.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 10.—The war office today made public the following official communication:

South of the Pripet river enemy detachments have occupied the village of Berejnaia Volia, near Pojog. The enemy near Novo Selki and on the Styr near Ciartorisk succeeded in crossing to the right bank of the Styr.

STOP GERMANS NEAR LA BASSEE

Allied Reports Say Enemy Was Repulsed with Big Loss.

BATTLE IN CHAMPAGNE.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Germans, after two days' heavy fighting, in which, according to the British and French accounts, they suffered severe reverses, have abandoned for the moment the attempt to recapture territory won from them by the British south of La Bassee.

Berlin claims the German troops have retaken from the French some trenches east of Souches and at Tahure in Champagne. The latter claim is denied by Paris, which asserts the French still are making progress northeast of Tahure.

Report Issued in Paris.

The report issued in Paris tonight said:

There have been artillery actions by both sides in Belgium in the environs of Lombaertzyde and on the whole Artois front.

In Champagne we are still making progress to the northeast of Tahure; a brilliant assault made us masters of a new German trench to the southeast of the village.

An intense bombardment on all sides has occurred in the Argonne, in the sector of Courtes Chaussees and La Fille Morte, and between the Meuse and the Moselle, to the north of Flirey.

Report Issued in Berlin.

The report issued in Berlin was as follows:

On the heights to the east of Souches the Germans took several trenches and a machine gun.

The Germans, by a counter attack, reconquered near Tahure in the Champagne the territory on a front of four kilometers (about two and one-half miles) and 100 meters deep.

The Berlin report, as received by way of London, says the ground regained by the Germans near Tahure amounted to "several hundred meters" over a front of about four kilometers instead of 100 meters, as given in the version received by wireless to Sayville.

FRENCH AVIATOR VICTOR IN BATTLE WITH GERMANS.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—An official statement from Paris today said:

"A German aeroplane, struck down by one of our machines, fell within our lines in the forest of Puvenelle, to the south of Pont-a-Mousson. The two aviators aboard were killed.

"One of our air squadrons this afternoon dropped about 100 large shells on the stations at the rear of Champagne front, and on enemy troops who were concentrating."

PROPAGANDA NOT PREPAREDNESS.

The idea of forming a permanent organization of the men who have taken the rudimentary training of the soldier at Plattsburg, Fort Sheridan, and other camps has much to commend it. Certainly such an association, if it directs itself to active propaganda, will assist notably in a much needed public service. Mr. George F. Porter, one of the proponents of the plan, gave the key to this service when he said at Fort Sheridan: "The men who go from this camp will be missionaries of preparedness."

If the camps turn out men who have learned how much there is to learn to be a modern soldier and who will go back to civil life determined to use every ounce of their effort to break down the widely prevailing fallacy that we can afford to rely upon impromptu measures of defense they will do a great good.

But, as THE TRIBUNE already has pointed out and wishes to emphasize, there is danger that the work of the camps will be overestimated and overpraised, with the result that the impromptu fallacy will be strengthened instead of broken down. Already newspapers of the Bryan-Jordan school are using Plattsburg to show how quickly soldiers can be made!

Even among some of the attendants at the camps there has been a notion that their graduates could be utilized in case of war to train troops.

It takes four years of hard study and hard work to make an American second lieutenant. It has taken Kitchener months to get green men fit to go into the field, and the lack of officers to train as well as of officers to lead them may prove to have been fatal to the allied cause. A month at our training camps will not make an officer. It will not even make a private.

Preparedness for modern warfare means a vast organization of effort. It means also the most rigid training of men. A soldier is not a soldier until he has the disciplined will of the soldier, and a man may know how to shoot, march, intrench, and keep himself and his arms clean without being dependable in battle. He may be instructed, but he must be disciplined also, and only time and hard work can give the steady will of the soldier.

In America our misread history and the conditions of colonial and border warfare have encouraged us to think that individual physical bravery is all sufficient. Military men know from experience this is not so. As individuals the Germans are no braver than the British or the Americans. But their troops are better because the courage, which is human, not German, has been braced by a disciplined will.

At this time the papers everywhere report evidence of an awakened sense of our need for preparation. Colleges and schools are adopting military exercise. Civilians are organizing for special services, like aviation. Patriotic and citizens' societies are urging preparedness. The training camps are talked of everywhere. The national guard and naval militia are working with a new vigor. This is a welcome change from the dangerous indifference from which the European war has startled us. But all these activities are of real value only as propaganda. They will be as a blade turned against the wearer if we think a little drill here and there, a few groups of enthusiasts learning aviation or mine laying, a few men more in the guard, and a great deal of talk are going to help much in case of war. We need sorely the awakened public opinion they represent and will stimulate. We need the pressure they may exert upon congress. But we must not make the fatal mistake of supposing they constitute preparedness or an important measure of preparedness.

Our tiny force of trained soldiers is scattered in handfuls from the Philippines to Vermont. It is a constabulary, not an army, in size, organization, or the larger training.

That must end before we are prepared.

We have no reserve of officers or of trained men. A campaign against any power of our own rank would wipe out what we have in the first line and we could not supply the wastage for many months.

That must be changed before we are prepared, but it cannot be corrected by a few weeks' training of a few hundred civilians at vacation camps.

We count our national guard in our first line. It is not fit to take a place there.

We must establish a strict training for citizens, either by the improvement of the organized militia system, or, far better, by the adoption of universal military service of a moderate type, like that of Switzerland or Australia.

We need a larger navy and a better balanced one and a general naval staff whose recommendations will carry weight.

We need a council of national defense to coördinate expenditure and develop and support a comprehensive and consistent system of defense and we need a peace organization of supply resources on the lines of the Gillen plan, ready to operate as soon as war is imminent.

Our able and patriotic secretary of war has formulated plans for immediate action by congress. As outlined in Mr. Henning's dispatch of Friday they are subject to some objection and are not as radical as our action ought to be. But political and other conditions which Mr. Garrison is forced to take into consideration should not be overlooked by those who realize how much there is to do and who might be disposed to criticise the plans too strictly. It is most encouraging that Mr. Garrison has felt that he could go so far as he seems to have gone in his recommendation, and he deserves the gratitude of all friends of preparedness for his courage and progressiveness. With his recommendations as groundwork for building, we ought to be able at this session to make a substantial beginning upon adequate defense.

Meanwhile we need and shall continue to need missionaries of real preparedness who will oppose delusive half measures—short cuts that will lead us only to defeat—and who will work persistently for thorough and comprehensive measures of defense.

WHAT WIRT HAS DONE FOR NEW YORK HE CAN DO FOR US.

When the district superintendents reported the last count of half day sessions in the public schools, there were eighty-eight classes of children going to school only half a day. That means that more than 3,000 children from the first to the third grades are getting only half of the training to which they are entitled.

There are 265 portable schools, housing in a temporary and unsatisfactory manner more than 10,000 children. At the last meeting of the board, Supt. Ella Flagg Young asked for six more portables, to be placed on the playground of one school. The superintendent begged that some means of heating the floors of portables in winter might be devised.

Many Chicagoans are of the opinion that the rotary system established by William Wirt at Gary should be put into operation in Chicago. It might well be tried out first in the overcrowded schools.

What can be done with the plan is indicated in a recent report of William A. Prendergast, controller of the city of New York, where Mr. Wirt is reorganizing twelve schools along the new plan. Mr. Prendergast believes it would be entirely practicable to extend the reorganization throughout the system during the present year.

There are 496 classes in the eight schools for which Mr. Wirt has completed his plans of reorganization. He proposes to teach those classes with 448 teachers, approximately 10 per cent less than the number of classes instructed. This includes all teachers for special classes such as manual training, cooking, sewing, singing, and drawing. He will house seventy-two classes in a building having forty-three classrooms, an auditorium, library, and playrooms. There are sixty-four teachers for the seventy-two classes. In the traditional elementary school of seventy-two classes there are usually eighty teachers.

Chicago spends more than $1,000,000 a month for the salaries of teachers. The saving of approximately 10 per cent on salaries would mean, with the present staff of teachers, more than $1,000,000 a year, with increased saving as the system grows.

For buildings and grounds the board will receive next year $6,500,000. It is difficult to estimate the saving the Gary plan would create in the cost of buildings. But when seventy-two classes can be accommodated in a building of forty-three classrooms, it is apparent that the annual saving would be in millions.

In her last annual report Mrs. Young speaks of the inability of the city to keep pace with the growth of school population. Last year over 20,000 children were added, and a like number the year before. The Gary plan has been tried out to some extent in several of the high schools this year with the result that their capacities have been materially increased.

There is more of value in the Wirt system than the economies which it makes possible. It affords to the pupil that relief from the monotony of the schoolroom that keeps truant officers so industrious. The child has one place for work, another for study, and still another for play. The same measure of relief is afforded the teacher.

There is still time for ample experimentation in the plan this year. If it is successful it could be extended throughout the system next year. As New York has come almost to Chicago for a man to show it how, and has paid him well for a few weeks of his time, perhaps we could get as much from the same man whose work has been done almost in the shadow of Chicago. The salary paid him ought to bring back to Chicago a thousand times its value in money, and at the same time create an assurance to all parents that their children will get the full training due them and the most good possible from the public schools.

Editorial of the Day

GOOD FOR EVERYBODY.

[From the Farmers' Review.]

Agriculture has been greatly benefited by the banker-farmer movement, not alone in Illinois, where it originated, but throughout the entire country. In developing into a movement of national scope and importance it has and is directing a great amount of serious consideration toward the farm which otherwise would not now exist. The welfare and prosperity of the farmer is of vital interest to the banker, and vice versa. The basis upon which this great movement is built is one of absolute interdependence, which to be thoroughly appreciated must be generally and justly recognized as fundamentally essential to the best interests of all the people. There is no reason for petty differences and selfish jealousies which have in the past served to discourage and prevent unanimity of effort in making better homes and communities. The official mouthpiece of the banker-farmers of America is the Banker-Farmer, published by the agricultural commission of the American Bankers' association, which is ably directed by Editor B. F. Harris. This unique and valuable publication announces the following platform, which is broad enough and sound enough for everybody to stand upon without compunction or crowding:

"Education—Better rural schools. Better schools everywhere for the most children in school the shortest time. Vocation courses—facing the farm in the country—trades and industries in cities—cultural as well as practical.

"Farm Demonstration—A competent agent in every county in the nation.

"Good Roads—For better civilization—markets and prices—commerce—land values—school attendance—pleasure of living.

"Country Towns—To revive their commercial life and population—to foster community and social spirit.

"Farm Financing—Credit, for the farmer with character, energy, and knowledge of agriculture, to enable him to buy a farm on long time.

"Marketing and Distribution—Coöperation between producer and consumer—elimination of disproportionate rewards to middlemen.

"Soil Surveys—Honest classification by every state of its lands as to productive character.

"The Truth in Fertilizers—Better information on soil needs—the cheapest and most effective methods of applying it."

Affecting Incident of a September Day.

Sir: Walking down a country road from the village of Winter, Wis., to the fishing grounds nearby on a late September day, I saw a small striped snake crossing the trail with its jaws closed over the slim body of a young frog, which was protesting loudly and kicking vigorously in its efforts to escape. With the butt of my fishing pole I hit the serpent across the small of its back, causing it to drop the frog and make its own escape into the tall grass. Never shall I forget the look of gratitude on the face of that adolescent frog as I lifted it from the dusty road and tenderly deposited it in my bait box.

Gentleman Yours of the 2nd inst rec'. I was at the mill saturday & they were just starting & would have got out your order probably today. We have had all kinds of hard luck. My partner in the business, seventy five years old, married a widow 35 year old 5 feet 6 inches high, a thirty eight corset & weighing one hundred & sixty pounds. He told me once or twice he would have to go away & one day I got a letter saying he was off & to do the best I could with the business. I sold his interest & we started in. We ordered belts & before they got out of the depot some one stole them. It took a week to find them & then the R. R. lost them in transit. We got them on & broke a clutch & it took a week to get another. We got that on & the electric light plant where we get our power broke their engine & it took a week to get that straightened. We are running now & expect to go all right if nothing else happens. Yours very truly, etc.

TOOTH RHEUMATISM.

R. HARTZELL tells of a woman who had always been strong, healthy, and able to do her own work. She was exposed to a cold rain and as a result developed rheumatism in the muscles of the neck. This hung on in spite of all kinds of rheumatism medicines internally and liniments externally. After a while the pain spread to her shoulders. In course of time it involved her knees, ankles, and instep.

Dr. Hartzell thinks this route of spreading always suggests that the disease is due to absorption from the teeth and that the way to treat these cases is to treat the teeth. He says that rheumatism due to infection in and around the teeth is a slowly progressive mild disease. There are no chills and fever and no sweats. In most cases the first sign is a lameness in the neck. After the disease has lasted for some time in the neck it may spread to the jaw just in front of the ears. The next joint to be involved in the slow progress of the disease is the shoulder.

In some cases the disease starts by soreness of a single joint in a single finger. The rheumatism will be present in this one joint for some time before any other joint will be involved. When the disease reaches the legs the knee is the first joint affected. Later it will involve the toe joints, especially the joint where the big toe joins the foot.

The disease lasts a long time, sometimes better and sometimes worse. The patient will go to a drug store and get a bottle of rheumatism medicine. While taking it he will get a great deal better, whereupon he will write a testimonial for the medicine. By the time his testimonial is distributed over the country his disease is worse again.

This getting better and worse regardless of what medicine is taken is a habit with all varieties of chronic rheumatism, but it is especially marked in rheumatism due to bad teeth and bad gums.

After a joint has been affected by this variety of rheumatism for a year or more it begins to show deformity. The ends of the bone are larger than they ought to be and the joint cannot be straightened. In these cases it does no good to take rheumatism medicine, either the patent medicine kind or the doctor kind. The trouble is in the teeth and gums and the treatment must be given these structures. If the teeth are cleaned up in the earlier stages of the disease the pain will disappear. If the teeth are neglected until the bones are enlarged and the joint is deformed complete cure is not possible. Cleaning the teeth, however, will help even the worst cases of tooth rheumatism.

By cleaning the teeth is meant cleaning so much of the tooth as needs cleaning. The body of the tooth may seem all right when an X-ray shows a blind abscess near the end of the root.

PHYSICAL TRAINING IN SCHOOLS.

H. S. writes: "Mrs. Young is a strong believer in physical education, and believes also that the exercises should be practiced in light rooms supplied with fresh air. In working out the new course of study our superintendent declared that physical education ought to be one of the obligatory studies and that if the work cannot be done in a gymnasium or corridor the children should perform the exercises in their respective classrooms, and for that purpose a set of breathing exercises was worked out by me. These consist of exercises partly in sitting and partly in standing position and are practiced by children under the supervision of grade teachers at certain times or after certain subjects of our school curriculum have been taught and the teacher sees that the children are beginning to get restless and tired. All that we need to develop the physical education in our schools is more time and more teachers. Our children ought to have at least two hours weekly of physical exercises under the charge of special teachers. At present one teacher has to take charge of an average of about 4,200 children. Each school with 1,000 children ought to have one such teacher who could spend all his time for the physical development of the children in that respective school."

DIABETES.

Mrs. H. W. G. of Cleveland writes: "Will you kindly state the cause of diabetes, its effect, and can it be entirely cured, and how?"

REPLY.

Diabetes is a symptom. It may result from overeating, especially starches and sweets, or from disease of the pancreas, the liver, or the brain. Some cases can be cured by diet and careful living. Many cases can live on indefinitely by living carefully. Such cases live free from symptoms, but they are not cured. Diabetes in a middle aged person is not as serious as in a young person. Living with diabetes is then a matter of personal hygiene. My advice is that you have your physician tell you what kind of diabetes you have. Then, that you go to the library and post yourself thoroughly on diabetes. Get a cook book on diabetic cookery. Having learned what to do and what not to do, put your knowledge in practice. While you must have medical counsel in diabetes, in the last analysis the matter of right living is up to you.

THE CARE OF TONSILS.

H. H. B. writes: "If tonsils are the cause of bad breath, [1] should they be removed or treated? [2] Is there a cure for ozena? [3] Should people with rheumatism diet? If so, please publish the things not to be eaten."

REPLY.

1. In some cases the tonsils can be cleaned: in others they must be removed.
2. Recently we had an article on the treatment of ozena by vaccines. Another treatment consists in the injection of paraffin into the tissues of the lining of the nose.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1915: By the Brentwood Co.]

LORD STUART, whose name figures among the list of British officers killed last week in the operations against the German lines in France, was the eldest son and heir of the Earl of Castlestewart. The latter, although all his peerages are Irish, is the head of the illustrious and historic Scotch house of Stuart, which has furnished so many rulers to the Scotch and English thrones.

Of course there are plenty of persons who have a strain of royal Stuart blood in their veins. Indeed, Thomas Carlyle calls attention to the fact that even Oliver Cromwell, who brought about the death of the Stuart king Charles I. on the scaffold at Whitehall, was descended, through his mother, from the Stuart rulers of Scotland. Many of the pretensions put forward to descent in the male line from the Stuarts are ridiculous and impudent, and quite a number of them have been exposed by that genealogical iconoclast in London, J. Horace Round, appointed last year by the crown to be adviser and counselor to the committee of privileges of the house of lords, which passes on the claims to peerage, either dormant or in abeyance.

But there is no doubt whatsoever about the claims and pretensions of the present Earl of Castlestewart, who is descended in the male line direct from Robert Stuart, first Duke of Albany, younger son of Robert II. of Scotland and brother of King Robert III. The second duke of Albany was put to death by his nephew, King James I., after the latter's liberation from English captivity, and his dukedom was forfeited. But his heirs in the male line direct received, first, the title of Lord Avondale, then that of Lord Stuart of Ochiltree, and finally those of Baron Castlestuart, Viscount Castlestuart, and Earl of Castlestewart, in the peerage, not of Scotland, but of Ireland. That is to say, the acknowledged head of the great Scotch house of Stuart has not a rood of land in Scotland, and no place among those peers of Scotland who after each general election to parliament meet in the royal palace of Holyrood at Edinburgh to elect the sixteen representatives of their order in the house of lords at Westminster. All his estates are situated in Ireland. He has no seat in the house of lords, and the only voice he has is that in the election of the representative peers of Ireland in the upper chamber of the imperial legislature.

Ultra-legitimists hold that Lord Castlestewart has a better claim to the throne of Scotland than King George. For the male line of the descendants of Robert III., that is to say, of the eldest son of Robert II., came to an end on the death of James V., father of Mary Queen of Scots, and it is held that on the death of James V. the descendants in the male line direct of Robert III.'s next brother, the first duke of Albany, should have come to the throne of Scotland.

King George is only a Stuart through the female line, that is to say, through Mary Queen of Scots and through Princess Elizabeth, sister of Charles I. and consort of the king of Bohemia, whereas Lord Castlestewart can show a direct male line descent from Robert II. Of course King George holds the throne of Great Britain and of Ireland not by virtue of descent so much as by that act of parliament, now over two centuries old, which is known as the act of settlement.

Fortunately Lord Castlestewart has three other sons besides the one who has just been killed in France, and it is the eldest of them, the Hon. Robert Stuart, who now becomes Viscount Stuart as next heir to the old earl. He is a captain of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, is married, and, like his two younger brothers, is serving at the front in France.

It is the Right Hon. Harold J. Tennant, younger brother of Lord Glenconner and of Mrs. Asquith, the premier's wife, as well as undersecretary of state for war who turns out to be the mysterious purchaser of that grand old border stronghold known as Hutton castle, in Berwickshire. Harold Tennant is a clever man, who may be said to have started on his official career as private secretary to his brother-in-law, the present premier, when the latter was at the head of the home department, near a quarter of a century ago, and has represented Berwickshire in the house of commons ever since 1894.

His wife has also a great reputation for cleverness. She was formerly Miss May Abraham, and at the time of her marriage a government inspector of factories. She is a great authority on women's work, was appointed to the inspectorship in question by the government with a special view to her supervision of women and girls in factories, and remains an active promoter of women's position in the labor world.

Harold Tennant, like Mrs. Asquith, and their elder brother, Lord Glenconner, are all children and heirs of that wonderful old patriarch, Sir Charles Tennant, the greatest manufacturer of chemicals in the United Kingdom, and who was nominated for a baronetcy by Gladstone, who was his most intimate friend, for his services to the Liberal cause.

He was the grandson of a working weaver of an inventive turn of mind, who discovered a valuable bleaching process and established chemical manufacturing works at St. Rollox, Glasgow, which in the hands of his son and grandson developed into one of the most profitable industrial enterprises of the United Kingdom. The late Sir Charles married for a second time when he was near 80, and became the father of another family of four little girls, between whose ages and those of his elder children nearly half a century existed.

Hutton castle dates back to the year 1200, and in the Plantagenet era, when England and Scotland were frequently at war, King Edward I. had his army encamped at Hutton, making his headquarters at the castle, preparatory to taking possession of the town of Berwick.

Its first owners were the Douglases, and from them it passed to the Kers of Samuelston, through a charter dated at Edinburgh, Jan. 11, 1451, and which is still in existence.

It was besieged by the Earl of Surrey in 1496 and then passed into the possession of the Johnstons of Annandale, who made it their home until 1893, when Col. Robert Johnston sold Hutton castle and the entire estate to a family of the name of Grieve, from whom it was acquired by purchase by the first Lord Tweedmouth, son of Sir John Marjoribanks, provost of Edinburgh, in 1813, and descended from Thomas Marjoribanks, who lived in the reign of Mary Queen of Scots.

The late and second Lord Tweedmouth spent a large sum of money in converting the castle into the most comfortable abode, fitted up with every conceivable modern luxury, but without in the slightest degree interfering with the archeological interest and beauty of the place.

LEGALLY ENTITLED TO FULL PAY.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I am employed in a clerical position by a firm in this city, and was engaged by them at a salary of $12 a week. They have for the last couple of months told a number of us not to come down on Fridays and Saturdays, and have deducted these days from our weekly salary. I would like your opinion on this matter, as I think I am entitled to a full week's pay, as I have never agreed to accept $8 as a salary.

Legally you are entitled to full pay, $12 a week. But it would be unwise for you to object to your employer, since he probably would tell you to stay away altogether if you are dissatisfied with his arrangement.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CONSENT OF OWNER NECESSARY.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Kindly advise me whether any one has a right to plow a ditch on private property, and without the property owner's consent use the ground to fill up his own lawn, instead of grading the street, as has been done in Mont Clare on Nordica avenue, between Humboldt and Dickens avenue, on the west side of the street. It appears some people wanted the ground more than we needed the ditch. This should be put in some condition as it was.

PROPERTY OWNER.

No one has the right to trespass in any way upon the property of another, and any one plowing a ditch on the property of another without the consent of the owner is liable for whatever damages his act causes, except, of course, where the ditch is done for purposes of drainage by some legally authorized body, and in such a situation the land must be condemned.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MUST SUPPORT MOTHER.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Please inform me if any one can be forced by court to support her mother. I being a single daughter, tried to live with her, but could not stand it, for she drinks. My married brother kept her a few times, but she made so much trouble there that the court ordered her away from their home.

O. M.

You are obliged to contribute toward her support. The court, however, will take all circumstances into consideration.

CAN DISPOSE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I married a widower with two children twelve years ago. Can he deed the home to his children, leaving nothing to me? The furniture of the home belongs to me. Can I dispose of it without his consent?

N. W.

Your consent is necessary before your husband can deed away the property, for you have a dower right in all his real estate which entitles you to a life estate in a third of it at his death. You are free to dispose of your own personal property, such as furniture, as you see fit.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

GERMANY NOT OUR ENEMY.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 8.—Editor of the Tribune.]—In the "Notebook of a Neutral" Mr. Patterson claims America will be safer and more favorably situated as to trade beyond seas if England wins, and the opposite if Germany wins.

Allow me to say that this is a conclusion not based on exact knowledge. Germany's interests lie in the orient and Africa. By the somewhat stupid declaration of war by Austria against Serbia, Russia saw her opportunity to act as the champion of Serbia. Russia aims at Constantinople as its best point to gain access to the southern seas, though, in fact, the Suez canal, held by Britain, and the Strait of Gibraltar likewise, would hem in Russia as much in the south as the Strait of Dover and the Kattegat do in the north.

Germany could not afford to see Austria broken up, for Austria is her only ally. The events connected with that crooked business between Edward VII. and France in giving Morocco to France, which neither England nor France had a claim to, in exchange for Egypt, which also was owned neither by the one nor the other, furnished a striking proof that thenceforth Germany was to be shut out of Africa for good. In the south end (Turkey and Persia) Germany was to be shut out likewise, hence the jealous anger of England on seeing the success Germany had in building the Bagdad railroad. The treaty about Persia, between Russia and England, was to shut out German trade from all territory eastward. Not to be stifled in all her most legitimate endeavors Germany had to oppose Russia. Hence the war.

Now you suppose that Germany, if she succeeds in beating Russia and in thwarting also the attempts of France, Great Britain and the United States (for it is clear to you and me that we are as much the enemies of the Germans as the British and French are, and that our hostile actions are only more cowardly than they are hostile because we let the murdering be done by others while furnishing them most liberally with the material for murder), would have control of the seas and would necessarily abuse her power, turning against the United States!

What a "non sequitur!" Fighting the power that rules the seas is a necessity because that power was ready to stab Germany in the back while that country was facing the Russians. Why did the British make war? To keep the seas? There was not the slightest indication that a land war with Russia would come anywhere near any British possession. Can there be a doubt that it was purely greed and envy that made Britain act?

How could Germany aspire to universal sea power with such neighbors as Russia and France constantly threatening her frontiers? Think it over soberly. Do you really believe that the German parliament would vote one dollar for such a hopeless undertaking? And this perfectly crazy idea—unjust and ignoble—that Germany would be a danger to us! Not even a coaling station has Germany ever tried to get in the whole length and breadth of America. Would it help her trade if she made enemies of all the American states, North, Central, and South? Think it over!

Does it not sometimes appear to you that Germany deserves our sympathy? And, at all events, should we not feel the blush of shame in talking as though Germany were harboring the idea of being as contemptible, envious, vile, and perfidious toward us as her enemies have been to her for centuries?

FOR A WORLD CONFERENCE.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I did not come to the United States in order to support a "peace at any price" or a "stop the war" movement; a peace made under present circumstances would be, unfortunately, a short truce before more horrid and terrible wars. But I am deeply convinced that the lasting and, if possible, perpetual peace for which people are longing all over the earth ought to be prepared on the basis advocated since numerous years by all those who know the goal of the world's evolution.

To secure this preparedness for peace men and women in all countries and mainly in neutral countries should pray and work. There is no doubt that after preliminaries of peace have been agreed upon by the warring governments a conference of the states of the world should convene, as the Berlin conference in 1878 followed the San Stefano treaty. To assert the vital importance of this unavoidable gathering of the representatives of all the states and upon the task that will have to carry out, to explain the ways and means by which the aim in view can be reached, is a mission which men and women of good will and mind have considered as the highest and most sacred duty to fulfill.

Therefore I went to the United States of America with the persuasion that the will for a lasting peace is there the strongest, and that in consequence something definite and constructive could be done. "Where there is a will there is a way"! May I express the hope that such an endeavor will be supported by the American press and taken everywhere, and even in governmental circles into most careful consideration?

CLABAUGH USES U-BOAT DISGUISE TO FATHOM FACT

Federal Sleuth Stages a McGinty Comedy in One Prone Act.

If there is any one thing in this world that is cordially loathed, hated, and excoriated by Hinton G. Clabaugh that thing is procrastination. He simply will not have it.

And it was this virtue that gave zest to his task when he investigated the bottom of the Chicago river yesterday in exactly three minutes.

Warped and tanned old river hogs declared Mr. Clabaugh's celerity has not been equaled in the history of submarine inquiries.

Mr. Clabaugh is division superintendent of the United States department of justice. Now recently there came to Mr. Clabaugh a report that there was some dispute over the length of the wooden pilings at the bottom of the Chicago river—that the owners of the Eastland said the steamboat had, in fact, rested on these pilings, and this was the cause of the craft's overturning.

There had been divers footing around down there bringing up one kind of information and another, and Mr. Clabaugh was annoyed. He notified the newspapers he was going to see about it for himself.

Takes a Submarine Flier.

Mr. Clabaugh's barbaric courage as he approached the task wherein his life was to hang by the merest thread, was splendid. There was a slight nip in the breeze yesterday when Mr. Clabaugh approached the Clark street docks and the waters of the old Chicago river looked a little clammy.

Two hundred pounds of pot metal distributed from crown to feet will make any man look formidable. Look, then upon this peerless calm as the man is encased in a hardcoal burner model 16 to be lowered from the sight of humanity below the icy, paralyzing waters of the Chicago river.

A number one diver climbed down the ladder first, holding protecting and guiding arms about Mr. Clabaugh's body as he lowered himself to the river's surface. Then somebody said "Let her go."

Well, sir, there were strong men on the stern of that boat. Men who were used to crime, strikes, cabarets, Sunday closing and newspaper reporting. And yet these men of the wide world could not forego a wince.

Mr. Clabaugh went right straight down.

A la Veteran Plunger.

Then with the precision and the unerring judgment of a deep sea diver he sprawled flat on his back in the bed of the river.

This was at 3:07 o'clock.

At 3:09 o'clock there were four distinct, hurried, and imperative jerks on the emergency rope. And immediately all the huskies on the tug above hove with a right good will and Mr. Clabaugh, his investigation complete, thoroughly satisfied, eminently content, rose out of the water and looked again at the city he loves so well.

Off came the helmet. "The helmet, the helmet," sings the burlesquer, and Mr. Clabaugh had every opportunity to agree with him.

"You look a little white," said one of the river experts commendingly. "If you keep at this kind of work you ought to be a swell diver in about fifty years."

"I felt the tops of two pilings," said Mr. Clabaugh. That was interesting. "If further investigation is necessary we can sink a caisson and pump out the water."

AUTO RACE PILOT KILLED; COMPANION ALSO DIES.

Columbus, O., Oct. 10.—Douglas Gray of Lima, O., was instantly killed, and Clarence Robinson of this city, a negro chauffeur, died later when an automobile which Gray was tuning up for the Ohio amateur championship 100 mile race skidded and overturned at the driving park track today. Robinson had asked to be taken around the track in Gray's machine.

JOHN F. DADIE, PRESIDENT OF MOXLEY CO., DIES

Head of Butterine Concern Is Stricken at His West Side Residence.

John F. Dadie, president of the William J. Moxley, Inc., butterine manufacturers, died yesterday morning at his residence, 1419 West Congress street. Typhoid fever was the cause of his death.

Mr. Dadie was 55 years old. He had been ill of typhoid fever since the latter part of September, and his condition became so serious that it became necessary to establish a zone of quiet in the streets about the Dadie residence.

Moxley's Son-in-Law.

Mr. Dadie was a son-in-law of William J. Moxley, former congressman and head of the butterine company of which Dadie was general manager. In 1904 Mr. Dadie was made general superintendent of the west division park system.

He was born in Warrensville, Ill., Dupage county, May 25, 1860. He was a graduate of Naperville college. He held memberships in the South Shore Country club, the Chicago Athletic association, and the Knights of Columbus and a number of other lodges and clubs.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Moxley Dadie, and a daughter, Miss Gertrude Alice Dadie.

Indicted in 1910.

Mr. Dadie's death brings to notice his indictment in 1910 on charges of conspiracy by a federal grand jury in connection with oleomargarine "moonshining." The indictments followed a number of prosecutions of small dealers in oleomargarine. It was charged that Mr. Dadie, as manager of the Moxley company, had knowledge of the means by which the small dealers obtained coloring matter for oleo as well as revenue stamps.

"The matter of course will simply be dropped," said Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney, yesterday. "There were indictments against Mr. Dadie, but of course these prosecutions become void."

CRIME DROP PREDICTED IN TELEGRAM TO MAYOR.

Citizens' Committee Attorney Wires Thompson Poverty and Arrests Will Be Reduced 60 Per Cent.

Crime and poverty in Chicago will be reduced 60 per cent as a result of the enforcement of the Sunday closing law, Arthur B. McCoid, attorney for the Chicago citizens' committee, predicts in a telegram he sent yesterday to Mayor Thompson in San Francisco.

"Today marks an epoch in the history of the city of Chicago," the telegram reads, "being the first day that the saloons have been closed on Sunday, due to your courageous action taken in the matter.

"You will find that all Chicago will commend you for this important action. It is the greatest good that has been done by any public official for the benefit of Chicago."

CLARK A LEADER IN ACTION FOR MORE DEFENSES

O'Gorman and Many Illinois Men Also Pledged to Help American Army and Navy.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The names of Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri and United States Senator James A. O'Gorman of New York head the list for senators and representatives whose names were made public today by the National Security league as being in favor of adequate national defense.

Champ Clark has written to the league that he stands on his speech recently delivered in San Francisco, in which he stated that the American people want peace with honor, that he had no sympathy with the "peace at any price" policy, and that he is in favor of an increase in the army and the navy, and a thoroughly trained and equipped militia.

The league gave out a statement today which included letters from nearly 100 representatives in congress, and the names made public today add nearly fifty to that list.

Britten Urges More Defense.

One of the most important letters from Illinois comes from Representative Fred A. Brittten, who says that he has just returned from a seven months' trip to the far east and is more than ever convinced that an effective council for national defense and for national preparedness for any emergency must not be delayed.

Expressions from other Illinois congressmen follows:

William B. McKinley—You can count on me for the full measure of defense to which the American people are entitled.

Charles E. Fuller—I am for adequate preparedness.

A. J. Sabath—You can count on me to do whatever in my judgment is for the best interests of my country. I hope that the recommendations of the board will be such that I can vote for them

John A. Sterling—I am thoroughly in favor of adequate preparedness for national defense.

BORAH FOR PROPER DEFENSE.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—"Preparedness—reasonable and essential"—was advocated by United States Senator Borah of Idaho before an audience in the Braves' Field baseball park today.

"No nation can hold the respect of even its own people," he said, "if the government fails to protect the lives and property of its citizens.

"In the present European war, how could it have been expected that American lives and property would be protected, when the nation of 90,000,000 could not extend our protection even across the border into Mexico to stop the murder of our citizens?"

The most striking and universal interest of women is—CLOTHES.

This is a feminine common-factor. Many women do not care about cooking, some are indifferent to music and a few are averse to children; but practically all women love clothes.

The Designer recognizes this feminine attribute and accordingly its most important department is devoted to women's and children's apparel. The other departments of The Designer are exceptional, especially the fiction, but we lay special stress on the fashion department, because women themselves have placed the accent there.

Illinois to Publish History as Memorial of Centennial

IN 1918 Illinois is to celebrate the centennial of its admission to the Union, and as one feature of the celebration there is planned a unique project. Never before has any state financed the writing of its own history in an authoritative and scientific, yet readable, fashion.

The Centennial History of Illinois, a cooperative work in five volumes, to be published early in 1918, by funds appropriated by the state, will be, in the judgment of its projectors, "a distinctly new contribution in the field of state education, and will make it possible for the people of the state of Illinois as a whole to know their own history better than do the people of any other state in the Union."

The commission has selected for editor in chief of this history Prof. Clarence Walworth Alvord, who is widely known already in the field of Mississippi valley history. He has been editor of the Illinois Historical Collections since 1905. It is due in large part to him that the state has been awakened to the fact that it is its duty to preserve its own history for future generations instead of relying on the chance interest of individuals or the uncertainty of private funds for collecting and preserving historical materials.

It is planned to divide the history of Illinois in such a way that it may be written in five volumes, thus:

Vol. I. "Province and Territory, 1673-1818."

Vol. II. "The Frontier State, 1818-1848."

Vol. III. "The Era of Transition, 1848-1870."

Vol. IV. "The Industrial State, 1870-1893."

Vol. V. "The Modern Commonwealth, 1893-1918."

Prof. Alvord himself will write the first volume, which covers a long and extremely interesting period, and which will make necessary a vast amount of research.

Volume II., "The Frontier State," is to be written by Theodore C. Pease of the University of Illinois. Dr. Pease received the degree Ph. D. from the University of Chicago in 1914. Since that time he has acted as inspector of county archives for the Illinois State Historical library, and has just published a volume embodying, as the results of his survey, a bibliography of historic materials to be found in county archives throughout the state. In 1909 he wrote, with Prof. Alvord, a report on the state archives of Illinois.

For volume III., "The Era of Transition," the commission has engaged Arthur C. Cole, Ph. D. [University of Pennsylvania, 1911]. Dr. Cole in 1912 was appointed instructor at the University of Illinois. His monograph, entitled "Whig Party in the South," was awarded the Justin Winsor prize by the American Historical association.

Volume IV., "The Industrial State, 1870-'93," covers a period so complicated that it has seemed best to make it combine the work of several men. With the editor in chief, then, the volume is to be written by Ernest L. Bogart, professor of economics in the University of Illinois, and Dr. Pease. Prof. Bogart is the author of the "Economic History of the United States," first published in 1907 and revised in 1912.

Prof. Bogart also will write the fifth and last volume, "The Modern Commonwealth." Associated with him as co-author is Dr. John Mabry Mathews, assistant professor of political science in the University of Illinois.

The five volumes, as noted above, will constitute the Centennial History proper. Most of the authors have their work already well under way, and it is expected that the whole series will be published in the centennial year, 1918.

By way of arousing the public to an understanding of the significance of the celebration of the centenary and to an interest in the history of the state, it has been considered expedient to publish a special volume dealing with conditions in Illinois in 1818, on its admission to statehood.

This volume is to be a forerunner rather than a part of the Centennial History; it will be published within the next year. Its author is Dr. Solon J. Buck, formerly of the University of Illinois, now assistant professor of history in the University of Minnesota and superintendent of the Minnesota Historical society.

LANDIS CHIEF SPEAKER AT PRINTERS' FUNCTION.

Federal Judge Expected to Address Franklin Celebration Planned for Jan. 15.

Judge K. M. Landis, it is expected, will be the principal speaker at the annual Franklin celebration of the Old Time Printers' association Jan. 15, if the plans of the printers carry.

At the quarterly meeting yesterday in the Hotel La Salle committees were named by President Daniel Doyle to arrange for the celebration.

GREATEST SLIDE AT PANAMA CAUSES TIEUP OF MONTHS.

Whole Mountain Side Slipping Down Faster than Dredges Can Take the Debris Out.

Panama, Oct. 10.—A careful survey of the slide area in the Gaillard cut reveals the fact that there are probably 10,000,000 cubic yards of earth in motion, which must be taken out by dredging operations before a permanent channel through the cut is possible.

This is the conclusion reached by the canal engineers, who concede that there is now little hope of opening the waterway, even for the temporary use of shipping, much before the first of the year.

Maj. Gen. George W. Goethals, governor of the Canal Zone, has not made an official announcement concerning the probability of opening a temporary channel, but it is believed shipping interests have been given to understand the nature of the situation and it is probable that most of the 100 ships now here awaiting passage through the canal will be ordered to their destinations by other routes.

MANEUVER GAME FOR ROOKIES IN CITY ABANDONED

Unfinished Work Compels a Change in Week's Program at Fort Sheridan.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Because of the immense amount of unfinished work for the recruits this week Capt. Raymond Sheldon announced an entirely new program for the week which leaves out the maneuver problem in Chicago on Thursday. The new program is as follows:

Monday—Rifle firing, company drill, and battalion drill in which the 120 Culver cadets who arrived today will participate.

Tuesday—Field firing by special infantry under Gen. Brown of Fort Sill school of musketry, to be observed by all companies, Culver cadets, and public.

Study Convoy Problem.

Wednesday—A maneuver by an attack of a position with enemy outlined, convoy problem.

Thursday—Entrain and proceed to Lake Bluff, where the battalion and Culver cadets will detrain, encamp, have luncheon, participate in a review and a march back to Fort Sheridan (seven miles).

Friday—A meeting engagement in which entire battalion of recruits and all troops of the Fort Sheridan garrison will participate.

Use Auto Trucks in Defense.

Friday (evening)—The defense of a landing by the enemy, represented by Lake Bluff troops from the naval training school station, which will attempt to land at the trench location, in which maneuver auto trucks will be used to bring up reinforcements.

Saturday—Maneuver withdrawal from action and review and inspection of battalion by camp commander.

Sunday—Break camp.

The announcement of the strenuous program was greeted with aplause.

Several thousand persons visited the camp today. They were entertained by special events. Picked teams from the five companies engaged in a rifle shooting contest during the morning. D company won this contest, making 447 points out of a possible 500. The company was represented by A. Hendershott, Harold B. Sherwood, Thomas Cochrane, A. Langlund, and Emil Rutishauser.

Olympic Champion Stars.

A relay race with rifles was won by C company "all stars," consisting of Harry Porter, Cornell '05, winner of the Olympic championship in 1908; William May, Harold Irons, B. J. French, Thomas Lyons, Eugene Weidemann, Bruce Barrett, and Robert Fresnell.

The baseball game between the battalion and the regular artillerymen was won by the latter.

The Oak Park Knight Templar band entertained the crowd in the afternoon. Several of the visitors were guests at mess and hundreds remained for the evening concert by the Third Artillery band.

INDIANA TO GET DIXIE HIGHWAY?

President of Association Says Bad Roads in Illinois Must Be Improved.

TOURISTS ON SPEEDWAY

BY REED L. PARKER.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—"If Illinois wants any part of the Dixie highway, excepting the stretch between Chicago and Chicago Heights, Iroquois county, in which a miserable stretch of road lies between Momence and Watseka, must be improved before the fall of 1916. Otherwise the route will be carried through northern Indiana."

This statement was made by M. M. Allison, president of the Dixie Highway association. The Momence to Watseka stretch was the bone of contention which nearly disrupted the Chattanooga convention in which the idea of a north and south highway was evolved.

Carl G. Fisher, who first thought of the route, bitterly opposed R. J. Finnegan and W. W. Marr, members of the Illinois commission to the convention appointed by Gov. Dunne, who were victorious in their fight to get the highway to enter Illinois near Danville.

Promise to Improve Road.

Fisher based his contentions against the Illinois scheme on the bad condition of the Watseka-Momence stretch. Marr and Finnegan pledged their word they would use their influence with voters of Iroquois county to get a bond issue passed that would be sufficient permanently to improve the road before 1917. Nothing beyond dragging has yet been done; hence Allison's statement.

That Indiana, like Illinois, is keenly alive to the benefits of a north and south artery was evidenced by the reception tendered all along the route of today's tour from Danville to Indianapolis. Hundreds of persons waited for the tourists at Covington, Veedersburg, Hillsboro, Waynetown, Crawfordsville, Mace, New Ross, Jamestown, Linton, Pittsboro, Brownsburg, and Clairmont.

Hoosiers Hear Speeches.

Speeches were made at Covington, Hillsboro, Waynetown, Crawfordsville, Pittsboro, and Brownsburg by P. T. Cosgrove, president of the Michigan Good Roads association, who substituted for Allison.

Escort cars joined the motorcade, until at times the tour was a parade of more than a mile in length.

Mr. Fisher welcomed the tourists at his speedway just outside the city. The cars were driven around the track and passed in review before Fisher and Allison before coming into the city.

Tomorrow's run will bring the motorists to French Lick, where members of the party will be the guests of Tom Taggart.

ONE HURT IN SHIP CRASH IN LONG ISLAND SOUND.

Schooner Rams Steamer Tennessee —250 Passengers Transferred to Boat Answering S. O. S. Calls.

New York, Oct. 10.—Nearly 250 passengers, including Robert Keating of Woodhaven, N. Y., who was seriously injured, were transferred from the steamer Tennessee after its collision in Long Island sound off Fisher's island with the schooner Samuel S. Thorp last night, and were brought here today aboard the Colonial line steamer Concord.

The Tennessee, with a ragged gap of forty feet long on its side, came into port a few hours later.

Keating suffered serious internal injuries and was removed to a hospital. Several other passengers received minor hurts.

Passengers told of panicky conditions aboard the Tennessee after the Thorp jammed its prow into their boat slightly forward amidships, but said that Capt. George B. Enos calmed the women and children. He then sent out wireless calls to which the Concord was first to respond.

CHRISTIAN SPIRIT ABOVE THE WAR, BISHOP ASSERTS

W. F. McDowell Contends That Militarism Has Broken Down in World.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The Sheridan Road Methodist Episcopal church is not ready to move from its present location, according to R. J. Dempsey, chairman of the board of trustees.

"We had a meeting yesterday after church," said Mr. Dempsey. "We decided we wanted to fill the church we have until its sides burst out and we will be forced to build, and then we will decide what we will do. We have been offered $50,000 for our lot, but we want a higher figure or we will not sell."

Says Militarism Is Broken Down.

"Militarism, and not Christianity, has broken down," said Bishop W. F. McDowell in his sermon at the Englewood First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning.

"This terrible war will end, we don't know when or how," he said, "but it will end. It cannot always last.

"There is a great deal of skepticism in the world, and some have asked, 'Has Christianity broken down?'

"No, Christianity has not broken down, but militarism has. Christianity has been abandoned in certain parts of the world, it is true, but it has not failed.

Speaks Steadying Word.

"But I want to speak a steadying word—not a frantic word.

"We have not been dragged into the conflict. We need not pride ourselves that it is because we are kept out of it by God. I do not know what his purposes may be. But when the strife is over and those two great missionary nations, Germany and England, are so crippled, it may be that it is the plan for us to do their work for them.

An unusual and affecting scene occurred in the afternoon service when Bishop Theodore S. Henderson called to the front of the church the ministers of the conference and their wives to pray for their children and when he later called young people to the front who were willing to devote themselves to some form of Christian service as a life work. Hundreds came forward and many were seen in tears.

Bishop Henderson is in charge of the Methodist forward movement which has among other objects the enlisting of at least 1,000 young people in deaconess foreign missionary, or home missionary work as a life task. Bishop Henderson announced he had 500 names on his book before yesterday's services.

Fourteen Ordained Ministers.

Preceding the address of Bishop Henderson Bishop McDowell, assisted by several ministers, ordained seven deacons and seven elders. They are:

DEACONS.	ELDERS.
A. A. McCracken,	Faye A. Moon,
Lyman R. Bayard,	David H. Ross,
W. L. Ripple,	Harry Culbertson,
George W. Welch,	Joseph J. Hichens,
Warren N. Clark.	Everett E. Hudson.
John C. Coleman,	John D. Deakley,
Arthur R. Wesley.	John F. Glotfelds,
	John J. Williams,
	Thomas L. Parker,
	Charles E. Pettit.

Most of the deacons and elders ordained are pastors of churches.

Dr. Gunsaulus Talks.

Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus of Central church preached at night. The edifice was crowded. Many persons were turned away.

"The attempts at humor of the average minister have the specific gravity of dough," Dr. Gunsaulus said. "Entering the ministry and matrimony are about the same, to be avoided, unless they cannot be helped.

"Some ministerial attempts at humor are like the grimaces of a janitor in an undertaking establishment. Humor must be spontaneous and hence the gift of God.

"Tell me what a man will laugh at and I'll tell you what kind of a man he is."

URGES TEACHING CHILDREN HOW TO BLOW THEIR NOSES.

Cleveland Doctor at Meeting of Specialists Says Deafness May Result from Improper Methods.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Dr. B. Metzenbaum of Cleveland, at a state meeting of nose, eye, and ear specialists, laid down the new theory that children's education should be made to include a complete and full course on how to blow the nose.

After the specialists had determined that there is great danger of permanent deafness, if not the more serious infected condition of the breathing apparatus and other head troubles, with such results as mastoid troubles, by improper blowing of the nose, Dr. Metzenbaum declared:

"Do not squeeze both nostrils and blow. In my opinion it is more healthful and beneficial to expectorate than to blow the nose wrongfully."

Frank J. Stabbe Arrested for Death of Minneapolis Young Woman He Asserts Stole His Money in Hotel.

Frank J. Stabbe of 3323 Drake avenue was arrested last night and is being held on a charge of murder for the police of Minneapolis.

Stabbe admitted, according to the police, that he struck a young woman in a Minneapolis hotel and knocked her against a bedpost. Her skull was fractured and she died later.

The police said that he met the woman and a man in the street in Minneapolis and he and the woman went to a room in a hotel. She attempted to rob him, he says, and he struck her. The police of the Minnesota city learned his identity through his baggage left at the Victor hotel in that city.

EDISON SURPRISED GUESTS BY HEARING ALL THEY SAID.

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Thomas A. Edison's friends who know of the inventor's deafness have been marvelling at the success with which he presided at the meetings in Washington last week of the new naval consulting board.

It was learned tonight that Mr. Edison fooled every member of that distinguished body of men, including President Wilson and Secretary of the Navy Daniels; that he heard little that was said during the board's deliberations, and that he was enabled to preside so well because his assistant, who was present, kept him informed of everything said and done by means of a telegraphic finger tip that touched Mr. Edison's knee under the table.

NIBLACK TAKES STAND TODAY

La Salle Receiver to Tell Conditions Found in Munday Bank.

SPOHR WILL FOLLOW.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Morris, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—After two weeks passed in the examination of prospective jurors, the wrangling of opposing counsel and the hearing of opening statements from both sides, the taking of testimony to support charges of conspiracy against Charles B. Munday will begin tomorrow.

William C. Niblack, who has been receiver for the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank since its collapse more than a year ago, will be the first witness to take the stand for the prosecution. Mr. Niblack is expected to describe to the jury the condition in which he found the La Salle Street bank and its subsidiaries. He will tell also what, in his opinion, brought about this condition.

Faces Long Ordeal.

The direct examination of Mr. Niblack by Assistant State's Attorney Edwin C. Raber of Cook county is expected to continue through both sessions of the court tomorrow. How long the cross examination of the receiver by the defense will last is not known. It is believed certain that attorneys for Munday will introduce their charges of "persecution" in this cross examination of the first of the state's witnesses.

Frank M. Spohr, auditor of the defunct La Salle Street bank, will be the second witness. Spohr, according to attorneys for the prosecution, is one of their most important witnesses, and his direct examination by the state probably will consume three days. He was an employé of the bank first while it was a national institution and later after it became a state bank.

Reveal Inside Workings.

The prosecution hopes through Spohr's testimony to give the jurors a clear idea of just what went on inside the bank during the five years of its existence. The weird story of frenzied finance told the jurors in the prosecution's opening statement will, the state's lawyers declare, be borne out in Spohr's testimony.

The examination and cross examination of these two witnesses is expected to occupy one-third of the trial.

This isn't about these pictures—yet

MUCH as one hates to say hard things, the truth is that the bill at the Ziegfeld this week is one of the reasons why there aren't more picture fans than there are.

Supposing a person, unacquainted with pictures but passively minded toward them, should, on passing the theater, be tempted by the poster board and the chill lake wind to drop in. He is in a psychological state, either for conversion or the developing of lasting scorn. If he is a patient person, optimistically minded (and it is cold enough outdoors), he perhaps will be able to sit through the sentimentally melodramatic maunderings of "The Victory of Virtue." He may do so, but his opinion of pictures will be sinking to the lowest ebb of the tide.

And yet, hope, being of an eternally elastic nature in the human breast, may, and probably will—linked along with that sterling American quality, the desire to get one's money's worth—keep him looking, when "Zaza," without a second for the assimilation of any such idea as the V. of V. may have succeeded in stimulating, comes flashing on.

Now there is a difference between the first and the second pictures, in points of workmanship, acting and photography but the theme of the latter is just as depressingly wearisome as is that of the first. If the typical, intelligent person, who is unfamiliar with pictures, stays through to read Mr. Hamburger's trade mark about "quality amusements" and the slide in regard to the ——— & ——— piano, he has a tremendous regard for getting full measure for his quarter. After that, when he sees a motion picture theater, he will probably go to a bargain sale.

That is the misfortune of poor pictures or a poorly constructed program. There aren't enough picture enthusiasts, and the sole reason is because there are so many poor pictures, and the unconverted, after being faced up with a few samples of such, is in no mood to be persuaded to see the few good things that float about. A good picture not only draws a crowd for its run, but helps all of the other picture showing houses by planting in folks' hearts a hope that, since this program was so enjoyable, it is probable that the one down the block will be.

The burden of this sad selection and malformation of program falls on the exhibiting house, of course, but the blame is not wholly there, for theaters cannot run what producers do not supply.

And now something about the two pictures.

"Zaza" is a revival by Famous Players with Pauline Frederick of the old demi-mondaine play in which Mrs Carter won large acclaim. It is a well pictured version of a wearisome subject, with some high points of tragedy in it.

"The Victory of Virtue" is no subject to start in on with space limitations. Somebody once had a notion about getting into the picture game, bought some film and went out to make a "feature." Why not?—everybody was making features. What to put in? Well, some love and villainy and a moral. Teach a lesson by showing some evil and give it a little fillip of variety—also introduce the fade-in by dressing up the devil and some nymphs—though in the nymphs' case the dressing is wholly a minor matter.

The poor company spent months and much money in carrying out this idea and the result is now on view. It is a pathetic result—a fine sample of what not to do in making pictures.

The handicap that governed its making was too heavy to be ignored in present consideration. So we will say no more, except to wish better fortunes on the next venture.

Movie Melange.

It takes more than 400 prints to circulate Mr. Chaplin satisfactorily around among his admirers, according to the veracious press agent of Essanay.

Beatriz Michelena, a whole souled, dynamic person, has taken to serious study of hypnotism in connection with the production of "The Unwritten Law" being made at the California motion picture studio up on the San Rafael slopes.

Blanche Sweet, who has been vacationing briefly in New York, is back at the Lasky studio ready to go to work on her eighth picture with that company.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

by Marion Harland

Poems and Songs.

"I HAVE read the Helping Hand department for some time and now turn to it for help. I should like to get the poem, 'Let me dwell in a house by the side of the road'; also a song sung in the early days containing these words: 'If Adam should pass by the country he'd surely own," etc. I am anxious to get the above pieces and hope to have something to offer the Corner soon. FRANCES M. H."

Whether you have or not we will try to get the verses for you. I shall keep your address with this end in view.

Washing Blue Linen.

"Could you give me your advice on how to wash a new blue linen dress, the belt and buttons of which are embroidered in red silk? As I wish to wash this dress immediately, I should greatly appreciate the earliest possible reply through your Corner. P. D."

Unless the red silk is warranted washable I should fear to undertake the task without first trying a piece of the blue linen and a thread of the silk. A tablespoon of ox-gall to each gallon of cold water will set the color in muslin, cotton, or linen. Leave the article in the bath for two hours. Or a strong brine of salt and cold water will do the same. A tablespoon of powdered alum dissolved in boiling water, then cooled and added to the brine, will make the work sure. Dry in the shade. Colors fade more in drying than in washing.

Name for Graduates' Club.

"I am a school graduate and am organizing a club for the graduates of my class. Will you be so kind as to give me a name for this club? I should like a name that embodies the idea of graduation or graduates. HELEN W."

But has it occurred to you that the name applicable to your graduation ceases to have force when commencement day is over? You may, if you still wish the name, call yourselves the "Delta club," in reference to the familiar lines:

"Standing with reluctant feet
Where the brook and river meet."

Brook and river form a delta in meeting. Members will understand the significance of the ward and outsiders need not. I can think of nothing better.

Wants Copy of Waltz Song.

"Where can I get a copy of the "Poet's Dream Waltz," composed by Reginald De Koven? I have written to music publishers of New York and Chicago, but without favorable results. D. S. S."

Short of Quilt Pieces.

"I have a club of children, called the Rosebud club. I have them making quilts. We need some pieces badly. Will you help me to get some? Thanking you for your kindness. MRS. W. B. T."

After searching through piece drawers and boxes, then doing the odds and ends into parcels, ready for mailing, will not the Cornerite who thus makes use of some of her spare time, write to us for the name of the founder of the Rosebud club, so that the little fingers may not be idle? The work is worthy. Who will contribute toward it?

An Exchange of Lessons.

"I should like to ask through your Corner if a refined young French woman would care to exchange French lessons for voice culture with an American young woman. JESSIE C. C."

The attractive exchange may be a godsend to a proficient in the French language who cannot afford to pay for music lessons.

Fashions from London

An autumn blouse of lemon yellow crepe de chine, with insertion and edging of crochet. The cuffs are of navy blue taffeta set on with black silk cross stitch. The belt is of lemon kid and the buttons are a deep blue.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—Thin stories have been told for some time now by the modish blouses, so that it would really be impossible for them to be any thinner and still exist in the capacity of a waist. Suffice it to say that they have not changed any in the transparency line but they have in many other ways.

The blouse with the bell shaped sleeve over an undersleeve of crispest organdy or sheerest silk is right in the fashion whirl now. The Russian blouse in velvet and corduroy is also much worn, while the blouse which has its fronts and its high choker collar cut all in one piece is being shown in many of the more expensive models.

Again in the majority of the blouses the sloping shoulder line is featured. The mutton leg sleeve even drops from a low shoulder seem with its widest part at the shoulder line, despite the fact that it also is wide at the elbow.

One new blouse, in order that the tightness and the highness of its collar might be emphasized, had the top bound snugly with fur.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

"The Fun of Cooking."

GUSHY, and with but a trifle of originality, reminiscent of that old fashioned favorite, "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew," is the book, "The Fun of Cooking," by Caroline French Benton (the Century company), which may yet prove as useful a book for little girl cooks as the other, for the same purpose, by this author.

In this case there are not only two girls in the family, but a boy, Jack, who says too many times, that "real cooking is just for girls." His parents see to it that he changes his mind, and one of his recipes appears early in the book. It shows how he made a "great dish of lovely" popcorn balls. "Lovely" and "sweet" and "dear" are very necessary to the vocabularies of happy, useful little girls, perhaps. Perhaps also it is necessary to tell them that the first things they cook are "perfectly delicious," but it would be a relief to see a glint of humor in the eye of one praising.

The mother in this family constantly has "bright ideas." She says so, the author says so, the children say so, albeit some of the inventions she claims to make wear the half century mark. Undoubtedly it was a bright idea to present her children with note books for recipes and take them right through a year of cooking, for all festive and necessary occasions, with an examination at the end. Fortunately she even gets sick, so that a few invalid dishes may be cooked, which shows, as does the rest of the book, that this mother has no dietetic ideas, although the first sentence announces that "The Blairs were a particularly nice family."

Eggs in Ramekins.

Four eggs, four rounds of buttered toast, sprinkle of salt and pepper. Butter any small dishes; put in the toast rounds, break an egg carefully on each, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and bake in the oven till the eggs are done.

Massage of the Liver.

Antoinette Donnelly

"WHAT is the matter with my complexion, it is so yellow I scarcely know myself? And I am so tired!" Presupposing that you are not in the throes of yellow jaundice, then it is your liver, nine chances out of ten. Overburdened as it often is, small wonder that at times it rebels and causes all kinds of unhappiness to the owner.

Better its circulation and you will be happier and better looking! And the way to do this is to breathe deep and long. Simple enough, isn't it? Deep breathing acts just like a gentle, persistent massage, for every time the diaphragm moves downward pressure is exerted upon this spongy organ. This has the effect of pushing the blood more rapidly through the little cells that intersect the liver.

Better circulation will mean better digestion, this will mean better disposition, and soon the roses will replace the muddy, unbecoming color about which you had been worrying.

The liver simply will not get along without your help, for in the first place it has no direct power to move, and in the second it's the largest vital organ in our anatomy.

Deep breathing and general exercises of the trunk are sufficient to keep the normal liver in good working order, but when it has more work than it can manage the exercises should be more strenuous.

An effective massage exercise for everybody is as follows: Relax completely, droop your shoulders and cave in your chest in the most abject position possible, meanwhile exhaling every bit of breath you can get out of your lungs. Place your hands at the waist line at about the front of the body and center your attention on that region. Now inhale slowly and gradually bring the body to an upright position as you fill the lungs. When you are standing like a soldier and think you have every bit of oxygen that you can hold, take little puffy breaths until you can't do this longer. You'll be surprised how much more you inhale in this way after you think you have already filled your lungs. Hold for a moment, exhale, and let the body relax again. Repeat at least ten times. Do this twice a day and you'll never become a Scrooge.

Taking Things Easier.

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for every letter published on "How I Ousted That Ageing, Wrinkling, Ugly Habit—Worry." Address Antoinette Donnelly, "The Sunday Tribune," Chicago.

Even the most trifling ills used to cut a line down my forehead like a crevasse in a glacier, turn down the corners of my mouth until they met at the cleft in my chin, and cloud my eyes into wells of woe. When my friends saw a photograph of all this they said, "What a perfect likeness." Then I began to take things easier. M. V. H.

BRIGHT SAYINGS of CHILDREN

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The stories may be sent in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Two different families of cousins came to visit Margery at the same time. She took one from each family over to a nearby aunt and said, "Look, aunty, I brought one of each kind." A. L. B.

Helen was slightly lame, and in the procession of children leaving the schoolroom it was the duty of a little boy to assist her. One day he exclaimed, "Miss Smith, I am sorry for Helen, but she hesitates the line." J. C.

Real Love Stories

Loved Boy's Father.

"I WAS telling my aunt who had never wed that I was soon to be married and I was happy, so very happy that I felt as if my heart was too small to hold so much joy. When I told her tears came to her eyes, and I asked why. She then told me the story of her life:

"I was just 19 when I went to work as a domestic for a family. They had one child and he was but one year old when I came there. He was not strong and was ill quite often. I loved children, but this child was an exception. I felt different towards him than I did to other children. He learnt to love me and I loved him with all my heart. His parents were very good to me, especially his father. He was very kind and thoughtful of me.

"I had been there two years when my happy days came to an end. I remember the day well. I was standing by the sink paring potatoes for dinner when I heard the boy's father coming down the stairs. My heart started to pound like a hammer and I wondered why. He was soon in the kitchen smiling and talking in his usual way. After he had gone I realized why my heart had beat so hard. I not only loved the boy but his father, too.

"From that day on I was a changed girl. I wanted to leave right away, but I just couldn't leave the boy. I remained for two years and the anguish and pain I suffered I could never explain. To see and hear and be near some one you love and who can never be yours make one miserable. I thought my heart would break when I left the boy, but he soon forgot me. I saw him about a year after I left and he didn't recognize me. That's why tears came to my eyes when you said how happy you were, for I know how I would feel to build a home for the one you love."

Sealed with Kisses.

"Dear Miss Blake: My sister has received a letter from a boy friend of hers. On the back of the envelope were the letters "S. W. K." She is very desirous to learn what this means. Possibly you can help her. BROTHER."

Those mystic letters "S. W. K." on the back of an envelope are supposed to mean "Sealed with kisses," a bit of youthful foolishness that has thrilled many a girl's heart. Perhaps there may be a 1915 interpretation, but this is as I remember it from my own childhood days

Have you a perplexing love affair in which you need the counsel of a friend? Write to Doris Blake, care of "The Tribune." If you wish a personal reply send stamped and addressed envelope.

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. Manuscripts will not be returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

MUSIC and the THEATERS

Paging the Plot of 'Girl of Tomorrow'

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

MISS MABEL McCANE as "The Girl of Tomorrow"

If I were to be asked what "The Girl of Tomorrow" is all about I should have to adopt the staggering evasion of Miss Marion Harland, my neighbor of the Helping Hand, and reply "Perhaps Some of My Readers May Know."

In many years of experience as a hot hound I have traced and run down some of the most elusive romances known to musical comedy; but the story of "The Girl of Tomorrow" baffled me. I caught the scent frequently—there was no difficulty about that—and now and then I gave vent to a silent bay of hope, suspecting that the chase was over. Nevertheless, I found it not, and, so far as I am concerned, the plot of "The Girl of Tomorrow" is still at liberty.

It seemed, however, that two comic negroes, impersonated by Messrs. Conroy and Le Maire, were employed at a mountain hotel in Kentucky as porters. Suddenly Mr. Le Maire became a surgeon. An operating table having been placed upon the hillside, he proceeded to diagnose the suppositious illness of Mr. Conroy and to prepare to relieve him of it with comic saws and cleavers. Later there was a long and amusing colloquy between them about an accident insurance policy, and still later they appeared in a trick automobile, which fell apart and was otherwise entertaining. It was very funny, as every one knows who has seen it in vaudeville.

But it was a bit incoherent for a musical comedy fable, and cannot have been the theme of "The Girl of Tomorrow." Where, you may ask, were Joseph E. Howard, Mabel McCane, James J. Morton, Jack Gardner, Regina Connelli and Edith Decker all this time? Well, they were around, particularly Miss Mabel McCane, who was so industrious that even when she was off stage, she showed through a transparent rock which . . up. There was a feud, and some one was in love with her, and they measured . . . and her father bade him begone, and there was a cake walk, and a lot of dancing girls disguised as Teddy bears. . a hermit, and Miss Decker drank too much, and it rained, and they discussed America, and the Salvation army paraded, and a chorus boy named Percy Withers appeared as the kaiser, and Mr. Howard said he was going to take some moving pictures, and he did not, but he sang and he danced, and so did every one else in the show. I thank you.

As indicated above, Miss McCane was the busiest lady of the proceedings. She is one of those cute young women, knowing, full of assurance, and much given to facial elocution. You either like her or want to wring her neck. She engaged with great facility in singing and acting and did everything in the catalogue from Juliet on the Cricket to the dying Camille. Mr. Howard was ingratiating in a reserved, tonsorial way, wearing white flannels and the famous evening clothes. A sunny place, the mountains of Kentucky. He had numerous soft songs, the most fitting, possibly, that have dripped from his stylus for several seasons. A few of the lyrics, however, reminded one of the . . . of Mr. F. P. Adams in the New York Tribune:

"I cannot sing the old songs
Their words I have forgotten;
I cannot sing the new ones,
Because they are so rotten."

But Miss McCane and Mr. Gardner had a likely ditty, renamed "Tea and Toast and Kisses," and Miss Decker celebrated the marvel of Chicago as a metropolis with fitting phrase and melody. If you liked the "They Didn't Believe Me" song in "The Girl from Utah" you may hear some of it again in "The Girl of Tomorrow" under the title "Some of These Nights," eloquently rendered by Mr. Howard and Miss McCane.

After two or three performances Mr. Morton, I believe, will be good as a sententious inebriate who wandered in and out something after the fashion of that classic drunk in "Little Johnny Jones." Miss Regina Connelli was so bright and pretty that she, too, rather overflowed her rôle, whatever it was. A score of comely nymphs contributed their charms of voice and person to the ensemble, and they were richly dressed between the knees and the shoulder blades.

A large audience on Saturday night enjoyed the play, which is at the La Salle Opera house.

Boston Symphony at Auditorium.

BY ERIC DE LAMARTER.

ONE'S first impression of the Boston Symphony orchestra is that of its conductor, Dr. Karl Muck. It is a sense of powerful repose, and more than a little asceticism, an inexhaustible passion for refinement of style.

So it was yesterday afternoon, at least, when the first movement of the Brahms C minor symphony was under way. The almost gaunt face of this conductor, beloved of his public, is the face of a scholar; in the profile is the hint of great vitality coupled with absolute poise; in his bearing is the dignity of a man too big natured to strike attitudes or throw himself into windmill Delsarte. In some fashion he summed up the bearing of the whole ensemble.

Dr. Muck's program was a compliment to the local public, and his audience was a compliment, also, to him and his associates. The Auditorium has held few larger audiences during the opera season, and a very large proportion was from the resident orchestra's clientèle and from the colony of professional musicians.

The day's pabulum was the symphony mentioned, Liszt's "Hungaria" poem, the "Siegfried Idyl" from Wagner's pen, and the Strauss "Till Eulenspiegel."

The lack of pose, the absolute dignity of the opening bars of the symphony, were deceptive. Technical mastery was the trait most obvious. Then came realization of the wonderfully deep tone of the fiddle sections, a tone welling up out of the most feathery pianissimos as though of exhaustless reserve, an ensemble tone of an astonishing unity and purity.

The woodwinds, over which it would be easy to exchange hard blows of argument based on individual taste, bore themselves in every bar like the artists they are.

The brass is a battery of mellow, noble tone. Smoother brass and strings are difficult to imagine.

That this ensemble has all the technical virtuosity that goes with the modern orchestra hardly needs statement. It is a magnificent organization.

These elements made the symphony live vividly—as vividly as Brahms himself, at least—for Dr. Muck read the score with fidelity to both letter and spirit, denying himself the chance of self-exploitation by taking theatric liberties. Nor was this a pedantic Brahms. The slow movement unfolded a wonderfully emotional interpretation, and the introductory portion of the finale sang itself like a whole epic.

Again, with the "Siegfried Idyl," developed an example of exquisite balance of voice parts; if the playing was gravely reticent, it was also a study in pianissimos not to be forgotten.

"Till Eulenspiegel" was something of a surprise. The arrant fun of the thing bubbled always, but it was no village cutup whose spirit romped through the reading. This "Till" was a rowdy son of patricians. In other words, Dr. Muck's Strauss bore the same marks of finesse his Brahms bore, excepting that it added thereto the wizardry of modern orchestral technique. The performance was a flaming rapture of virtuosity; it almost seemed too nonchalant. But just as erudition chuckles softly while robust youth guffaws, so does Dr. Muck's interpretation rather patronize the broad comedy spirit of Strauss' score.

The Boston orchestra and Dr. Muck were received with enthusiasm. They are guests more than welcome.

Don't Gamble? Then You'll Be Lonely.

BY CINDERELLA.

IF you are not one who gambles these bleak October afternoons and plays bridge for a half cent a point you may be lonely. But the pious are apt to be lonely.

There are, of course, those who play for a quarter cent, others who play for eighths, and still others who stake their all on tenths, and lose not a little at that.

But where are those whose principles formerly wouldn't allow them to play bridge for money?

Under cover somewhere, likewise their principles. Everywhere one goes, at the Saddle and Cycle, before cozy log fires at the half deserted country clubs, in private houses at the tea hour the clink of silver coin and the scratching of pens in little check books mingle illuminatingly with the rattle of the tea service.

Well, it is all very dashing and exciting, of course, even if it does leave an intensive expression and a few wrinkles, and the children's ears are not quite what they might be.

But this is not about such earthly matters, but about a house party in the Vermont hills, on a superb estate, whose millionaire owners are not unknown to Chicago.

Indeed, it is the bridge adventures of a young Chicago woman with a sort of moral. So all who are not in favor of moralizing may pass on.

This Chicago girl was asked from Friday to Monday at this famous house, whose chatelaine is a daughter of old Commodore Vanderbilt.

There was a large party, which broke up the first night into bridge and dancing. The Chicago maiden said she would rather play bridge. Her hostess inquired: "Do you play for a stake?"

"Yes," she said, "but only for a small one—never more than a quarter."

So the players were adjusted about the magnificent rooms. When the game was over a private secretary picked up the scores, and the next evening the game went on as before, with the same players at each table and the same stake.

Also Sunday night was the game repeated, and each time the private secretary gathered up the scores. On Monday morning with her breakfast tray the Chicago woman received a mysterious envelope. She opened it and out fell a check. It was a check for many hundreds of dollars and a few lines stating that these were her bridge winnings for three nights, at 25 cents a point.

The heroine of this romance, whose bank balance is a modest, shrinking affair, says that her teeth are chattering yet when she thinks of what might have been.

The French Room Is the First, We Believe, to Show

The New Poke Hat

And its creators predict for it an unprecedented vogue, for its charm of line and rare becomingness are self-evident.

Narrower and smaller than were the piquant pokes of yesterday, its tip-tilted crown is emphasized at each end by a filmy fan of feathers.

Presented Also at This Occasion—

A new picture hat of white hatter's plush with garniture of African brown velvet and fur.

It is whispered by modistes who determine the modes that not far distant is the discarding of black for dress wear and that this new combination will hold sway for the winter.

Women who enjoy the new when it is new will find these and other modes of interest in

The Artistic Group of New Hats to be Exhibited Today.

Fifth Floor, South Room.

Women's Broadcloth Suits, $40

Introduce Some of the Newer Fashion Details of the Fall and Winter

At a glance you may see the added length to the coat skirt many well-known mode dictators are sponsoring. And it is becoming to most women.

You will note with interest the distinctive effect given by the wide banding of fur at the coat bottom.

The skirt is yoked, but departs from the usual by pointing its yoke low and shirring the skirt at the yoke line.

And then the rich quality of the broadcloth, the exquisite care of the tailoring mark these suits as most attractive in value as in style.

Fourth Floor, North Room.

HOME ELEVENS MUST IMPROVE BEFORE TESTS

Maroon and Purple Appear Weaker than Leading Rivals in Big Nine.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Chicago's victory over Northwestern, 7 to 0, defeats of Pennsylvania and Navy by Penn State and Pittsburgh, respectively, and the narrow margins by which Yale and Princeton won their games featured the football struggles played Saturday. Other contests resulted as expected, and the strong teams in the different sections of the country are beginning to rise over the gridiron horizon.

Chicago had to play all the football it had been taught to win the verdict over its time honored rival. It was not until the last quarter that the Maroons scored the touchdown which sent the Midway rooters back to the south side in a gleeful mood. The stellar playing of Capt. Russell and Half Back Agar was all that Chicago enthusiasts can be proud of in this contest.

Purple Fights with Spirit.

As predicted, the Purple put up one of the hardest fights against Chicago that has been shown in the last decade. Coach Murphy's men were well coached, and if they had been fortified with the experience of more games it is doubtful if Russell and Agar would have gotten away for so many short, snappy runs. Loose tackling at critical times resulted in the Evanstonian defeat, especially in the final session, when Agar skirted end for the only count of the game.

The contest showed that much must be accomplished by both coaches in the near future if hopes of a successful season in Evanston or on the Midway are to be entertained. The improvements shown by other conference teams is proof enough that neither Purple nor Maroon has shown enough to win from other members of the big nine.

Illinois a Scoring Machine.

Illinois' victory over Rolla School of Mines, rated as one of the strongest teams west of the Mississippi river last year, shows that Zuppke is molding another machine which will make a great fight to retain the conference title. The downstaters won from the Missouri eleven by the one sided score of 75 to 7. Zuppke's players reeled off long runs with amazing regularity, and it is because of the ability of the backs to make these runs against almost any kind of opposition that Illinois must be given a grand chance to retain its title.

Wisconsin again showed its offensive and defensive strength by running over and around Marquette to the tune of 85 to 0. This victory and the large score run up against Lawrence the week before shows that the Badgers are a team which must command the respect of future opponents. Wisconsin is scheduled to play Illinois, Minnesota, and Chicago in its big games. Coach Juneau and his assistant, Earl "Keg" Driver, apparently will place a well balanced team on the field for these all important struggles.

Gophers Appear Formidable.

Minnesota further justified previous statements that it will be in the running for the big nine title by winning from Ames, 34 to 6. The Gophers played consistent football and showed a marked improvement over their game with North Dakota a week ago. Coach Williams is taking advantage of these games to try out all his promising candidates before the Illinois game at Urbana on Oct. 30.

Following its 7 to 7 tie with Wabash Purdue came back strong and administered a 26 to 0 defeat to Beloit. This game plainly shows the ability of Andy Smith as a coach. After being outplayed by the Little Giants and being lucky to tie the count in the closing minutes of play, Smith has accomplished a great deal in a week's time. He has shifted a number of players to different positions and the advisability of such a move was plainly shown on Saturday. The team is one which will improve with experience.

Maulbetsch in Old Form.

That Michigan will be strong was shown by its 35 to 0 victory over Mount Union. The Wolverines displayed all the old aggressiveness that has made Michigan teams famous, and it also was well equipped with plays made possible by changes in the rules. That the operation performed on Maulbetsch, the star half back, will not affect his playing was indicated conclusively. Mauley showed all his old time cleverness in advancing the ball and will be just as strong a factor in Michigan's important games as he was last season.

Notre Dame scalped the Haskell Indians, 34 to 0. The South Bend eleven is one of unlimited power. The backs hit the line and drive off the tackles with plenty of force and as soon as the plays are polished and the team gets working together better, Notre Dame will be a worthy foe for Nebraska and the Army, the two most important games on its schedule.

Navy Is Torpedoed.

In the east the defeat of the Navy by Pittsburgh, 47 to 12, not only was the principal upset, but it was the worst beating the sailors have received in years. The team from the smoky city is coached this year by Glen Warner, former Carlisle Indian mentor, who undoubtedly has taught it a lot of football.

Yale barely escaped another defeat and was lucky to win by the narrow margin of one point from Lehigh, 7 to 6. Princeton won from Syracuse, 3 to 0, in a game in which the Tigers had to play all the football they knew.

BROWNS DEFEAT CARDS IN SECOND FOR CITY HONORS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—By winning one game of today's double header from the Cardinals the Browns bagged the city championship series, the victory giving them four games. The Cardinals won one and another resulted in a tie.

The Cardinals won the opening game, 7 to 2, Willie Doak beating Earl Hamilton. Hamilton was hit at opportune times, while the Browns collected only two hits off Doak.

In the second game Tim McCabe blanked the Cardinals and won, 5 to 0. For seven innings it was a pitching duel between McCabe and Southpaw Boardman. Up to the eighth the Browns had made only one run off Boardman, but in the eighth he lost control and two passes and three hits netted four runs. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness. Scores:

FIND STOWAWAYS HIDDEN AT BOSTON BALL GROUNDS.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—When it came time to close Braves' field tonight it was found that a number of boys had hidden themselves within the grounds. Stowaways were found in several places and turned out of the inclosure.

These youngsters and others formed the first of the line which later stretched out from the gates leading to the bleacher seats. There were about 7,000 places to be had at 50 cents, about 3,500 of which were seats. Ten thousand other seats in the left field pavilion are to be placed on sale at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, these to sell at $1 each.

The Red Sox management obtained permission from the national commission to turn the open spaces at the back of the grandstand into profit, and it was arranged to sell standing room there. It was estimated that about 4,000 persons could comfortably see the game from the rear of the stand.

The number of reserved seats, 25,000, although unusually large, was not sufficient to satisfy the demand, it developed today. It was thought a few days ago that nearly every one who applied had obtained seats, but many persons today went to the ticket offices at Fenway park, where distribution of the seat checks was made, and complained that they had received no reservations.

ALECK TO FACE RED SOX TODAY IN THIRD GAME

World's Title May Hinge on Result of Battle with Leonard.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Grover Cleveland Alexander, major, will be pitted against Boston's Red Sox again tomorrow, with Philadelphia's chances for the world's pennant of 1915 depending on his good right arm.

If the National league star can trim the pride of the American league again his team will have a big advantage in the battle for the ultimate honors. If he cannot the chances of the Phillies will be small, and consequently a great deal depends on Grover the Great.

Philadelphia rooters and students are unanimously sure Aleck will do it again and do it easier than he did on the opening day, because they declare the Red Sox have not yet faced the real Alexander.

Not at Best in Opener.

All who have watched the star of Moran's slab staff work in seasons past and in this pennant race coincide in the belief that he did not pitch as good a game as he is capable of in the opening combat. He was at his best only in the pinches, and there he was a wonder, but it was noticed that it took him longer than usual to think what to pitch when he was in the hole.

This was because he was pitching to a green catcher for one thing, and was not at his best himself on account of the considerable rest he had been given. Alexander can stand and needs a lot of work to keep at concert pitch. Like the best of violins he will lose a quarter or half tone of his melodic register if left idle for a while, and that was what happened to Alexander.

That is the explanation of how the Red Sox happened to hit him as hard as they did Friday. He was keyed up to the real pitch only when he was in trouble, which was a lot oftener than usual.

Red Sox Fans Confident.

The Red Sox adherents, on the other hand, are confident of being able to beat Alexander tomorrow. They argue that the Carrigans smote him pretty hard without ever before having had a look at his goods, and, having acquired some familiarity with them, are bound to do better next time, which is sure to be tomorrow. The weather man says so, and Pat Moran says so—insofar as any manager will name his world's series pitchers in advance.

Pat admits Alexander is the logical choice for the slab in the third game, and the weather prophets say there is no rain in sight for a week, but that it will be a little warmer tomorrow than today, which was a trifle on the football order.

Leonard Choice for Boston.

Leonard is the best bet for the Red Sox slab, although Carrigan has not sanctioned that announcement. He had no chance to start a left hander against the Phillies in Penntown, because it would have been suicidal with so many right handed hitters on Moran's team all aiming to swat the fast ones against that short right field fence. But on the Braves' park, with plenty of room for Hooper and Speaker to roam, Carrigan admits a good left hander ought to beat the Phillies.

Leonard is a good southpaw. He is not the best left hander on Carrigan's staff, perhaps, for Ruth has pitched some great baseball this year, and Collins has had experience under fire in previous big money doings. But Ruth is only a kid in experience, and Collins has not been going as well as either of the younger left handers on the Red Sox list.

Killifer Not Ready.

So tomorrow it will probably be Alexander and Burns, Leonard and Carrigan. Carrigan catches his left handers, and Killifer is not thought to be ready yet, while Burns has exceeded expectations in spite of his boot that lost the game of yesterday.

Tomorrow's game means a lot, and it means more to Moran than to Carrigan. If the Red Sox win it they will have beaten his best. If they lose it Carrigan still will have the chance to even it up, because he will have the best pitching for the fourth game. He can send back either Shore or Foster, who have shown they can deliver the goods when in a pinch, or he can gamble on Mays or Ruth.

Chalmers or Rixey Tomorrow.

Moran will have for the fourth game the choice between Chalmers and Rixey. Alexander cannot pitch two games in succession without wrecking him for the rest of the series, and it is doubtful if Mayer has the physique to come back on Tuesday after the game he pitched yesterday. He needs a longer rest to work so hard. Mayer looked as if he were fading a bit in the sixth and seventh innings of Saturday's game. He finished strongly, however, and it took a bulldog spirit like Foster's to beat him, but it is proof that Mayer is not good for another tough game as soon as Tuesday.

It is up to the hurlers and Dame Fortune, who has decided both games that have been played. The Red Sox have outbatted their Pennsylvania opponents by good margins in both games, but they have been baffled in the tight spots. If they had been able to or lucky enough to group their swats in either game they would have won both without trouble.

MERRY SEASON WITH MACKS, SAYS STUFFY TO EDITOR OF WAKE

BY RING W. LARDNER.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Stuffy McInnis, who is about the only good ball player on the Athletic team that Connie Mack forgot to sell to the White Sox, came up on the train with us last night from Philadelphia. He lives round here, and was on his way home. So I thought I would interview him, and I said:

"Well, Mr. McInnis, this wasn't your year." He said:

"O, yes, it was. It was the best year I ever had." So I said:

"What do you mean, the best year you ever had?" So he said:

"I mean that I never had so much fun. When Collins, and Baker, and Murphy, and Bender, and Plank, and Coombs were with us, it wasn't any sport. All we could do was feel sorry for the other team. Now I suppose I ought to feel sorry for my own team, but we're so bad that I can't do anything but laugh. If you could have seen us day in and day out this season you would have wondered why we ever happened to pick out baseball as a profession.

"I was lucky in not having much to do. The only people that got to first base were the ones that walked. The rest of them never hesitated at my station. So the only balls I had to look out for were the ones thrown to me by the pitchers when they wanted to scare the men they had passed. And the pitchers were afraid to throw many over in my direction because they couldn't depend on themselves to throw them straight."

"What do you think about the world's series?" I asked him.

"I have no thoughts on the subject," he replied. "But if our team were one of the contestants, I could tell you positively who would win."

"Who would win," I asked.

"Whatever team we were playing against," said Stuffy.

AWAKE WITH THE NEWS

BY RING W. LARDNER

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Frend Harvey: Well Harvey they dident play no ball game here today because the day happened to fall on Sunday and they dont play no baseball on Sunday in Boston. All they do is go fishing or set a round and call the waiter. They sent no ball game for me to write a bout accept tomorrow's game and I will give you a few tips on that so as you'll know how to bet if you want to.

It looks like ether Alexander or Rixey or Baumgartner or Chalmers or De Maree would pitch for the Phillys. It will be 1 of them 5. Of coarse it wont be McQuillan because Pat Moran's to smart to pitch 2 men whos names beggins with M 1 after the other and Mayer pitched last Saturday as you may of heard. The Boston pitcher will probly be Shore or Ruth or Leonard or Wood, 1 of them 4. If Alexander pitchs and the Red Sox dont hit him and the Phillys backs him up good and he dont give no bases on balls, it looks like the Phillys would come pretty clost to winning. Other wise its a toss up.

Well Harvey, I'm stoping at the same hotel where the Phillys is stoping just like I stoped at the same hotel with the Red Sox in Philly. But theys 1 consulation this time. The Phillys havent no wild gang of Royal Rooters hanging a round with them and theys a chance for a man to get some sleep. I wisht you could of road over on the train from Philly to here with us last night. No I dont nether, Harvey. I wouldent wish that on no frend of mine.

The train was loaded with these here Boston Royal Rooters and there a fine gang to travvel with provideing you dont care nothing a bout sleep. They was a bout 400 of them includeing a band and even the horns dident get no sleep. As soon as I got to the hotel this am I hired a Rm. and come right up stares and went to bed the same as if I hadent had no birth on the train.

Then after a wile I felt better and went down stares and renewed a quantances a monget the Phillys and I had a long talk with Fred Luderus. I says to him hello Ludie how are you getting a long and he says all right and then we seperated. Then I talked to Oscar Dugey a wile and I says to him how was Waco Texas and he says it was all right and I dident beleive him but I dident want to have no brawl with him so I let him get a way with it. Then I talked to Gavvy Cravath and I says how are you hitting them and he says he was still swinging hard and some times they pitched where he was swinging but most of the time they pitched some wheres else. And after that we couldent nether of us think of nothing more to say so we backed a way from each other.

So then I bought a couple of Boston papers and tride to fine out how the foot ball games come out in the conference and they wasent a line a bout them so up to date I havent no idear weather Chicago or Northwestren is city champions. The only westren game mentioned was Michigan and Mt. Union and they might as well of left that out because evry body could pretty near guess the result with out seeing no paper.

So after that I road out to West Newton and acted as best man at a christening and got a way with it fine but the parents of the child dident give me no tip not even a ciggar. So I got mad and come back to the hotel and had supper with Mr. Sanborn but we each paid for our own supper. And after supper I says I thot I better do some work so I come up to my room and the telegraph man had left me a tipe writer to work on and it was a fine looking tipe writer but thats a bout the best you could say for it.

I'm not no mechicle genus Harvey and I dident know how to go at it to make it work so I fooled with it a bout 40 min. with out doing no good and finely Mr. Sanborn come up to give me my pass to the games and I told him what a misserable time I was haveing with the tipe writer and he looked at it and he says Why thats the same tipe writer I had here 1 trip this summer and I had the same trubble with it but I fixxed it. So I says what did you do to fix it and he says he d'dent know. So he shut his eyes and touched 1 of the valves or some thing and evry thing slid into place and now its working all right but I'm not.

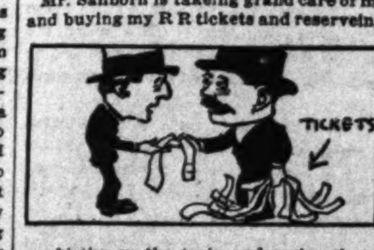

I got so mad wile I was trying to fix the tipe writer that all the idears was knocked out of me.

Well Harvey President Wilson of the U. S. wont be here for the game tomorrow but the mare of Boston will be here and may be I can get a inter view with him. It should ought to be very interesting if I can get it because you know these mares of Boston are funny people with out knowing it. In order to be ellected mare theyve got to be base ball bugs and know how to sing Tessie.

Ive go to go down now and try and fine some of the national commission and buy some tickets for some frends of mine that live here. Its allways the same way with world serious Harvey the people that lives in the town where the game is played cant get no tickets for the game. You half to come from a long ways off to be in right.

Mr. Sanborn is takeing grand care of me and buying my R R tickets and reserveing my births on the train and seeing that I get a room in the diffrunt hotels and fixing up my tipe writer so all in all I'm mighty glad you desided to send him a long.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

The same old familiar ending of Chicago's annual post-season combat for baseball supremacy was staged at Comiskey park yesterday. There was nothing new. The White Sox cleaned up in most decisive style and the Cubs blew. The count was 11 to 3, and now it is all over for another year, with the south siders holding four victories to one for their rivals.

Jim Lavender, who shut out the Sox in the second game of the series, tried to come back and couldn't. For only four innings was he able to battle the enemy on even terms. Then came a stampede. But it wasn't the fault of Lavender. His support went all to smash and five runs came over the plate. George Pierce, the southpaw spitball flinger, went to the mound for the next round and again the Cub defense crumbled, and five more runs came home.

Crowd of 32,666 at Game.

After that there was nothing left to do except complete the nine innings and listen to the shouts of the south side rooters, who turned out in masses and droves just as if assured they would see the burial of the west siders as they had seen it in the four preceding years. There was a tremendous throng present. The exact figures were 32,666. Only once before has a bigger crowd seen these two rival clubs battle, that being in 1911 when over 36,000 paid to see the Sunday contest.

The bright and mild weather made conditions perfect for the finale and an hour before time to start the game the big grandstand was filled. Still the fans poured in and twenty minutes before time to begin they spilled out upon the field. Benches were placed in a big circle around the entire outfield and ropes were put up to keep the throng back. Ground rules were made, a hit into the crowd in either left or right field being good for two bases, while one into the center field part of the circle was allowed three.

Overflow in Field.

Two innings had been played before the entire crowd was taken care of, but the gates never were closed. All were permitted to enter, but those who didn't arrive until the last half hour before starting time were compelled to battle about that long to get inside, and then were herded out on the field.

No one expected such a gathering, but it is thought the management forgot about it being a dry day. All the "wets" in town were there, because they didn't know where else to go. About 15,000 bartenders had the day off, and bartenders generally are great baseball fans. Most of them were at the game with their families.

Cubs Disappoint Fans.

The showing of the Cubs was a keen disappointment to their followers, as well as their manager. The west siders went into the game hoping that Jim Lavender would prove as effective as he did last Thursday when he blanked the slugging south side team, allowing only four hits. Jim wasn't as strong as on the previous occasion. He showed that in the opening rounds of the game, although he managed to escape any great trouble. When the crash finally came in the fifth it was in the form of a complete routing.

Lavender not only weakened in the crisis, but his mates went to pieces, the worst blunder being a wild heave to the grandstand by Heine Zimmerman, letting in two runs and putting the Sox well out in front. After that there were more base hits and more errors.

Both the fifth and sixth innings were stampedes for the south siders, Lavender taking the drubbing in the former and Pierce in the latter. Manager Bresnahan then called Young Pete Standridge to the slab, and as his mate, young Karl Adams, had done on the previous day, Standridge stopped the husky south siders stone still, only to have his efforts wasted, as it was too late to be of use.

Russell Hurls Steady Game.

Reb Russell, the sturdy Texan, did the hurling for the Sox over the entire route and was steady and strong from start to finish. He was compelled to labor to the limit of his power in the early rounds, but after the sixth inning there was nothing to fear. The Cubs made eight blows off him, but five were gathered after the Sox had the game sewed up and hadn't a care in the world.

Until the big crash in the fifth, Russell was engaged in quite a duel with the west side hurler, and things looked so dubious that Manager Rowland had Eddie Cicotte, Joe Benz, and Red Faber all limbering up their arms ready to answer a hurry call for help. But Russell proved capable of handling the enemy, although one blunder of his own and one by John Collins made it a hard fight.

Jackson Scores First Run.

The Sox had batted in a well earned run in the second inning when Jackson led off with a single, moved as far as third on outs by J. Collins and Blackburne, and came home when Schalk singled. That lead was overcome in the first of the third when Russell started badly by hitting Archer with a pitched ball. Lavender bunted Archer to second, and after Murray had fanned Fisher raised an easy pop fly which apparently would come down right over first base. J. Collins called for the catch, but let the wind carry the ball away from him and fall for a single, and Archer got home on the mistake.

When Lavender set the south siders down with ease in the third and fourth, it looked as if there was to be a great contest which might be won by the west siders regardless of tradition. But the big break was started in the fifth when Lena Blackburne opened with a drive into the right center crowd for two bases. Lavender tried to get Schalk with nothing but pit balls and he didn't get 'em over and Schalk refused to swing. A base on balls was the result.

Murphy's Smash Nets Run.

Russell attempted to bunt the pair along, but popped out, and then the real break came when Murphy crashed one down the first base line. Saier was playing on the bag to hold Schalk, but moved in with the pitcher's arm and was unable to reverse and knock down Murphy's smash. It was six inches inside of first and went into the crowd for two bases, letting Blackburne score and Schalk go to third.

The next play practically settled the ball game, and the alertness and activity of Ray Schalk had a lot to do with it. Weaver bounced one down to Zimmerman, who came up with the ball in his hands and faced a crisis. Schalk was ten feet off third, but could have scooted back before Zim could have reached him, and the young Sox catcher was making no move to go home. Zim cut loose to first base to get Weaver, but fired with all his might so that Saier could shoot home in time to head off Schalk if the latter dared to go. The result was a heave over Saier's head, and before the ball could be recovered both Schalk and Murphy were home and Weaver was on second.

Weaver Caught Off Base.

A moment after that Weaver pulled one of his characteristic base running boners, or there is no telling when the Sox would have quit scoring. One of Archer's pegs back to Lavender got away and rolled about ten feet toward third base. Weaver couldn't resist the temptation to dash along the base line, and the result was that Lavender snatched the ball, fired it to second, and Weaver was trapped and run down. That made two out, and there followed a base on balls to E. Collins and singles by Felsch, Jackson, and J. Collins and another wild throw by Heine Zim. Two more runs got in.

When the next round began Pierce appeared on the slab and Schalk greeted him with a drive which escaped Murray after the latter made a great run. The ball went into the crowd for two bases. Russell fanned, but then Pierce had several minutes of misery. Murphy walked and Weaver got a hit on a bounder to deep short. Fisher tried for a force play at second but made a wild peg and Murphy got to third while Schalk scored.

Eddie Collins followed this with a two base drive to left center, Murphy and Weaver scoring, and Felsch singled, sending Eddie home. Felsch took second on a wild pitch, and then Phelan booted Jackson's roller. Felsch took third on the mistake and came home on J. Collins' sacrifice fly. Blackburne ended that rampage with a fly ball to Williams, and thereafter the Sox were tame.

Singles by Saier and Williams and an error by J. Collins gave the Cubs one harmless tally in the seventh and another was counted in the eighth, when Fisher, Heine Zim, and Williams got singles.

Detail of Game.

BY J. J. ALCOCK.

FIRST INNING.

CUBS—With the count two and two, Murray flied to Jackson. Fisher fouled one, then popped to Eddie Collins. Schalk hustled to the stand for Schulte's foul.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Fisher threw out Murphy. Weaver drove a long smash over Williams' head into the crowd for two bases. On a clear field it would have been a triple. Eddie Collins died, Fisher to Saier, Weaver taking third. Fisher's throw beat Felsch to first.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNING.

CUBS—Murphy grabbed Zim's fly. Saier was nailed, Eddie to John Collins. Felsch dropped William's high fly, after a run to right center, and it went as a triple. Eddie Collins tossed out Phelan.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Jackson hit Lavender's first pitch into left for a single, and took second on John Collins' out, Zim to Saier. Jackson got to third while Phelan was throwing out Blackburne, and scored when Schalk slammed a clean single over short. Russell was called out on strikes.

One run, two hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING.

CUBS—A low curve hit Archer on the leg. Lavender sacrificed, Blackburne to Eddie Collins. Murray fanned. John Collins lost Fisher's cinch pop in the sun and it dropped for a single, Archer scoring from second. Fisher died stealing, Schalk to Weaver.

One run, one hit, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Schulte ran in for Murphy's fly. Phelan tossed out Weaver and Eddie Collins.

FOURTH INNING.

CUBS—Schulte drew four straight balls. Zim struck out. Saier forced Schulte, Eddie Collins unassisted, and was caught stealing, Schalk to Eddie Collins.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Felsch walked without getting a strike. Jackson fouled to Archer at the stand and a freak double play resulted. Felsch drew a throw to first, and when the ball hopped away from Saier, Happy started for second. He was nailed, Archer to Saier to Lavender to Phelan. Shano Collins was out, Phelan to Saier.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNING.

CUBS—Williams fanned and Phelan popped to Blackburne. Russell dropped a toss from Shano to first and Archer was saved. Lavender whiffed.

No runs, no hits, one error.

WHITE SOX—Blackburne doubled into the right field crowd. Schalk walked. Russell bunted a pop into Saier's hands. Murphy doubled over first into the crowd, scoring Blackburne and pushing Schalk to third. Weaver tapped to Zim, who hesitated to see what Schalk would do, then threw ten feet over Saier's head to the stand, letting Buck reach second, while Schalk and Murphy counted. Lavender caught Weaver off second, Zim getting the putout while every infielder except Saier earned an assist. Eddie Collins walked. Zim bumped Fisher as Bob was fielding Felsh's roller and it was scored a single, Collins reaching second. Jackson singled to right and Collins scored, while Felsch took third. John Collins crashed a single through short, driving in Felsch with the fifth run. Zim threw badly on Blackburne's bounder for his second error of the round, but Jackson was nailed trying to score, Saier to Archer.

Five runs, five hits, two errors.

SIXTH INNING.

CUBS—Murray fouled to Blackburne and Fisher popped to Weaver. Schulte doubled into the left field throng, but Zim bounded to Shano Collins.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Pierce replaced Lavender for the Cubs. Murray dropped Schalk's lift after a hard run, and it went for a double. Russel fanned. Murphy drew a pass. Weaver beat a hit to short and when Fisher threw wide trying to force Murphy Schalk scored and Murphy reached third. Weaver stole second. Eddie Collins doubled over Williams' head into the overflow in left center, sending Murphy and Weaver home. Felsch single to center, scoring Collins, and Happy moved to second on a wild pitch. Phelan fumbled Jackson's tap. John Collins raised a sacrifice fly to Murray, scoring Felsch. Murray threw to third and Jackson scooted to second. Blackburne's skyscraper to Williams ended the slaughter.

Five runs, four hits, two errors.

SEVENTH INNING.

CUBS—Saier singled into center and Williams beat a shot to John Collins. Phelan forced Williams and was doubled, Weaver to Eddie Collins to Shano Collins. Saier took third and scored when Shano failed to touch first after getting Eddie's throw to retire Archer. Schultz batted for Pierce and was hit by a pitched ball, but Blackburne took Murray's foul.

WHITE SOX—Standridge pitching for the Cubs. Schalk fanned. Standridge heaved out Russell and Murphy lifted one for Zim.

EIGHTH INNING.

CUBS—Fisher beat a slow roller toward third and moved up while Eddie and John Collins turned back Schulte. Murphy lost Zim's easy fly in the sun Williams singled to right, scoring Fisher to third. Saier took a third strike. Williams singled to right, scoring Fisher, but was forced by Phelan, Weaver to Eddie Collins.

One run, three hits, no errors.

WHITE SOX—Zim tossed out Weaver. Eddie Collins flied to Williams, and Felsch popped to Phelan.

NINTH INNING.

CUBS—Archer perished, Eddie to John Collins. Hargrave went up for Standridge and lofted to Eddie Collins. Eddie then gathered in Murray's pop for the last putout of the series.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

CLEVELAND NIPS OMAHA, 11-6

Cleveland, O., Oct. 10.—By beating the Luxus team of Omaha, 11 to 6, this afternoon in Brookside stadium the White Autos of Cleveland won the amateur baseball championship east of the Pacific coast. The winners are scheduled to play the Tacoma team, champions of the coast, at San Francisco for the world's title.

PLAYERS HOWL WHEN BIG COIN GOES TO CLUBS

Say Two Games Were Staged in the Cold to Freeze Them Out of Sunday Share.

BY SAM WELLER.

There was a loud and pronounced squawk emitted by nearly every member of the White Sox and Cubs as they gazed at the big crowd which attended the final game of the city series at Comiskey park yesterday. More than $21,000 was taken in at the gate and the players got nary a cent of it. They squawked because they felt they had been cruelly treated, either by the weather man or by the club owners, for the things which happened Thursday and Friday, when it was so cold and cloudy only small crowds attended the games.

The players share in only the first four games of the series. The fourth game was the game of Saturday. They declared the games of Thursday and Friday should have been postponed, because of the weather. If that had been done the players would have shared in the money taken in from the big crowd of yesterday and in another game today.

Smallest Shares in Years.

As it ended, the players on the Sox will receive about $420 apiece, while each Cub will get a little less than $300, the smallest amounts they have been handed for years, and only about half of what they expected.

By figuring one can show where the players lost just about $10,000 because the owners made them play on the two cold days. If they hadn't they would have shared in the Wednesday game, the Saturday game, the Sunday game, and the game which would have been played today. Their share for Wednesday was $6,375.10. The players' share for Saturday was $4,741. If the Sunday game had been the third the players' share would have been $11,407.68, and if the fourth game was to be played today it would be safe to say that the athletes' end would be as much as $3,000, figuring there would be nice weather.

That would have made a players' pool of approximately $25,500. But as they did not share yesterday and had to accept the small receipts of the cold days of Thursday and Friday, their end totaled only $15,512.01.

Costly to Every Player.

Figuring further, one will find that it meant a difference of just about $400 to each man on the winning team and about $300 to each man on the losing team. On the other hand, it meant that the club owners got the big money of yesterday and each is several thousand dollars richer because of having played the games on the two cold days.

"Leave it to the big bosses to cop all the dough," said one of the Sox players after the game yesterday. "They have all the say as to whether the games shall be played or be postponed. They never would have considered playing on such days as Thursday and Friday if it had been in the regular season. They would have postponed the games in a hurry and booked double headers for later on, so as to get more dough."

"They always told me Comiskey was a friend of the ball player," said one of the Cubs. "I understand he was responsible for our playing on the two cold days. Consequently he gets the big money from the big Sunday crowd and the ball player gets his little mite which came in on the cold days."

Both Magnates Dissatisfied.

Neither President Comiskey of the Sox nor President Thomas of the Cubs commented on the situation, but it was recalled that Comiskey expressed great disappointment after employing a lot of high salaried players only to have them beaten out of the pennant and that several times during the season President Thomas complained of the poor showing of his highly paid men, who were performing so badly the fans wouldn't come out to look at them.

FEDS MAY SELL PLANT TO YANKS

New York, Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Another conference between organized baseball and Federal league representatives was held here today. The members of the national commission, Chairman Herrmann and Messrs. Johnson and Tener, came here from Philadelphia directly after yesterday world's series game and remained until after the conference before continuing to Boston for the third game of the series tomorrow.

All parties maintained that the meeting was informal and that nothing definite in the way of a possible compromise to end the baseball war was suggested.

The newest angle is that the Wards are willing to sell their Federal league plant in Brooklyn to Col. Ruppert and Capt. Huston, owners of the New York American league club. This would enable the Yankee magnates to obtain a modern fireproof plant without building one, and also would let the manufacturers of buns recoup some of their losses.

President Johnson of the American league is openly opposed to any dickering that will give the Federal league advertising in connection with the world's series, but has been induced to listen to the Federal league proposition of compromise by his friendship for Messrs. Ruppert and Huston, who hate to see a lot of concrete stands given over to the wreckers when they need a plant of that sort themselves, rather than play at the Polo grounds any longer.

If the situation in the other cities can be shaped up so that the third clubs can be eliminated from Chicago and St. Louis, President Johnson may yield to the plan to accept the Brookfed plant as the future home for the Yankees, although another site for an American league park in New York already has been secured.

No scheme that entails the formation of two ten club major leagues meets the sanction of baseball men, however. The ten club circuit has been tried before and it does not work out as well as a six club circuit, for instance. There is Judge Landis, whose decision of the case brought before him last winter may make easier the task of arranging an entirely new baseball map, with the regular cities of big league class included in one circuit, as already forecast in these columns, as the ultimate result of this tangle.

THE "break" in Saturday's world series game, which Boston won, 2 to 1, thereby wiping out the advantage of Alexander's victory Friday, came in the very first inning. Hooper drew a base on balls, and with one gone went to third on Speaker's single. Tris started a double steal and was thrown out, Burns to Niehoff. Hooper made a late start for home, and Niehoff's relay to Burns had the Red Sox killed, but Burns dropped the throw. In the photograph Burns is shown scrambling for the escaped sphere, while Hooper is sliding safely to the plate with the first run of the game, which was the margin of Boston's victory.

Post-Mortem Comment.

BY CHARLES A. COMISKEY.

It was a glorious climax to the baseball season in Chicago, and I want to thank the fans of the world's greatest baseball town for the way they have supported the White Sox all season. Yesterday's magnificent crowd and the wonderful enthusiasm displayed all through the game demonstrated beyond a doubt that this is the real baseball center of the country. I tried to get a world's championship for Chicago this year, but it couldn't be done, and I'm not complaining. Next year we will try again, and if only to reward the loyalty of our followers I hope we have better luck.

BY CHARLES H. THOMAS.

It isn't easy to say so, but the series would indicate the White Sox are the better team. Maybe it would be closer to say they were the better team for the five days that the city championship lasted. I extend my congratulations to both Comiskey and Rowland, and I hope we can get together again next year—but for a world's title.

BY CLARENCE ROWLAND.

Of course I am delighted, but if we had been beaten I would have been a lot more disappointed than I am hilarious under present conditions. I learned one thing during this series—Roger Bresnahan is a mighty fine fellow. He was the first to congratulate me after the last putout was made. I had hoped to win a world's championship for Comiskey, but we can't all be on top. Now I want to thank the baseball fans of Chicago for the way they treated me and my players all season. It's a great ball town, the best in the country. The fans here sure deserve a world's championship club. Let's hope they get it next year.

BY ROGER BRESNAHAN.

No alibi from this quarter. We were outplayed, that was all. We fought them as hard as we could. It was a sorry ending to my first season as a manager in Chicago, but it can't be helped. Better luck next time.

City Series Sidelights.

That will be all until April 1916

Unless—happy thought—O. B. should decide to let the winner of that eastern series meet the Whales for the undisputed championship of the world.

Did you smile? Well, call it finis for 1915.

That person Connolly, as C. W. M. calls him, was behind the bat again, but under the conditions no one had much chance for complaint.

Comiskey will lead his annual party up to h's Wisconsin camp on Wednesday. Rowland will stay over to make the jaunt, then will return to Dubuque for the winter.

Eddie and John Collins and Tommy Daly started for the east last night, and expect to see Tuesday's world series game at Boston. Most of the other south side players will dig for winter quarters today.

With the bars closed, most of the ticker fans had to go out to the park to keep informed regarding the battle. Those parties and the 15,000 barkeeps who had a day off probably helped make the crowd so great.

When Eddie Collins rushed for the Sox dugout after grabbing the final putout he was chased by a mob of kids. One of them snatched his cap, but Eddie recovered it and got into the clubhouse with his wearing apparel intact.

Jackson slid into second when Zim threw out Shano in the second frame. The Cubs left third base unguarded, but by the time Hickory Joe got his clothes brushed off Fisher and Zim both were heading for the bag.

On the Sox bench the players were speculating on the attendance. Eddie Collins, who has seen many world's series gatherings, ventured the opinion that the crowd totaled 32,581. The actual figures were 32,666 paid. Eddie was eighty-five off. Some calculating.

Buck Weaver and Jim Scott, with Mrs. Weaver and the latter's sisters, the Misses Cook, will leave town quietly in a few days to try out their new vodeville skit in near-by towns, after which they will return to give the people of Chicago a treat.

Doc Slattery, Comiskey's old friend from Dubuque, was present at the game, having chaperoned a party of Dubuquers and Cascaders who came in to see Rowland and Faber, their respective and eminent townsmen. Faber will leave Tuesday to rejoin the boys at Cascade, where he will spend the winter.

Sad to relate, the players didn't cut in on the receipts. Their bit ended Saturday. There was a lot of grumbling on both benches as the athletes saw the crowd swell to overflow proportions. But what if they played in St. Louis, where Browns and Cards have to double up on holidays to draw anything like real money?

Roger was coaching at third base when Eddie Collins made the final putout. He dashed to the Sox bench, grabbed Rowland by the hand, and said: "Congratulations, Clarence. You had the better team. And from what I have seen of you in this series I am ready to believe all the good things they have been saying about you all year." That tickled Rowland immensely.

Planted far out in center field were two American flags to mark the boundaries for ground rules. A drive anywhere between the flags meant three bases, while hits into the crowd at any other spot were good for only two cushions. No one drove the ball into the three base section. Williams made a triple because his smash didn't roll into the crowd after Felsch dropped it.

COMMY RETAINS ROWLAND AS LEADER OF WHITE SOX.

"Who'll manage your club next year, Commy?"

An enthusiastic friend who rushed into President Comiskey's office after the White Sox triumph yesterday nearly caused a riot with that point blank question.

"Rowland will be right back," retorted Comiskey. "There never was any chance of his being dropped, regardless of all these reports. Of course I was disappointed in not winning our pennant, but I am not blaming Rowland. He got all that could be asked out of an entirely new team. And, anyway, winning the championship of Chicago is second in line only to a world's title."

WIEDS TO PLAY MURLEYS TEAM FOR CITY TROPHY

Wiederrechts and Murleys are the only teams left in the Sweitzer cup race as a result of yesterday's games. The former team defeated South Chicago, 8 to 1, while the Murleys put out the Ideal Billiards, 3 to 2. The Wiederrechts' victory was the second one in two days at the grounds at Iowa street and Western avenue and was due to Moran's lack of control.

Two hits in the first and three in the second each netted a run. Moran's downfall occurred in the sixth, when five hits in a row, four of them coming after two were down, scored four runs. South Chicago made a run in the seventh on Hanson's single and Moran's double.

Sellers Pitches Good Game.

Stellers was in good form in spite of his heroic efforts the day before, although his strike out ball was not as effective. He was steady with men on base, while he was given errorless support. Score:

WHALES' SEVEN IN OPENER DOWN GUNTHERS, 10 TO 3.

Two former Cubs, Mordecai Brown and Eddie Stack, faced each other at the Fed park yesterday when the Whales and Gunthers clashed, the new Fed champs winning easily, 10 to 3. The Whales tucked the combat away in the opening session on five hits, three passes, two errors, and a couple of passed balls, which netted seven runs. Brown had the local club eating out of his hand throughout the game and only let up in the latter innings when the Gunthers scored three.

Charlie Pechous, who helped in the first inning to pile up a big score, sprained his ankle in the second inning when he tried to steal home. He may not be able to play again this season. Score:

SOLDIERS BEAT MAGNETS IN LITZINGER SERIES, 9-7.

Uncle Sam's ball players turned loose their guns on Barney Coss and the Magnets at the old Logan Square park yesterday and captured a stubborn eight inning tussel in the Litzinger cup series, 9 to 7. The Kankakee club was eliminated by Chicago Heights, 8 to 2, while the Normals fell out by forfeiting.

The Magnets got the best of the start in their battle with the Army players and led, 5 to 1, at the end of the fourth round. Score:

ALEXANDER TO FACE LEONARD TODAY IN BATTLE AT BOSTON

So far Boston has made eighteen hits to Philadelphia's eight, and there have been three two baggers, of which the Morans have made two. That is about the expected margin of difference between the two teams in batting strength. But the Phillies have been able to get more for their swats, comparatively speaking, than the Carrigans have, and therein lies the mental factor, or call it luck if you will. They are sometimes synonymous in baseball.

Defensively the two teams have been about on a par, barring Barry, who has played a wonderful fielding game all the time. But the Red Sox have pulled mental blunders which are not so likely to happen again, and these have shown on the infield.

The Red Sox outfield has not had a chance to demonstrate its superiority because there isn't enough ground to cover in the Philly lot to tax the speed of anybody except on an occasional line drive. The Braves' park is a little bigger than Comiskey park, and that is plenty big enough for any outfielder to run himself to death after the long drives.

Six Game Series Expected.

The general belief now is that the two combatants will break even in the two games to be played here tomorrow and Tuesday, necessitating six games to decide the championship, but that after that Carrigan will have so much the better of the argument on the pitching business that he ought to win the fifth and sixth games.

The only opponents to this forecast declare that Chalmers will come across with the same kind of a dark horse stunt that Mayer did and will win if he has a run or two for a margin. In other words, it is not believed possible for Alexander to pitch three of the next four games without weakening, unless a spell of rain comes to his rescue, and the Red Sox decline to admit the chance of defeat by anybody except the great Aleck.

Hub Forgets Blue Laws.

Boston disregarded all the blue laws in New England today when the two teams arrived by special train. Although their special was late and landed its precious freight right in the middle of church time, thousands of rooters packed the vicinity of the Back Bay station to cheer the Red Sox and size up the Phillies as they disembarked.

The Royal Rooters' band actually had the temerity to spring "Tessie" on the sacred Sabbath atmosphere. What is more, the band got by without being arrested, probably because it played the "Doxology" gravely and demurely between each outburst of the now famous "Tessie."

The rooters and scribes who accompanied the two teams on their special found the better class of hotels crowded to the eaves, and those who had not made reservations faced the possibility of sleeping under concrete sidewalks in the chill October air. And only the advance guard of the fans has arrived. The real crush is expected tomorrow.

Attendance Record in Danger.

All day long the distribution of reserved seats for Braves park went on uninterruptedly, and so large is the supply that it is not thought the scalpers will try to cut in for fear of being stung. The most authentic sources of information tonight indicated there would be even reserved seats left to put on sale before the game, and the supply of general admissions, none of which has been sold in advance, will be generous.

With the perfect weather predicted, it is expected all baseball attendance records will be shattered here in the next two days on account of the size of the new Braves park, which will be used for that purpose.

BEACONSFIELD WINS FIRST.

Beaconsfield won its opening game in the finals of the Knights of Pythias league yesterday, defeating Carnahan, 7 to 4, at Sears-Roebuck park. Arenberg fanned sixteen men and held the losers to four hits. The clubs will play a three game series for the city pennant. Score:

Beaconsfield ......0 0 4 0 2 0 1 0 *—7
Carnahan ......1 0 0 2 1 0 0 0 0—4

Errors—Brenner, Goodwin, Whitehouse [3], Bannes. Three base hit—G. Stobber. Home run—Greenspahn. Struck out—Arenberg, 16; Hunter, 4; Stobber, 7. Bases on balls—Arenberg, 1.

GOLFING BARONS KICK REAL HARD TO CHANGE DRAW

Donaghey Says George O'Neil's Plan Remains the Best by Far Yet Shown.

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

Both Jerome Travers and Walter J. Travis are enrolled among the "golf barons," to employ Grantland Rice's phrase, who are in rebellion against the present method of drawing in the annual championship tournament of the United States Golf association. Travers, of course, regards himself as a conspicuous victim of the method in the Detroit contest for the national; and nobody can justly question the assertion that his being put out so early in the tourney robbed the event of one of its real stars. And, as he is of the very aristocracy of international golf, it is hardly to be expected that he can see the U. S. G. A. draw as the logical preservative of the sheer amateurism of the chief annual event in the United States.

Travis, while not an entrant, and, by that token, not a sufferer at Detroit, is just as sturdy as Travers in asserting his belief that the plan is all wrong, all wrong. Which makes it so nearly unanimous that, perhaps, there is no call to consider the opposed opinions of the officials of the U. S. G. A., even though nobody in all the world questions the austerity and purity of their attitude toward amateur golf as a sport.

Travers' Plan and O'Neil's.

Travers is back of a plan which, in some respects, bears a strong resemblance to that proffered by George O'Neil of the Beverly Country club. O'Neil's notion of how the draw should be made for not only the national amateur but also for all other amateur and mixed tourneys was outlined by me in THE TRIBUNE of Sept. 26. Other golfers of prominence, both amateur and professional, have suggested plans of varying degrees of practicability. Most of them have merit, although some of them, it seems to me, would, if put into effect, gum up a big tourney beyond solution.

So far as I have studied the various remedial schemes put forward, O'Neil's remains the best, because the most comprehensive and inclusive Rice's "barons," in their suggested revision of method, seem to be animated by the idea that the two chief events, the national amateur and the national open, ought really to be fought out, year after year, among themselves. I do not mean to say that they consciously urge anything so unsportsmanlike; but to read what they say is to gain the impression that they are, at heart, of the belief that their baronies are in perpetuity; that senility will never overtake them, and that immortality on the links is to be their portion.

U. S. G. A. Is Receptive.

A great many golfers who have run afoul of the U. S. G. A. rulings and have as a consequence regarded themselves as unfairly treated by that body are cynical in their attitude toward the agitation for a change in the law. Their expressed belief is that the officials of the body regard their rules and rulings as immutable and that none save Bourbons, learning nothing and forgetting less, may hold office.

Nothing could be farther from the facts. There is no logical reason to suppose that the association would not jump at any new plan for more satisfactory tourney rules if convinced that the innovation would be in perfect alignment with the ethics of amateur sport. The officials who were in direction at Detroit were keenly conscious that the showmanship of the tournament was shot to shreds by the result of the draw; but they were rightly adamant when it was suggested to them—and you may pin your entire equipment of ready credulity to me when I tell you that it was suggested to them a million times per diem—that there was anything unfair in the method of the draw.

It's Up to the Amateurs.

Necessarily their attitude is judicial. That's why there is a United States Golf association. It is the supreme court of the game in this country. It is the custodian here of the great body of common and written law which is come to American golfers from the shrine, St. Andrews.

There is plenty of time between now and next June to put through a new plan—if it be a plan which squares with true amateurism. It is up to the golfers themselves. The amateurs, that is. The best plan may come from a professional. As I have said, the best plan so far put forward is a professional's. But neither O'Neil's plan nor any other plan will be adopted until the amateurs transfer their revisionary zeal from the locker room to the court of appeals—the U. S. G. A. itself.

Travers and the Golf Shots.

Travers, by the way, has some interesting matter in the current American magazine under the title of "Heroes of Wood and Iron." I find in one paragraph, headed "Hardest and Easiest Shots," what I care to regard as confirmation of what I have said in THE TRIBUNE to the effect that, although the so-called "season" is virtually ended, now is the time to attend to the betterment of next year's game.

Says Travers: "I should say the hardest shot in the game is the full iron to the green. Running a close second is the mashie-pitch. There are fewer golfers by far who can play these two shots well than those who are good drivers or good putters. The easiest shot in golf is the drive and the simplest is the putt, but as putting is almost purely a mental proposition it probably varies more with all players than any other shot."

THE CAUSE.

[From Tribune Oct. 4.]

Mr. Woodruff: Will you please publish this notice in Monday morning's paper?

TRIBUNE COPY BOYS.

Special Notice to Paddy Ryan.

Paddy Ryan of the HERALD showed his yellow streak by not showing up yesterday at Grant Park with his team, the Chicago Heralds. The game was given to the Tribune Copy Boys by default, the score being 9 to 0. The Tribune boys still claim the championship of all the newspapers. The Tribune boys will play a game with any newspaper in Chicago that is of their own age. If any of them want a game, please call Ed Herbeck any time after 6 p. m., except on Sundays.

ED HERBECK,
Manager Tribune Team.

[From Herald Oct. 5.]

THE COMEBACK.

Mr. Foreman: Please put this in our paper tonight. HERALD COPY BOYS.

The Tribune boys have no kick coming. They did not show up all at one time. The bunch at the HERALD were discusted because the bragos had not shown up. But if they will be at grant park sunday they will hear from us. We will play these bums for anything they want, money or anything they want.

PADDY RYAN,
Manager HERALD Team.

THE RESULT.

THE TRIBUNE copy boys defeated the Herald copy boys at Grant park yesterday by a score of 23 to 3. The game only lasted five innings, but that was enough for to let THE TRIBUNE boys win.

The Herald must have been afraid of us because they refused to play for even the forfeit which was posted a few days before. They claimed to have a semipro pitcher, but he didn't even look like a good prairie team thrower.

The feature of the game was homers by Flasny and Mongoven. Hough pitched exceptionally well for THE TRIBUNE boys. Score:

Herald	3	0	0	0	0	3	6	6

Batteries—Hough and Doberty; Bebber and Schulte.

Two base hits—O'Leary, Ward, Mongoven. Three base hits—O'Leary, Mongoven, Doberty, Flasny, Ward. Home runs—Mongoven, Flasny.

P. S. to Editor: We would of sent in a box score but the Herald kids throwed their lineup away after the game.

BRICKLAYERS BEAT M'DUFFS IN MATCH FOR SOCCER TROPHY

BY J. G. DAVIS.

In a strenuously fought match under difficult conditions the Bricklayers defeated the McDuffs, 3 to 1, in the first round of the annual competition for the Peel soccer trophy at Comiskey park yesterday afternoon.

Both teams exhibited a strong defense, but the Bricklayers' forwards combined a little better and their shooting was more incisive, two of the goals being the result of brilliant work. One was a long range shot from the left by Scotty Mair, and the other a finely headed goal by White on a cross from Taylor.

Bricklayers [3].		McDuffs [1].
Birchall	Goal	Vilt
Black	Right back	Dalrymple

Goals—Mair, Whiteside, White. Goal from penalty—Ross. Referee—Dempsey.

Pullmans, 24; Heights, 0.

The Pullman team, holders of the Peel trophy, broke the local record and possibly the national record by scoring 24 goals against Washington Heights at Pullman, the visitors being unable to score. Page and Shallcross each made seven goals. Lineup:

Washington Heights.		Pullman.
H. Crowther	Goal	Holmes

Blues, 5; Milwaukee, 2.

The Hyde Park Blues, who did not enter the Peel cup competition, played a team from the Milwaukee District Soccer league and won, 5 to 2, at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue. In the first half Burton headed the ball into his own goal. In the second period Snedden, playing at center forward, made two goals, Marley, Fletcher, and Hush getting one each. Watt scored for Milwaukee.

The Chicago Americans outplayed the International Harvesters, 9 to 0, at Forty-eighth avenue and Sixteenth street. Lees of the American team strained his right leg and had to leave the field after ten minutes of play.

The Chicago Swedes, who had been defeated by the Corinthians in the league series, turned the table in the cup event and won, 3 to 1, at Fifty-second avenue and Madison street. The Corinthian forward line was unable to overcome the strong defense of the Swedes. Each side scored once in the first half.

RIVALS' SCORES WORRY MAROON FOOTBALL FANS

Work of Illini, Badgers, and Gophers Stirs Midway; Scanlon May Be Out.

BY MAROON.

Celebrations on the Midway yesterday after the 7 to 0 defeat of Northwestern by the Maroons were few. There was little joy on the campus after the narrow scrape the Staggs had in their first conference struggle, and the big scores made by Illini, Badgers, and Gophers were not conducive to a serene Sabbath for football fans. The score of the Purple game was satisfactory, for a single touchdown was about all that was expected against the vastly improved Northwestern eleven.

The victory was far from an impressive one, for twice the Purple was in a position where a field goal would have given Murphy's men the lead. Once Driscoll missed by inches from the thirty-five yard line. His second kick went squarely between the posts, but it was not allowed because the whistle had blown before the pass from center.

Forced to Show Trick.

On the next play Schafer broke through and blocked the attempt, deflecting the ball to Agar, who ran to midfield. Pete Russell then opened up on the shift play which Coach Stagg was saving for later games and the Maroons showed a consistent attack for the first time, marching down the field for the only score of the game.

Scanlon was the only Maroon to suffer an injury of any importance. Butch lasted a little more than one quarter before the knee which has several times threatened to end his football career gave way. Whether the injury is serious is not known, but it is hardly possible that the veteran guard will be seen in the Indiana game next week. He suffered a similar bump in the early practice and was on the sidelines for ten days as a result.

Renew Practice Today.

Agar was taken out, but because there was only two minutes to play and the game was safe. The remainder of the squad came through in fine shape. Practice for the Hoosier game will start this afternoon, because Coach Stagg has a great deal to say to his men.

LEADING PILOTS MAY RACE IN 100 MILE AUTO EVENT.

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—A hundred mile race for the winners of all the big automobile races of the year may be held on election day over the Sheepshead Bay speedway. Competing in it would be be Gil Anderson, winner of Saturday's contest for the Astor cup; Dario Resta, who took the Vanderbilt, the Grand prix and the Chicago Derby; Ed Rickenbacker, victor at Sioux City and Omaha, and Ralph Mulford, Ralph De Palma, and Grover Ruckstell, winners at Des Moines, Indianapolis, and Tacoma, respectively.

It is possible also that Earl Cooper, who won the minor race at Elgin, Ill., preliminary to that won by Anderson, will be permitted to take part.

Harry Stutz, the manufacturer of Saturday's two winning cars, it was learned, had underestimated the speed of his own make, for he paid $100 to one of the managers of the track on a bet that the winning car of the Astor race could not make more than two miles an hour better time than the winner of the Chicago Derby. As a matter of fact, Anderson, his own driver, made five miles an hour faster.

LINE DRIVE KILLS CHILD.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—While sitting on his father's knee watching a ball game at Gillespie this afternoon Thomas Fisher, 5 years old, was hit over the heart by a line drive and instantly killed. The boy was the son of James Fisher, a miner.

NEWS OF THE BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL WORLD, INVESTORS' GUIDE.

INSURANCE MEN RALLY TUESDAY

Chicago Life Underwriters Will Hear Address by John I. D. Bristol.

BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

The Chicago Life Underwriters association will have one of its most important meetings of the year at the Hotel La Salle tomorrow noon. The speaker will be John I. D. Bristol of New York City, general agent of the Northwestern Mutual Life. Mr. Bristol's talk will appeal to a number of the men who carry the rate book. His subject will be "Life Insurance Commissions for Life Insurance Men Only."

Mr. Bristol is regarded as the chief factor in the movement to eliminate the part time life insurance agent. In season and out he has advocated that life insurance soliciting should be limited to those who qualify for the work and who will give all their time to it. He believes that the subagents have an opportunity now to make themselves heard by general agents and home offices. Mr. Bristol contends that many of the evils in the life insurance business are due to the part time man, who has few qualifications that fit him for his task.

Sees Skilled Agents Needed.

Mr. Bristol believes that the people demand that those engaged in life insurance work be able to diagnose their individual cases and fit policies to suit them. The part time men, he says, simply impede the work of those who are seriously and legitimately engaged in the business.

The securing of Mr. Bristol for this important address is due to President George R. McLeran of the Chicago association, who is in sympathy with Mr. Bristol's views and who during his administration has advocated the policy set forth by the New Yorker. Mr. Bristol will speak especially to the subagents and the Chicago association is making an effort to get out all the men who are interested in this subject. Mr. Bristol's own agency in New York City is an embodiment of the principles that he advocates. There are no part time men in his employ. He takes no brokerage business from agents of other companies.

Department Store Insurance.

Arthur Hawxhurst insurance manager for Marshall Field & Co., was one of the speakers during the week before the world's insurance congress at San Francisco. Mr. Hawxhurst outlined the insurance policy of Marshall Field & Co., representing a department store owning vast values. He said that Marshall Field & Co. carry about twenty different kinds of insurance, all of which is written in old line stock companies with one or two exceptions.

He advocated buying only the best kind of insurance, and said that if a policyholder considers his rate too high he should take it up with his agent, require the makeup of the rate to be shown, and then have the agent point out how it can be reduced by making improvements in the risk. When these improvements are made a lower rate is secured and the fire hazard is greatly minimized.

Agents' Meeting in Indiana.

At the annual meeting of the National Association of Insurance Agents, held in Indianapolis during the week, Clarence S. Pellet of Chicago was made chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Pellet has been active in the affairs of the organization since its early life. E. C. Roth of Buffalo was elected president of the organization. The organization raised $3,000 in subscriptions to be paid each year, thus making $9,000 for the three years to carry on the extension work of the organization. It is planned to send paid organizers in the field and increase the membership. The plan of raising the fund was to sell shares of $10 each, payable annually.

One of the notable addresses was by George D. Webb of Chicago, president of the National Association of Casualty and Surety Agents and a member of the firm of Conkling, Price & Webb. Mr. Webb said that the public can be counted on to be fair with the insurance men if their efforts are wisely directed.

Reynolds on Insurance Laws.

At the annual meeting of the Fire Underwriters' Association of the Northwest, held in Chicago last week, A. A. Maloney of Kansas City, Mo., state agent of the Continental Insurance company, was elected president after a hard campaign, his opponent being Cyrus Woodbury of Columbus, O. The convention brought some six or seven hundred field workers of fire insurance companies to Chicago.

One of the main addresses was given by George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, Chicago. He said that there has been too much legislation in restraint of trade and fire insurance. He said that harmful and ill advised legislative interference with fire insurance reacts upon the business world. He said that while the people must have modifications and changes in the laws corresponding with the march of civilization, no enactment should be so drastic or revolutionary as to hamper any business, and especially one that so nearly approaches the quasi-public function as fire insurance.

EXCHANGE RATES WORRY BRITISH

London Bankers Hope New Loan Will Be Used Quickly, Finance Man Says.

BY FRANCIS W. HIRST.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—City bankers are not satisfied with American exchange and hope that suitable arrangements for the skillful employment of the new exchange loan funds will be devised speedily. Among shrewd observers I notice a feeling that the war's pace is too fast and furious to last.

Russian exchange remains fairly steady, considering the recent large issues of paper currency. It is helped by the arrangements made here for the deposit of Russian bonds.

The sudden rise of cotton caused a slackness in the Lancashire textile trade. Government orders have fallen off, while China and India are not buying. Weaving machinery is especially slack. Pauperism returns are lower than ever, owing to the general mobilization of all labor.

Draft Believed Abandoned.

Lord Derby's appointment as head of the recruiting bureau indicates that the government still maintains the voluntary principle, as opposed to conscription.

The budget may be further modified but no suggestion has been made for export duties. We have to consume as little and export as much as possible This is the whole economic duty of the British.

Spain now is very prosperous financially. The Bank of Spain's gold holdings are the largest on record, and more is going out from London. Barcelona districts are manufacturing for the French government, hence the strength of the peseta.

Money here is easier, and plenty of gold is still to be found for export. The stock markets, of course, are stagnant, awaiting more news.

Trading Light on Bourse.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The bourse again has been concerned chiefly with liquidation and in consequence trading has been very light. American coppers provided about the only feature. Miami rose 10 francs on rumors that the company would be absorbed by the Anaconda, while Chino, Lays, and Utan also were in demand.

The Bank of France gained another $50,000,000 in gold, while at the same time $200,000,000 was added to the note circulation and another $200,000,000 was advanced to the state on the war loan account.

The Anglo-French loan in America gives great satisfaction, but has not had the effect on exchange that was hoped for in many quarters. Alfred Heidelbach of Heidelbach & Ickelheimer explains this by the amount of the loan. He says that normally the country spends $300,000,000 here a year, but this year, of course, that will be missing, and practically the only thing to replace it is the Anglo-French loan.

Considering the huge purchases in America, the loan can be expected only to steady the exchange and not to reduce the rate.

MEN'S WEAR.

If the present demand for heavyweights in the men's wear branch of the piece goods market continues, some mills may be induced to manufacture the desired goods, despite the fact that the season is officially over for them. The prices for which heavyweights are now selling are very tempting. Furthermore, all indications point to a long and severe winter. The clothiers had little in the way of stock goods to draw upon, owing to the conservative operations of the mills. A scarcity exists now, and is likely to grow more serious as the demand for garments over the counter increases. It might be a profitable undertaking for some of the mills which are adapted to making quick shifts to turn out what is required.

The woolen mills working on orders for foreign governments will complete their present contracts by the end of this month. During the past week, however, there has been a renewal of activity on the part of the purchasing commissioners, and it is generally believed that new orders will be given out next week sufficient to keep the mills employed to the end of the year. There are supplemental orders to the contracts now being carried out for the Italian government, and additional blankets will be required in large quantities. While there is no prospect at present of receiving business of this nature from England, it would not be surprising to hear of further orders from that country in the near future.

Factors in the piece goods market are wondering just what will happen if anything like a normal demand for overcoats is made on the clothiers. Stocks are very low, and the cold weather is sure to bring with it repeat orders from the retailers. Unless the clothiers in the meantime have supplied themselves with the necessary goods the orders from the retail trade will have to go by the board. Advances on overcoatings are being asked now and obtained with little difficulty. Any attempt on the part of the buyer to "bear" the market is met with an uncompromising "No." Heavyweight stocks carried over from last season are sold at the prices they were opened at, and in some cases at advances of 5 cents a yard.

Spring Shoe Business Booming.

Late reports from the shoe trade indicate a better advance business from the road than had been sent in up to this time last year, in spite of the higher cost of raw materials and manufacture and the resultant higher prices on many grades of merchandise. The buying has been done almost entirely on shoes of a staple or semi-staple nature, the retailers being unwilling as yet to gamble on the probable style features of the season at the present time. Business from the south is said to be coming along nicely, that from Florida being said in some quarters to show the best proportionate gain. New England is one of the slow spots just now, it is said, but it is believed that this business will catch up before long. One of the features is the increased demand for tennis and other sport shoes.

WOMEN'S WEAR.

Reports from the lace trade differ quite a little as to the quantity of merchandise now being taken by the retail trade, but the best indications appear to be the demand can hardly be called more than fairly good at best. One of the largest importers in New York said that it took so much effort to sell goods that all the pleasure and a good deal of the profit of doing business had been destroyed. Metal laces continue to move pretty well, and the call for nets, especially from the cutters-up, is said to be good. The other varieties are trailing more or less. Indications in the embroidery field are that, while business has shown improvement over last year to date, the gain has not been so good as anticipated as a result of the early reports heard. There is not overmuch life to the business that is being done on these goods by the retail trade.

It is a rare kind of cotton goods, gray, bleached, or colored, that has not been boosted as to price as a result of the sharp upturn in cotton, and those fabrics that have so far escaped will doubtless be advanced in the immediate future. The advances run all the way up to a cent or more a yard, though the larger ones are mainly on gray goods. Well known, trade marked lines of bleached cottons are being moved up from day to day, a fair average advance being half a cent a yard. One of the leading sellers of bleached 4-4 goods said yesterday that he could not advance prices on his best known fabrics because he had none to sell for immediate delivery. All the future business taken is being booked at value. He promises, however, that when he gets some goods to ship the at-value price will show a nice advance over the last definite price put on the goods in question.

There was a good movement of printcloths in the local gray goods market Saturday, prices being firmly held throughout. There were reports to the effect that certain constructions, notably 39 inch 56-44s and 68-72s, could be had for spot delivery at prices lower than those listed below, but the best information was to the effect that this was not true. It was said in an authoritative quarter that all the goods available at prices less than the full market figure had been absorbed, and that the only immediate hope of even a slight shading laid in the possible further letting out of goods by second hands. Some of the individual orders placed yesterday were of good size, there being at least two sales of 10,000 pieces each. The call for sheetings were good, inquiries for 500,000 to 1,000,000 yards of constructions suitable for bags, being told of. Drills were fairly active and firmly held. Spot printcloth prices were:

Phones of Accident; Overcome.

George Schlein, 5484 Quincy street, an engineer employed at 119 West Lake street, was sitting at a telephone yesterday telling his wife that his hand had just been crushed in an engine when he fell unconscious. Mrs. Schlein notified the police and they found Schlein on the floor.

Montana Power.

J. N. S.—The Montana Power company is about to begin furnishing power to operate Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul trains in the western part of Montana. If the experiment proves as satisfactory to the railway company as is expected the other railways operating through that territory will no doubt install the same system. Aside from this prospect the power company has the future growth of population and development of its territory to give it increased business. In the seven months ended July 31 its earnings were equal to 4 per cent a year on the $24,000,000 of common stock now entitled to dividends. Earnings have been gaining this year, as operations in the copper mines increased and are now thought to be at the rate of 5 or 6 per cent on the common. As more common stock will be entitled to dividends next year and still more later, the position of the common stock is purely speculative for the present.

Booth Fisheries.

F. C. W.—The Booth Fisheries company debentures are not secured by mortgage, but the indenture provides that if any new obligations are created the new debt shall be junior to the debentures. Except for $336,000 of bonds on certain cold storage plants ahead of them, the debentures, now outstanding to the amount of $3,837,000, thus have first claim on the $8,000,000 or $9,000,000 assets of the company. A sinking fund is reducing the issue, and average earnings for several years past have been more than twice the interest and sinking fund charge. While not ultraconservative, the debentures appear to be fairly well secured.

Chevrolet Motor.

H. H.—The old Chevrolet Motor company, whose business forms the basis of the new concern, always refused information about its operations. The promoters of the new company report that its net earnings were $860,000 in the twelve and one-half months ended Oct. 31, 1914, and the earnings of the Mason company, which is going into the combination, were $105,000. These are the only facts at hand on which an opinion of the present value of the $20,000,000 of stock of the new company can be based. Without complete reports a purchase of this stock would be purely speculative.

Brief Answers.

O. L.—The Forest City Life Insurance company of Rockford was organized in 1911 without stock-selling expense. It has had a steady growth and at the end of last year the insurance in force was $2,505,538. It had $100,000 capital stock and $15,345 of surplus. In the year it paid dividends of 8¾ per cent to stockholders. The company is now selling some stock of $20 par at $30 a share and all the money received will go into the treasury, none being paid out in commissions. This method is well calculated to lay a firm foundation for future prosperity.

C. D. M., Winnetka, Ill.—The market price of many good utility bonds is low because the growing companies must raise new capital from time to time and the supply of their securities has been somewhat greater than the demand. Some very low priced bonds are sound investments, but the market for them is inactive and they should be bought with the idea of holding them for years.

G. R. H., Kenosha, Wis.—Gilt edged railway bonds are reasonably certain to sell at a higher price level within the next few years, though they may reach a lower level before advancing. Whether stocks in general or any stock in particular will sell lower or higher in the near future cannot be predicted.

Olive Oil to Be Higher.

The war is bringing about a steady advance in prices of labor in Italy, according to cable advices. The cable stated that, owing to the steady increase in the price of labor and raw materials, packing charges for olive oil have been advanced another 10 per cent, which means an advance of 20 per cent within less than four weeks. It was also stated that further advances are in sight. While dealers here have made no recent change in prices of olive oil, it is anticipated that, when the new supplies bearing the extra burdens of cost arrive, selling prices will advance here.

BOSTON COPPER NEWS.

After months of comparative neglect Ray Consolidated has suddenly become one of the most active copper stocks on the New York exchange. Transactions in this specialty on Thursday were over 30,000 shares, the stock making a high record price at 27.

Considering the company's present earnings and its future outlook, it is strange that its shares have not been earlier appreciated. The company was slower than the other porphyries of the Hayden-Jackling group in securing the best operating results, and similarly has been behind the others in getting back to normal production following the curtailment in the latter part of 1914. Labor troubles have been responsible for restricted production in recent months, but August output of 5,779,000 pounds showed that the company was rapidly getting on its feet again, as there was an increase of 1,300,000 pounds over July.

One who has been closely identified with the affairs of the Chile Copper company says regarding the rumored "metallurgical difficulties" at the property:

"There have been no metallurgical difficulties. I have had a long talk with E. A. C. Smith, who is now in charge of the metallurgy, and he is absolutely satisfied and confident about the way things are going, and the way they are going to go.

"I believe Chile Copper company is the cheapest and safest copper investment on the entire list. On 20,000 tons capacity and everything running smoothly the production will be at least 360,000,000 pounds per annum. The cost will not exceed 6 cents and one can figure profits to suit himself according to the price it is estimated will be realized for refined copper."

That the Davis-Daly is at last to become a big mining proposition is the opinion of many mining experts who have watched the recent developments on the 2,500 foot level. There the drifting in ore has continued steadily for fully 150 feet on the Hesperus vein with the ore body showing better with each succeeding day.

Quinine Prices Higher.

Weekly Drug Markets says that the feature of the market is the further skyward movement of prices on quinine, which has culminated in sensational advances that established the highest levels recorded in many years. The unprecedented demand for war supplies and general depletion of stocks were the principal factors in aiding the upward trend of the market.

WHEAT COVERS A WIDE RANGE

Coarse Grains Sympathetic; Heavy Frosts Affect Corn; Oats Supplies Offset.

Wheat was influenced by several important factors last week and as a result there were wide price fluctuations. The advance of approximately 10c during the first half of the week or immediately preceding the publication of the October government report, when it was virtually an accepted fact that the crop would show a record yield, appeared to be a deviation from the general order of things, yet this is just what occurred. But the bullish operations which have been gaining ground for a number of days reached a climax and the short interest was stampeded and covered without reserve. This movement was stimulated by an influx of buying from the big speculative crowd of Wall street, which momentarily diverted their attention from stocks and cotton to the wheat market.

Technical Market Position.

There appeared to be three incentives for the great advance, which culminated, at least temporarily, on Thursday. The most important factor was the technical position of the market. Operators had been steadily selling for weeks, until every one was short. Shorts had sold to each other until there was no long wheat to come out when the discovery of a market badly oversold was made, and in the scramble to get wheat a short panic developed.

The second cause, as stated above, was found in eastern speculative buying. Many professionals who had made big profits in the stock market are reported to have turned their attention to wheat, and they have become so used to advancing prices in stocks that they started in to bull wheat. The third cause is most basic, but was probably least influential in putting up the market from a practical point of view. The farmers are holding back supplies for higher prices.

Break Follows Upturn.

The break came following the upturn of midweek after December wheat had been up to $1.08½ and May had sold at $1.10¼. Prices from the northwest were off 3@3½c, and it was reported that farmers had sold storage tickets representing 1,000,000 bu of wheat, and that elevator concerns had this for sale. Moreover, present quotations should allow farmers to receive $1 a bu for their wheat, and this, it is believed, will tend to increase receipts.

The total wheat crop this season, according to the government estimate, is 1,004,277,000 bu. This is the largest on record. Against this it may be noted that France alone is short 100,000,000 bu, not to mention England and Italy. The allies will look to the Americas for their food at least for another year. Ocean freights remain high, cash prices are firm and exports relatively small. This soon will have to change from the nature of the European situation. But with 1,004,277,000 bu in the states and 340,000,000 bu in Canada an outlet must be found.

Frosts Hit Corn.

Corn most of the time acted in sympathy with wheat, and price movements were highly irregular. The real bullish incentive was the severe frosts which occurred over nearly all of the belt. These, however, held off nearly as long as the trade wanted them to, and the government report of 3,026,159,000 bu makes the farmer feel comparatively safe in selling his last ear of old corn. The damage by frost undoubtedly was extensive, and will probably result in deterioration in quality rather than a reduction in quantity. Again corn from South America, which is better than corn in this country, is coming into market.

Oats were higher early in the week and lower later, but with one exception—when the big move was on in wheat—the trade was dull and light. Prices varied with the gyrations in other grains. The poor crops in France and Argentina and reports of an enormous increase in consumption counterbalanced, to a certain extent, the yield of 1,500,000,000 bu indicated by the government report.

Provision Shipments Enormous.

Enormous shipments of provisions during the last fortnight have had a marked effect on prices. Italy took about 2,000,000 lbs of beef and Belgium will receive 10,000,000 lbs of meat and 3,000,000 lbs of lard. The allies also figure prominently in the shipments. This helped the trade materially and put the hog market higher. Commission houses were generally the best buyers, with packers supplying the product.

The range of prices for the week follows:

NEW HAVEN RAILWAY HEADS FACE TRIAL ON WEDNESDAY.

New York, Oct. 10.—Eleven directors and former directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and Edward D. Robbins, general counsel of the road, face trial this week on a charge of conspiring to monopolize the transportation of New England. They are to be called to the bar in the federal court before Judge Hunt on Wednesday.

While the trial is one of a number of proceedings that have been directed in the last few years against the New Haven road, involving the question of alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, it is the first under which the directors themselves are brought into the court with the prospect of facing imprisonment.

The maximum penalty if they are convicted is one year in prison and $5,000 fine, as provided in that section of the Sherman law known as the criminal clause.

The indictment of the defendants, which occurred last November, represents the efforts of the present administration, it is said, to carry to an issue in the courts the question of the personal guilt of directors of an alleged monopolistic corporation. The proceedings were taken, it is understood, at the direct instigation of President Wilson.
